VON HINDENBURG'S TROOPS FALL BACK IN DVINSK DISTRICT

Berlin Announces Field Marshal Has Been Compelled to Retire Between Lakes at Northern End of Russian Front.

Germans Capture Uzice in Northwestern Servia and Are 87 Miles Southwest of Belgrade.

Sofia Is Informed That a New Force of French Troops Is Being Landed at Kavala, Greece.

By Associated Press.

BERLIN, via London, Nov. 3.—The War Office announced today that Field Marshal von Hindenburg had been forced to withdraw his lines between Swenton and Ilsen Lakes, on the northern end of the Russian front.

The War Office announcement says: "Army of Field Marshal von Hindenburg: The Russians continued their attacks before Dvinsk. At Illoukst and Garbunowka they were repulsed. They stormed our positions in this region four times with extraordinarily heavy losses. Between the Swenton and Ilsen Lakes we were forced to withdraw our lines. The Russians succeeded in occupying the village of Mikulischki."

Capture of Uzice, in Servia, 87 miles southwest of Belgrade, also was announced. It is the capital of the province of that name and a railroad terminus. Seven thousand rifles, six cannon and a large quantity of ammunition were among the booty taken by the Germans at Kraguyevatz. The army of Gen. von Koevess has captured 1100 Servians in three days.

It also was announced that Bulgarian troops advancing in the Nisava Valley, on the road to Nish, gave way before superior forces of the Servians.

The retirement of Von Hindenburg's forces from the line running between Lakes Swenton and Ilsen apparently means that the German commander is abandoning his attacks from the west and southwest, on the Russian stronghold of Dvinsk, which town he has been making a determined effort to capture in the operations of the last few weeks. Lake Ilsen lies 10 miles west of Dvinsk, while Lake Swenton is 12 miles to the south of Lake Ilsen. The Germans evidently are now withdrawing to positions along a line to the west of Novo Alexandrovsk.

French Troops Reported Landing at Kavala, Greece.

LONDON, Nov. 3.—The landing of French troops at Kavala, on the Greek coast, is reported in a Sofia telegram to Berlin, and although this news is unconfirmed, it seems a likely sequel to yesterday's information that British and French transports had been sighted off this Greek port. Whether these forces will be able to connect speedily enough with the other troops aligned against the Bulgarians from Krivolak to Strumitsa to relieve the pressure there and by a possible flank attack threaten the rear of the Bulgarian forces, is admittedly problematical, but the appearance of these fresh troops in the Balkans is regarded in London as a gratifying materialization of Premier Asquith's positive announcement yesterday that the independence of Servia was one of the essential objects of the war and that Great Britain and France were in full agreement regarding the means whereby this end might be attained.

The Austro-German forces in Northern and Western Servia and the Bulgarians in the east continue their attacks against which the defense gradually yields ground.

The size of the German forces operating against Servia is fixed at 150,000 men, according to an authoritative statement that has reached London. Thus far the number of prisoners captured by this force is surprisingly small. The Austrians have officially admitted that they have been able to capture only 20 Servian officers and 6600 men. The paucity of officers is taken here to suggest that there must be many civilians among the six thousand odd prisoners.

On the western front, except for some fighting in Champagne, there is little to report. On the eastern front at least three or four big battles are in progress. The Germans continue their efforts to approach Riga from the west, the Russians are attacking west of Dvinsk and among the lakes south of that city, while attacks and counter attacks are almost continuous on the Styr River in Volhynia and along the Stripa in Galicia. Both sides are claiming the advantage.

The offensive of the Italians against the Austrians also continues, although Vienna reports that it is meeting with no success. The Austrians are attacking the Montenegrins with vigor.

The Rumanian opposition led by Take Jonescu and M. Filipescu, is doing its utmost to overthrow the Bratiano Cabinet and form a new national ministry favorable to the allies, says a Bucharest dispatch received at Milan. It is semi-officially stated, however, says the dispatch, that Rumania would enter the war only after the allies had landed half a million men, as otherwise it would

ONE-LEGGED MAN PREFERRED FOR JOB, WITNESS SAYS HE WAS TOLD

Alexander P. Wagner Testifies Against Men Accused of Using Mails to Defraud.

Alexander P. Wagner, formerly of 1621 Olive street, now of Texas, testifying today in the trial of John T. Murphy, an attorney, and Charles E. King, charged with devising a scheme to defraud and using the mails in furtherance of it, said he was encouraged to put $200 into the scheme by the assurance that a one-legged man could be more successful with accident clients than a man with two legs.

Wagner answered an advertisement in 1913, and Murphy, he said, called on him and told him he wanted a partner and collector. Wagner called at the office of Murphy and King in the Victoria Building and was told that he would have to put up $200. Murphy told him he had a lot of accident cases, and a man like Wagner, who had been through an accident, could talk better to them than one who had never had any experience.

Other witnesses have testified to placing from $25 to $300 in the hands of the men and getting little in return.

ROADS TO BE BUILT AT NIGHT

Fine Weather Will Be Taken Advantage of in Osage County.

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 3.—Road building at night is the latest novelty directed by Frank W. Buffum, State Highway Commissioner. Orders were issued by his department today to two road building outfits in Osage County—one at Linn and the other between Westphalia and Rollins Ferry—to work two shifts. This can be done by using headlights on the tractors.

It is to take advantage of splendid weather and unusually fine conditions for grading work that the order was issued.

CANDIDATE OF JOHN D. LOSES

Man Backed by His Brother William Elected Supervisor.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—John D. Rockefeller lost his political fight against his brother William yesterday when John J. Sinott, Democratic nominee for Supervisor of Tarrytown, who was backed by William, defeated Seabury C. Masticu, Republican nominee, who was supported by John D., by more than 200 votes.

Walter W. Law Jr., Assemblyman, who was opposed by the Rockefellers and the wealthy residents along Broadway, Tarrytown, was elected by 1850. He carried Cortland, Ossining and Greenburg by 1800, but lost Tarrytown by 150.

THERE'S A GHOST AT OYSTER BAY

Spectre Wears Woman's Clothes, Smokes Cigars and Shoots.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—An apparition, or perhaps a human, clad all in sable, infests Oyster Bay, L. I., after nightfall. The spook affects woman's garments, but some of Col. Roosevelt's townsmen think it is a man, because it has been seen smoking a cigar. Others say it is a joker.

Tearl Cory of Baylis Hill, a perfectly abstemious carpenter, encountered the specter. He says the wraith shot at him and then laughed and laughed—but what it was laughing at Cory could not imagine.

WOMAN TRIMS CORNS, DIES

Home Operation Is Fatal to Mrs. Elizabeth Zulauf of Belleville.

Blood poison, caused by trimming a corn too deeply, resulted in the death yesterday of Mrs. Elizabeth Zulauf of 500 Freeburg avenue, at St. Vincent's Hospital, Belleville.

Mrs. Zulauf was 77 years old. She is survived by five children and 21 grandchildren.

NO COMMENT AT WHITE HOUSE

Statement on Election Results Not to Be Made.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—No comment was made at the White House on the elections or on the result of the suffrage amendments, and it was announced that there would be none.

Sunday Movies Win by Big Vote.

GRAND JUNCTION, Colo., Nov. 3.—A proposal to close moving picture theaters on Sunday was defeated by a decisive majority in the municipal election yesterday. The preferential system of voting was retained. Grand Junction operates under commission government.

ONLY 3 CONVICTED IN 36 AUTO DEATH CASES SINCE 1912

Grover Hess First One to Receive Prison Sentence; Two Others Paid $500 Fine Each.

JURIES ACQUITTED MANY

Are Loath to Convict Unless Criminal Intent Is Shown, Says Circuit Attorney.

Following the sentencing of Grover Hess, 23 years old, of 2202 South Jefferson avenue, to a year in the workhouse by Judge Cave, yesterday, when he pleaded guilty to a charge of manslaughter in the fourth degree for killing a woman with his automobile, an examination of the court records shows that of 36 drivers similarly charged since December, 1912, only two others have been convicted in St. Louis. Hess was the first to receive a prison sentence. The other two paid fines of $500 each.

The records show that of the total number of such cases, 23 were dismissed, seven after trials by juries, 13 by Judge Clark in the Court of Criminal Correction, after preliminary hearings, and three by the Circuit Attorney's office.

Paroles were issued in seven cases in which pleas of guilty were entered. Three cases are still pending.

In 32 cases in which drivers were charged with felonious wounding, there were eight convictions and 16 dismissals.

Two Served Workhouse Sentences.

Five of the dismissals were by juries, after trials, six by Judge Clark, after preliminary hearings and five by the office of the Circuit Attorney. Eight cases are pending. Two of those convicted of felonious wounding—Joseph S. Norris and Edward Mussler—were sentenced to a year in the workhouse and served their sentences. The others convicted were fined, five of them paying the fines and one being paroled.

Five convictions without parole have been obtained out of 18 cases in which drivers of cars have been charged with feloniously leaving the scene of an accident. Seven have been discharged after preliminary hearings by Judge Clark and three were convicted and paroled. Three such cases are still awaiting trial.

Circuit Attorney Harvey said this morning that the responsibility for the few convictions rests largely with the juries by whom they were tried.

Juries Demand Criminal Intent.

"We have found it almost impossible to get convictions in these cases," he said, "because the juries are loath to convict a driver where there is no real criminal intent shown. Juries usually seem to look upon the men on trial as unfortunates in these cases and often seem to feel, in the cases of chauffeurs on trial, that the responsibility really rests with the owners of the cars who give the orders to the drivers, although the law holds only the driver responsible."

The Circuit Attorney cited the acquittal of a driver whose machine caused the death of a policeman who was knocked from his horse on the King's highway viaduct a year ago. The prosecution showed that the driver and his companions had visited several saloons just before the accident and that the car was being driven recklessly and at a high rate of speed, but could not show criminal intent, the Circuit Attorney pointed out.

POPE ASKED TO AID BELGIANS

Sentences Aggregating 10,000 Years Said to Have Been Assessed.

ROME, Nov. 3.—Pope Benedict has received a number of letters from Belgian clergymen and members of the church in Belgium, imploring him to aid in saving a number of persons who have been condemned to death or to serve long terms of imprisonment.

One letter calculates that sentences aggregating over 10,000 years of imprisonment have been pronounced since Belgium was occupied by the Germans.

YOUTH DIES AFTER BEING STABBED AT "WEDDING" PARTY

Andrew Brown Denied Knowing Who Assailant Was at 2720 South 7th Street.

GUESTS TELL OF ATTACK

Suspect Held on Their Story —Couple Refused License to Marry Let Celebration Go On.

Andrew Braun, 19 years old, of 1815 South Broadway, who was found last night by a policeman on the sidewalk in front of 625 Lynch street suffering from stab wounds in the abdomen, died at the city hospital at 7 o'clock this morning without revealing the identity of his assailant.

Braun told the police that he had attended a wedding party at the home of Mrs. Wilhelmina Hartmann at 2720 South Seventh street and that he had been attacked by another guest after an altercation they had on the back porch of the house. He said he did not know the man's name and could only describe him as tall and slim. He said the man ran away after the stabbing and that he had started for home, finally falling from pain.

Guests Taken Into Custody.

At the South Seventh street address the police took in charge Frank Hartmann, 18, and Joseph E. Hartmann, 21, sons of the hostess; Edna Loggins, 17, who was supposed to have been married to Joseph Hartmann in the afternoon, and the following guests: Albert Ackermann, 19, of 415 Victor street; Herbert Rockwell, 21, of 2421 South Twelfth street; August Maas, 26, of 2435 South Seventh street; Frank Zepf, 20, of 1513 South Second street; Marie Rhodes, 16, of 205 Sidney street, and Catherine Trapp, 17, of 1427 North Ninth street.

They were taken to the hospital, where Brown failed to identify any one as his assailant. They denied all knowledge of the stabbing.

This morning Annie Patterson, 12 years old, of 2435 South Second street, said that she was at the party and that she had seen a man whose name she gave the police lay a butcher knife on a table at the Hartmann home, saying, "I have finished him, now I am going home." The police later secured admissions from the men who were held as witnesses.

Suspect Is Held.

They said that Braun had been quarrelsome during the evening and that one of the men with whom he had an argument stabbed him with a butcher knife. A suspect is now being held at the Wyoming Street Police Station.

In questioning the Loggins girl, the police learned that although the party had been arranged to celebrate her marriage to Joseph Hartmann, they had not been married. She said they had gone to Clayton yesterday afternoon to get a license, expecting to be married this morning, but had been refused the license because of her youth. They then decided, she said, to tell their friends that they had been married by a Justice of the Peace and let the party go on.

TOLEDO VOTES TO TAKE OVER CAR AND LIGHT SYSTEMS

Franchise to Private Corporation Voted Down—Municipal Ownership Decided on a Year Ago.

TOLEDO, O., Nov. 3.—The successful candidate for Mayor in yesterday's election was Charles M. Milroy, a Progressive and former Prosecuting Attorney. The 25-year street car franchise lost. This means that the city will take over all lines controlled by the Toledo Railways and Light Co., a subsidiary of the Doherty interests of New York. Municipal ownership was voted a year ago.

Toledo voted a majority against prohibition of approximately 8000.

FRANCE TO FIGHT UNTIL PEACE IS RESTORED BY VICTORY, SAYS BRIAND

New Premier in Declaration of Principles of Cabinet Declares Central Powers "May Postpone Defeat, They Cannot Prevent It."

PARIS, Nov. 3.—"France will not sign a peace agreement until after her restoration by right of victory and until she shall have obtained all guarantees of a durable peace," said Premier Briand, today.

This statement was included in the ministerial declaration of the new Cabinet, which was read before the Chamber of Deputies and the Senate. The Premier read the declaration to the Chamber.

"We are at war," said the Premier. "The hour is for action. Toward action all the efforts of the Government must be directed. The essential task of the Government is the utilization of all the vital forces of the nation with a view to war and to combine and associate with this object all public services. Only by close and incessant co-operation will victory be obtained. Everyone must accomplish his task. Once all responsibilities are established, every fault, every failure, will be punished.

Every Day Adds to Glory of France.

"That is the program of the new Government. It is the very image of the nation—to form the most complete union in the face of the enemy. France never had an army more worthy of victory. The Government, aided by Parliament, must furnish all means to these heroes whom we salute with emotion and pride. Every day of bravery of our soldiers and our chiefs, united in mutual confidence and in devotion to their country, adds to the glory of France.

"Until the end assured by their bravery is attained they will fight in full confidence under the command of the great chief, who leads them, and share his calm faith in final success. With such an army, with such a chief, with a navy, which so efficaciously supports it, all hopes are permissible, and the country, assured as to the outcome of the war, will follow its developments with serenity and imperturbable calm.

Question of Censorship.

"This high standard of national conduct, which has been in evidence for 15 months, obliges the Government to consider the question of the censorship. This question must receive a solution which has been sought for some time and is rendered possible by the attitude of the press, which in the interest of the national defense, itself demanded control.

"The Government with the collaboration of the press will find in the application of the laws the necessary reconciliations between the party and authority. We derive our power at once from your confidence and from national opinion.

"Premeditated Aggression."

"France has not disturbed the peace. Resisting all provocation, she did everything possible to maintain it. It was premeditated aggression that no sophism can ever succeed in justifying that imposed war upon her. She accepted war without fear and she will not cease the struggle until the enemy has been mastered.

"It is only when right shall have been restored by victory and when she will have obtained every guarantee for a durable peace that France will sign a peace.

"This end the allied nations will reach by a close unison. Every day tightens the bonds that unite them—bonds further strengthened by the adhesion of Japan to the agreement of Sept. 5, 1914, by which the Powers undertook a solemn engagement not to conclude peace separately.

Co-ordination of the Allies.

"We prize co-ordination by which the efforts of the allied nations may and must be rendered more complete and prompter in execution. As difficult as it may be to establish it over fields so distant and varied, we are resolved to realize it by more frequent and more intimate contact.

"The journeys of Gen. Joffre to Italy and to England, the receptions which greeted him and the decisions reached between the general staffs has permitted them to arrange for a complete concert of action in the present and for the future.

"Replying to the appeal of the Servians, France at once went to their help. We are in full accord with the British Government concerning the conduct of military operations in the Balkans. France and her allies will never abandon the heroic nation whose resistance compels the admiration of the world.

Germany's Balkan Drive.

"The present enterprise of Germany in the Balkans attests the failure of that nation's efforts in the principal theaters of hostilities. Thus, because its offensive has been broken on the French front and on the Russian front, it attempts this diversion. It seeks in this way to keep in suspense the opinion of the world, to which she commences to reveal signs of weakness under the appearance of power, after so many months of frantic propaganda.

"Her hopes will be shattered. The central Powers may postpone defeat, but they cannot prevent it. As for us, we are decided to go to the very end. Our enemies cannot count upon either fatigue or weakness on our part. After having weighed our task, we intend to pursue it, as heavy as it may be, to the necessary issue. We have the will to vanquish. We shall vanquish in the end."

Germany Wants Big Indemnity, According to Newest Peace Rumor.

LONDON, Nov. 3.—The latest rumor concerning peace terms comes from the Reuter correspondent at The Hague, who says:

"It has been learned from trustworthy but unofficial sources, that, at a recent conference in Amsterdam, which was attended by several members of the Reichstag, one of the members stated that Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg, the imperial German Chancellor, had declared that Germany was inclined to conclude peace on the basis of the cession to Germany of Belgium and the Meuse line, the cession of Courland and the payment of an indemnity of 30,000,000,000 marks ($7,500,000,000.)"

REPUBLICANS WIN IN MASSACHUSETTS; THREE STATES BEAT SUFFRAGE

Governor and Two Congressmen Go to G. O. P. and Progressives Lose One Seat in House.

STATE-WIDE PROHIBITION AGAIN REJECTED IN OHIO

States Passing on Votes for Women Have Combined Population of 21,000,000.—New York Leads With Adverse Majority of More Than 200,000.

Virtually complete returns received by the Post-Dispatch today from the ten states which held elections yesterday show the following results:

Woman suffrage was rejected by three states, the adverse majorities being 132,602 in Massachusetts, about 210,000 in New York, and approximately 60,000 in Pennsylvania.

The Massachusetts returns, which are complete, show that a total of 491,888 votes were cast and that 458,885 voted on suffrage. Of these, 163,406 were recorded in favor and 295,480 against it. Latest figures compiled in New York indicate a vote of 550,000 for suffrage. The State's total vote in 1912 was 1,587,983.

The Republicans elected a Governor in Massachusetts who succeeds a Democrat and gained a Congressman in New York and one in Pennsylvania.

The Democrats elected a Governor and entire state ticket, including a majority of the legislature in Maryland, and Governors in Mississippi and apparently in Kentucky. In Maryland the Democrat elected yesterday will succeed a Republican. In Mississippi and Kentucky the present Governors are Democrats.

Ohio voted on state-wide prohibition, through the medium of a constitutional amendment, and defeated the proposition by a majority between 30,000 and 40,000. The margin against the amendment last year was 84,152.

The Progressives lost a Congressman in Pennsylvania through the re-election of H. W. Temple in the Twenty-fourth Pennsylvania District. Temple served his last term as a Progressive, but this year changed his affiliations to the Republican party. The Democrats lost one congressional seat through the defeat of Ellsworth J. Healy (indorsed by President Wilson), by W. S. Bennett in the Twenty-third New York District, to succeed the late Sereno Payne.

Owing to the strenuous campaigns which were made by the women, both for and against, the suffrage issues in Massachusetts, New York and Pennsylvania were almost overshadowing and the outcome was watched with interest, in view of New Jersey's verdict, recorded on Oct. 19, of 56,000 against suffrage. The three states which voted yesterday have a combined population of 21,000,000, or more than one-fifth of the total population of the entire United States, and they contain more than 6,000,000 electors, with approximately an additional 600,000 women who would have been enfranchised, had the suffrage amendment carried.

Republicans Elect Mayors.

In New York the Republicans retained their control of the Lower House of the Legislature, although they lost one Assemblyman. They also elected a majority of the Mayors chosen in cities of the State.

In addition to defeating the suffrage amendment by about 210,000, the people of New York repudiated the new State Constitution drafted by a convention, of which Elihu Root was president, and for which Root had conducted a vigorous speaking campaign.

Samuel W. McCall, the Republican, who will succeed David I. Walsh, a Democrat, as Governor of Massachusetts, won by a plurality of 6662. The Republicans retained control of the Massachusetts Legislature.

The Republicans returned to power in Philadelphia, where their candidate, Thomas B. Smith, was elected Mayor by 73,000.

In New Jersey the Republicans gained two State Senators and two members of the Assembly, and will continue in control of both houses of the Legislature.

State-wide prohibition was rejected in Ohio by a majority of from 30,000 to 40,000. Last year the amendment was defeated by 84,152. The Republicans elected Mayors in Cleveland and Cincinnati. Charles Milroy, a Progressive, was chosen Mayor of Toledo.

The city of Toledo voted against a 25-year street car franchise and will take over all lines controlled by the Toledo Railways and Light Co.

A proposal that the city purchase the local street railways was rejected in Detroit after a bitter fight.

The Mississippi election was in the nature of a walkover, the State going Democratic, as usual. Theodore G. Bilbo, the Democratic nominee, was elected, his only opponent being a Socialist who was nominated by petition. The entire State ticket went in with Bilbo.

The election of members of the Virginia General Assembly will send a heavy majority to the Senate and House pledged to the enactment of prohibition legislation when the State goes dry by constitutional amendment, Nov. 1, 1916.

Hilles: "McCall's Election Administration Defeat." McCombs: 'A Local Fight'

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—"The Massachusetts campaign was one of national issues from the first," declared Charles D. Hilles, chairman of the Republican National Committee, today. "Both parties made it plain that a vote for McCall would be a sign of disapproval of the Wilson administration. McCall won, and the result must offer a gloomy forecast to the Democrats for 1916."

Democratic National Chairman William F. McCombs said the defeat of Gov. Walsh in Massachusetts could not be considered criticism of the Wilson administration.

"I was not greatly surprised at the news," said McCombs. "The Democrats have been fighting against themselves in Massachusetts, while the Republicans and Progressives united behind Mr. McCall."

Woman Suffrage, Beaten in Three States; Fight in Congress Planned

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—The women of New York, Massachusetts and Pennsylvania asked for the vote yesterday and received an emphatic denial. These three great seaboard states have joined New Jersey in withholding from women the suffrage they enjoy in some of the Western states.

The majority against woman suffrage in New York State, late returns indicated today, will be from 195,000 to 200,000.

With [illegible] of the State's [illegible] districts missing, the vote for suffrage was [illegible], against [illegible], a majority against of [illegible]. These returns included New York City's [illegible] districts complete. There the vote was [illegible] for suffrage and [illegible] against it, the city's disapproval of the cause being a majority of [illegible].

Indications from incomplete returns were that the final count would show that more than [illegible] ballots had been cast for equal suffrage.

Massachusetts defeated the proposal

...on by a majority of 132,602 on a total vote of 457,304.

Reports from about one-fourth of the State indicated that Pennsylvania was against suffrage by a majority of 60,000.

New Jersey refused the vote to women on Oct. 19 by a majority of 56,000.

The largest majorities against the amendment in proportion to population were rolled up in the cities of New York, Boston and Philadelphia. The proposition received its strongest support in the western portions of New York and Pennsylvania.

Under the law five years must elapse before a suffrage amendment can be put to popular vote again in Pennsylvania and New Jersey, four years in New York and two in Massachusetts.

To Carry Fight to Congress.

National leaders of the suffrage cause declared today that they would now devote their efforts to the national Congress and strive for a votes-for-women amendment to the Federal Constitution.

Mrs. Harriot Stanton Blatch, president of the Women's Political Union, announced that the executive board of the union would meet Saturday to lay plans for this campaign.

"We do not favor another referendum to the electorate of New York State," said Mrs. Blatch. "We feel that we have made our last appeal to the individual voter."

Miss Alice Paul, chairman of the Congressional Union for Woman Suffrage, declared that the defeat of suffrage in New York, Massachusetts and Pennsylvania would stimulate the movement for a Federal suffrage amendment.

Leaders of the organizations opposed to woman suffrage, which have made an active campaign against the proposition, said that the result was no more than they expected.

Mrs. Arthur M. Dodge, president of the National Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage, who has been conducting the fight with headquarters in New York, will leave immediately to organize the campaign in South Dakota, Iowa and West Virginia, where the proposition will be put to test in 1916.

Made Six-Year Fight in New York.

A six-year campaign for the ballot was waged by the women of New York. While the sums of money spent were small when compared with what is poured out by the Democratic and Republican parties in a campaign for office, they have been considerable.

The woman suffrage party, whose territory is Greater New York and whose head is Miss Mary Garret Hay, and the Empire State Committee, which has directed work for the whole State under Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, have together spent $200,000. The Woman's Political Union has easily spent more than half that much.

Some of the money came in fairly large contributions, such as those from Mrs. Russell Sage, but most of it the women earned by hard work—teas, fairs, cake sales, all sorts of schemes for getting funds, and tireless begging for the cause at every meeting.

Women in Pennsylvania Encouraged by Total Votes They Won.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 3.—Although the constitutional amendment which would have granted women of Pennsylvania the right to vote was defeated at yesterday's election, the vote against it was not nearly so large as was indicated by last night's meager returns. Indications early today were that the plurality against the amendment would be reduced to between 50,000 and 60,000. A number of counties outside of Philadelphia returned majorities for the women, while returns from others were materially reduced.

Eight hundred and sixty-seven districts out of 5622 in the State, outside of Philadelphia, showed that 48,400 votes had been cast for the amendment and 45,083 against it. In Philadelphia suffrage polled 66,596 votes, while 105,673 were cast against it.

Suffragists refused to accept yesterday's result as a defeat.

Although it will be at least five years before the question can again be submitted to a vote of the people, suffragist leaders announced their intention of beginning an immediate campaign to obtain the passage of another amendment by the next State Legislature which meets in 1917, and also the General Assembly of 1919.

McCALL CARRIES OLD BAY STATE BY 6606 PLURALITY

Republicans Elect Whole Ticket and Gain 17 in Legislature; President an Issue.

BOSTON, Nov. 3.—The Republican party regained control of the executive department of the State government yesterday after five years, when Samuel W. McCall, a former Congressman, was elected Governor by a plurality of 6606 over Gov. David I. Walsh, Democrat. The remainder of the Republican State ticket was elected by larger pluralities than McCall's and the Republicans made a net gain of 17 seats in the Legislature.

The proposed amendment to the constitution granting the right of suffrage to women was defeated by a majority of 132,083.

Governor—McCall (Rep.), [illegible]; Walsh (Dem.), 229,312; Shaw (Proh.), 19,624; Nelson B. Clark (Prog.), 7034.

Lieutenant-Governor—Calvin Coolidge (Rep.), 250,940; Edward P. Barry (Dem.), 203,266.

The remainder of the State ticket elected, all Republicans, is: Secretary of State, Albert P. Langtry; Treasurer, Charles L. Burrill; Auditor, Alonzo B. Cook; Attorney-General, Henry C. Attwill.

The make-up of the new Legislature is: Senate—Republicans, 34; Democrats, 6; a net gain of one Republican. House—Republicans, 166; Democrats, 73; Socialist, 1; a net gain of 16 Republicans. This gives the Republicans a majority of 120 on a joint ballot.

One feature of the election was the dwindling of the Progressive vote to a figure which deprives the party of legal standing in the State. Three years ago Charles S. Bird, Progressive candidate for Governor, polled 126,103 votes and in 1913 he increased this to 127,655, running ahead of the Republican nominee. Last year only 32,145 votes were cast by Progressives for Governor and yesterday the party so far as Massachusetts is concerned, collapsed. Both Bird and Joseph Walker, last year's Progressive nominee, supported McCall.

The Prohibition party, on the other hand, attained the status of a legal party by polling more than the required 3 per cent of the total vote.

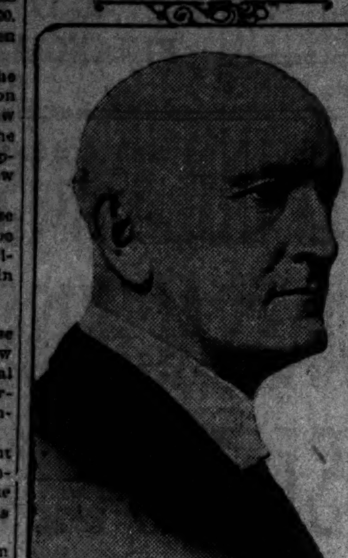

The vote for McCall was the largest with one exception ever cast for a candidate for Governor in this State and the total vote was only some 10,000 behind the record.

Made President an Issue.

In the campaign McCall, while charging Democratic extravagance in the State and criticising appointments made by Gov. Walsh, directed his energies chiefly to attacking the national administration. Walsh declined to take up the gage on behalf of President Wilson, asserting that questions of national policy had no part in a State campaign and devoted himself to a defense of his own actions as Governor and to charges of "invisible government" controlling the Republican party for improper purposes.

A movement for the recall of Mayor James M. Curley of Boston failed, although its advocates mustered a majority of 12,569. A majority of the registered vote was required.

ELECTED GOVERNOR OF MASSACHUSETTS

GOVERNOR ELECT SAMUEL W. McCALL

STANLEY LEADS IN KENTUCKY

Democratic Candidate for Governor 4000 Ahead in Unofficial Estimates.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 3.—Both Democrats and Republicans early today claimed victory in yesterday's gubernatorial contest.

Former Congressman A. O. Stanley, Democrat, of Henderson, on the face of incomplete returns from all districts in the State except the tenth and estimated returns from that district, apparently has a majority of 4667 over Edwin P. Morrow, Republican, of Somerset, for Governor. Louisville gave Stanley a majority of 4167.

The vote for all State officials virtually paralleled that of the head of the ticket. The one exception was in the race for Lieutenant Governor. Unofficial returns indicate that Judge James D. Black of Barbourville led the Democratic ticket. The vote of the Progressive, Prohibitionist and Socialist parties was negligible.

With 13 new seats won and two old ones lost, Republicans made a net gain of 11 seats in the State Legislature. The complexion of that body, however, will remain unchanged, with the Democrats retaining a majority of more than 50 votes on joint ballot.

The Republican vote throughout the State showed an appreciable gain over that cast in 1911.

Two proposed constitutional amendments, one looking to a revision of the tax system in Kentucky and the other abolishing the present prison contract system and permitting employment of convicts on State roads met with little opposition and unofficial returns showed that the voters acted favorably on them.

Democrats Win in Greater New York; State Rejects New Constitution.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—The revised State Constitution was rejected by approximately 400,000 in the State-wide election yesterday, late returns today show.

The Legislature will be virtually the same complexion as it was this year. Politically the Senate, to which only one member was elected yesterday, remained unchanged. The Assembly contained 99 Republicans this year and will have 98 next year. One Progressive, a Socialist and 50 Democrats will complete the body. It has been three years since there was a Socialist in the Assembly.

A majority of the Mayors elected in the State were Republican. Albany, Amsterdam, Kingston, Poughkeepsie and Rochester named Republicans. Troy and Mount Vernon elected Democrats. Theron Akin, a former Congressman, ran as an independent in Amsterdam and was defeated by James R. Cline. George R. Lund, former Socialist Mayor of Schenectady, was returned to that office.

Democrats generally were successful in Greater New York. Alfred E. Smith and Edward Swann, Democrats, were elected Sheriff and District Attorney, respectively, in New York County by majorities estimated at from 40,000 to 50,000. In the other four counties James Cropsey, District Attorney of Kings, was the only Republican elected to a high county office. The Board of Aldermen in the city is overwhelmingly Democratic. Tammany triumphed in the election of a District Attorney for the first time in 15 years.

"We all have our disappointments," was the comment of Elihu Root, who presided over the Constitutional convention. Democrats generally were pleased with the defeat of the Constitution. While it never was formally made a party issue, most of the Democrats fought it.

Under the statute the people of New York must decide at the general election next year whether another constitutional convention shall be held in 1917.

PROHIBITION LOSES IN OHIO; GAIN OF 50,000 BY DRYS

State Goes to Wets by About 35,000—Majority in Last Election 84,000.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 3.—Though Ohio voters yesterday rejected State-wide prohibition for the second time in two years, great inroads were made by the drys into wet territory. Fairly accurately returns from 77 of the 88 counties of the State gave a majority of 41,000 against the prohibition amendment. Estimates on the official majority against the proposal run from 30,000 to 40,000.

Last year the prohibition amendment was defeated by a majority of 84,152. Pre-election claims by Anti-Saloon League leaders of big gains for their cause in the larger cities were partly substantiated. In Hamilton County (Cincinnati), the stronghold of the liberal interests, last year's adverse majority of 75,696 was cut down to approximately 60,000, while in Cuyahoga County (Cleveland), the preceding wet majority of 44,710 was reduced to about 26,000. Gains were also registered by the drys in many other counties.

The voters not only rejected prohibition, but also defeated by substantial majorities three other constitutional proposals, and two laws enacted by the Legislature. One of the rejected proposals, to prevent for six years a vote on a constitutional proposal which has been twice defeated, was vigorously opposed by William J. Bryan and other prohibition speakers in the campaign. The other amendments were to exempt from taxation all public bonds and to extend the terms of county officials from two to four years.

By defeating the McDermot act the voters showed a preference for the present liquor license law, which the McDermot measure would have repealed. The Sprague act, which also was voted down, provided for the re-districting of the State for congressional election purposes. Both were Republican measures and had the support of Gov. Frank B. Willis.

Wets Gain Two Towns in the Illinois Elections.

CHICAGO, Nov. 3.—Beardstown and Mounds, the two wet towns of the 11 in Illinois where local option elections were held yesterday, voted to continue wet. The women's vote proved a surprise to the anti-saloon forces in Beardstown at least, piling up a considerable majority in favor of saloons.

Of nine dry towns, two, Percy and Willinsville, voted to let saloons return. Thebes, Metropolis, Coulterville, Baldwin, Grand Chain, Ullin and Pinckneyville voted to remain dry.

Harry L. Davis, Republican, Elected Mayor of Cleveland.

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 3.—Harry L. Davis (Rep.), maintained his lead in the mayoralty contest here early today over Peter Witt (Dem.), his nearest rival. Davis' election is conceded.

Cleveland's preferential ballot requires that a candidate must have a majority of all first-choice votes to be elected, otherwise second-choice votes are added and the highest total then wins.

Witt led on first choices, but had no majority, the second and other choice votes of Davis giving him the victory. The City Council will have 14 Democrats, 10 Republicans and two independents.

Democrat Succeeds Republican as Governor of Maryland.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 3.—State Comptroller Emerson C. Harrington, Democratic candidate for Governor, was elected yesterday to succeed Gov. P. L. Goldsborough, Republican, by a plurality over C. E. Weller, Republican, estimated at 3500. Albert C. Ritchie, Democratic candidate for Attorney-General, ran ahead of Harrington considerably, and Hugh A. McMullen, candidate for Comptroller, ran about evenly with the gubernatorial candidate.

Harrington was elected by the vote of Baltimore city, but he ran about 7000 behind the vote given United States Senator John Walter Smith, one year ago.

The Democrats will retain control of the Senate, through holdover members, and probably will have a reduced majority in the House of Delegates.

Four amendments to the State Constitution were ratified. They provide for the referendum, reclassification of property for taxation purposes, home rule for Baltimore city and the counties in matters of purely local legislation and parole in criminal cases.

Republican Mayor of Salt Lake by 7000.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Nov. 3.—W. Mont Ferry, Republican, was elected Mayor by a majority of almost 7000 over Richard P. Morris, Democrat, in yesterday's elections. H. H. Green and Karl A. Scheid, both Republicans, were elected City Commissioners.

Court Will Have to Decide Utica (N. Y.) Election.

UTICA, N. Y., Nov. 3.—The election of the Mayor of Utica will have to be settled in the courts. The figures read from the voting machine in one district would elect the Republican candidate by 31 plurality. Subsequent examination of the machine indicated that these figures were wrong and those appearing on the counter would elect the Democratic candidate by 14 plurality.

The machine was guarded by policemen through the night and will be the subject of judicial examination.

Engineers and Coke Follow German Troops to Servian Copper Mine

BERLIN, via London, Nov. 3.

ONE of the secondary results of the Servian campaign is to give Germany and Austria control of a good copper mine from which to replenish their supplies of the much-needed metal.

The German troops reached the mine last week and their commander telegraphed to Berlin asking that mining engineers be sent and also shipments of coke, so that the operation of the mine might be resumed immediately.

Berlin replied as follows:

"Engineers have been waiting for several days at Belgrade expecting your attainment of the mine. Carloads of coke already are moving from the coal mines in Hungary, from which the mine has been previously obtaining supplies."

Allies' Submarines Active in the Sea of Marmora.

PARIS, Nov. 3.—The War Office's official announcement today contains the following concerning the Dardanelles:

"Expeditionary corps at the Dardanelles: The period from Oct. 20 to Nov. 1 has been marked with unusual calm.

"In the explosions of mines at various places we have had the advantage. The enemy appears to have given up renewal of the attacks against our lines which, up to now, have caused him very heavy losses.

"On the sea there has been great activity. The coast of Bulgaria on the Aegean Sea has been blockaded by an allied fleet since Oct. 15. Deleaghatch was bombarded on Oct. 21 and on Oct. 20 and 29 military establishments on Gallipoli Peninsula were bombarded by British monitors. In spite of the protecting nets and the many fixed mines set up by the Turks, British and French submarines have succeeded in passing the narrows and operating in unison in the Sea of Marmora, where they rendered particularly difficult the movement of Turkish boats and the revictualing, by way of the sea, of the Turkish troops on the peninsula."

Turks to Make Use of Captured French Submarine.

BERLIN (by wireless to Sayville), Nov. 3.—According to the Overseas News Agency, the Turks captured the French submarine Turquoise nearly intact, and probably will utilize the vessel themselves.

A dispatch from Berlin Monday said the Turquoise had been sunk by Turkish artillery fire and that two officers and 24 men were taken prisoners.

ASQUITH'S DEFENSE OF COURSE IN WAR RESTORES CONFIDENCE OF BRITISH

Premier Accepts Full Responsibility for Dardanelles Expedition—Sir Edward Grey Disarms Criticism by Carson.

LONDON, Nov. 3.—The British public, profoundly impressed with the long-promised statement of Premier Asquith concerning the conduct of the war, made yesterday in the House of Commons, together with Sir Edward Carson's explanation of his reasons for resigning as Attorney-General, is dicussing it today from varying viewpoints. Opinion is expressed in many quarters that the unshakable confidence and optimism displayed by the Premier, while not disarming criticism, has won the good will of the majority of the House.

Englishmen today are admiring the Premier's chivalrous acceptance of responsibility for the expedition to the Dardanelles, which, temporarily at least, has spiken the guns of the opponents of Winston Churchill and has obviated the necessity of an explanation from the former First Lord of the Admiralty.

Admiration also has been expressed for the Premier for his vigorous assertion of his position as the head of the Government. In addition, his declaration of willingness to resort to compulsion, in the event the voluntary system of recruiting failed, has become the source of national satisfaction.

Sir Edward Carson's statement is believed to have lost some of its intended effect, for the reason that Sir Edward Grey, Secretary for Foreign Affairs, followed the criticism of England's policy toward Servia with the statement that Greece asked for help from the allies for the express purpose of enabling her to fulfill her treaty obligations toward Servia and that when the Greeks changed their policy the British Government had proceeded in the steps taken after full consultation with France.

Purpose of Dardanelles Fight.

Concerning the Dardanelles operations, the Premier took his full share of the responsibility. These operations, he said, were designed to influence the Balkan situation, open the way for supplies for the Russians and strike a blow at the heart of the Turkish empire. The allied forces at the Dardanelles, Mr. Asquith pointed out, were holding up 200,000 Turks. But he gave no indication of what the future policy would be on this important section of the war front, saying merely:

"I cannot say more as regards this particular sphere of the theater of the war. It is too soon to pronounce final judgment. The situation in the Dardanelles is receiving our most careful and anxious consideration, not as an isolated thing, but as part and parcel of the larger strategic question, which was raised by the wholly recent development in the eastern theater of the war."

The opinion in the lobbies of the House, according to some reports, is that it is not proposed to abandon the Dardanelles operations.

Sir Edward Carson, the former Attorney-General, was listened to with almost as great attention as was Mr. Asquith, with the expectation that he would throw more light on the reasons for his resignation. Those who awaited his explanation were not disappointed. Sir Edward declared that the Cabinet's slowness in deciding upon the policy of aiding Servia was the main reason for his disagreement. He asserted that the country was anxious to know whether its resources of men and material were being used to the best advantage. He described the Cabinet as a machine utterly incapable of carrying on a war, and he questioned whether the Government was justified in embarking upon the Dardanelles expedition. He referred to the failure at Suvia Bay as the most disastrous of the war.

Reviews Nation's Accomplishment.

Asquith's speech was a recapitulation of what the Government had accomplished in the last year in organizing a great army. He said that the gigantic overseas operations—the work of the navy in transporting troops—had been carried on with a loss of life considerably less than one-tenth of one per cent of the men engaged; that the great German fleet did not dare to show its face where it could be attacked; that the Germans had not gained a foot of ground in the west since April.

He revealed that Premier Venizelos of Greece had agreed to mobilize the Greek army if Great Britain and France together furnished 150,000 men and explained that any delay in going to the rescue of Servia was due to the belief that Greece would live up to her treaty obligations toward her neighbor.

On the vital question of compulsion, Premier Asquith expressed optimism that Lord Derby's scheme for recruiting would succeed, and said he was opposed to compulsion because it would endanger national unity, but was ready to adopt some form of compulsion, if the voluntary enlistment system failed.

Opposed to Compulsion.

Speaking of the financial aspects of the situation, Premier Asquith laid stress upon the importance of retrenchment.

"Every man in the country," he declared, in dealing with the question of recruiting, "ought to be doing the thing for which for the purpose of the war he is best fitted. There has been a difference of opinion among the Ministers as to whether the full exploitation of the recruitable area could be obtained by the voluntary system. Personally, I think it is purely a question of practical expedience. Admittedly our system of voluntary recruiting operates in a haphazard, capricious way, and my objection to the employment of compulsion under present conditions is not due to any blindness to the defect of the existing system. My objection is that the employment of compulsion would endanger the maintenance of national unity. If you apply compulsion without general assent you defeat your purpose."

Premier Asquith said he had concluded that it was desirable to maintain the Cabinet War Committee concerned with the higher direction of the war, but to limit its membership. He suggested that it should not comprise less than three nor more than five, but should have the power to summon persons having special knowledge or information for the purposes of conservation. The relations of the committee to the Cabinet, he thought, should be elastic, but the Cabinet should be kept informed of important decisions and consulted before any important departure in policy was taken.

The Premier stated that there also in future would be more co-ordination between the staffs of the allied Powers.

"We cannot go on discharging business unless both Government and individuals adopt more stringent economy," he said. "Our position does not compare unfavorably with that of our enemies.

"The standard of life in Germany has been depressed to very low point, indeed, but we must be prepared to make far greater sacrifices than we have done. The average cost of our army in peace times is £100 per head per year. Today it is between £250 and £300."

Reviewing his own share in the taking of the decision of August last year, Premier Asquith declared:

"There is nothing I wish to unsay or undo. I challenge criticism. I am as confident now as 15 months ago that we are going to carry our righteous cause to a triumphant conclusion. I am not ging to shelve the burden laid on my shoulders until I am satisfied I can no longer bear the burden. As long as I enjoy health and the confidence of my sovereign, the House and the country, I will not surrender the task, heavy though it be."

Premier Asquith's closing words were: "Let us endure to the end."

Sir Edward Carson, Speaks.

Sir Eward Carson said he would not have risen if the Premier had given sufficient information to the public on matters upon which they showed anxiety and after 15 months of war he thought it only right that there should be free debate in the House.

"We have had an ever-widening theater of war," he said, "which in the East is threatening the very vitals of our empire. The Germans are in possession of Belgium and part of France and Poland and are now threatening our gallant ally, Servia. What the House and country are really anxious about is whether our resources in men and material are being used to the best advantage; whether what have appeared to be grave miscalculations could have been avoided, and, above all, whether the method of the Government for carrying on the war is the most adequate and most effective which we can devise."

Sir Edward declared that on all these questions the country was groping in the dark. He held the view that the country had never fought so well, or had so readily made sacrifices as when the people understood the whole situation and when, with its back to the wall, if necessary, the nation determined at all costs to surmount its difficulties. He did not forget the difficulties which had been surmounted, but, at the same time, the country was uneasy with regard to certain things that had happened in various theaters of the war, he said.

Criticises the Cabinet.

Regarding the shortage of ammunition, he said he referred to that because experience had shown him that the Cabinet, however useful in time of peace, was an organization utterly incapable of carrying on the war under present conditions. What was wanted was a smaller number of competent men sitting daily with the best advisers they could get to work out the problems that arose. He did not think that a committee of the Cabinet would answer, if the committee was to be accountable to the Cabinet and the Cabinet was to take the responsibility.

With respect to the Dardanelles operations, Sir Edward said he could not understand how, at the very time of a shortage of ammunition, the Government took on such an expedition, which had hung "around our necks like a millstone all these months."

He did not believe the Government was justified in entering on that expedition, which had cost 100,000 men in casualties and suffering which baffled description, unless they had assurances from their naval and military advisers that they were likely to carry the expedition to a successful conclusion.

"Was there ever such a story of miscalculations," he exclaimed, "as those in the Dardanelles?"

He expressed the hope that new plans for the campaign in the near east had been worked out clearly and definitely, because at the time he was in the Cabinet he could find no trace of any such thing in existence. He cared not a straw, he said, who were the men conducting the war, so long as they carried it out with every possible effort to realize victory.

Speech by John Redmond.

John Redmond, the Nationalist leader, declared that the attacks upon the Premier and the persistent pessimism of a portion of the press had had no weight in Ireland and that the proposal which Mr. Asquith had made with reference to the Cabinet was one which, in his opinion, would, for the time being at any rate, silence "the wreckers."

Redmond said he was against compulsion, and to impose compulsion, unless the country was virtually unanimous in its favor, would be a folly and a crime.

Sir Edward Grey then arose to correct what he described as a misapprehension that had arisen from Sir Edward Carson's speech, which he said contained some statements that afforded an example of the difficulty of speaking as freely in time of war as in time of peace.

"Sir Edward Carson," Sir Edward Grey said, "must have left the House of Commons and probably would leave our allies, under the impression that we made a promise to lend help to Servia and then vacillated and hesitated, and as a result some valuable opportunity for giving help had been lost."

The Foreign Minister said his statement of Sept. 28, promising to aid the Balkan states friendly to the entente Powers "in a manner that would be most welcome to them," was founded on something of a definite promise the Government had made in answer to a request from Greece. This promise had been made in common with the French Government and was that a definite number of men would be sent to Saloniki for the express purpose of enabling Greece to fulfill her treaty obligations with Servia.

"The forces which were immediately at our disposal," he said, "were landed at Saloniki and are now engaged in the operations in the Balkans, and the preparations went on for sending further forces to the east. No time has been lost in giving any assistance in the British and French power to Servia, in her hour of need."

PREACHER BECOMES POLICEMAN

GOSHEN, Ind., Nov. 3.—The Rev. W. H. Greenwalt, formerly pastor of a Baptist church in East St. Louis, today doffed his ministerial robes and put on the uniform and took the duties of a policeman.

The town recently voted out the saloons, but "blind tigers" are operating, and the minister declares that as a policeman he will make the place literally dry. His new salary will be considerably less than he received as a pastor.

Wants $50,000 for Husband's Death.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 3.—M. R. Strauss, wealthy clothing manufacturer of Baltimore, was today sued for $50,000 for the death of John Holt, killed while a passenger in the Strauss automobile in an accident in Chester, Pa., in August, 1915. Mrs. Nannie Holt of Memphis, the widow, filed the suit in Circuit Court here. The Holts formerly resided in California.

WHITLOCK DENIES GERMANS BROKE FAITH WITH HIM

No Pledge Made in Cavell Case, He Says—Embarrassed by Publication of Report.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—Reports submitted by Brand Whitlock, American Minister to Belgium, to Ambassador Page at London, on the case of Miss Edith Cavell, the British nurse, executed by German military authorities, constituted merely a recital of the facts and were for the Ambassador's information, but not for publication. This is disclosed in a long report from the Minister to the Washington Government, in which he reviews steps taken by himself and legation staff in connection with the case.

Publication of the reports by the British Foreign Office to which they were transmitted by Ambassador Page in the ordinary course in reporting on the case of British subjects by American diplomatic officers, Minister Whitlock says, caused him considerable embarrassment in Brussels with the German authorities. He added, however, that the latter were apparently satisfied with his explanation.

Minister Whitlock states that no promise or pledge was given the legation officially that it would be kept informed of the disposition of the case in referring to reports from London that there was evidence of bad faith on the part of the German authorities before the execution.

The incident is now regarded as closed by officials here, who believe there will be no impairment of Minister Whitlock's usefulness in Belgium.

BERLIN'S FIRST 'MEATLESS' DAY REDUCES AMOUNT OF EATING

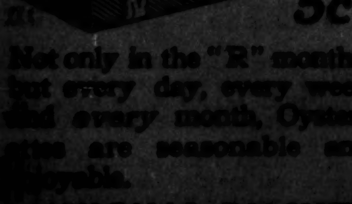

Sudden Change to Fish or Vegetable Diet Has Effect Intended by Authorities.

BERLIN, via London, Nov. 3.—Berlin on its first "meatless" day yesterday adapted itself with little grumbling to the new regulation. The effect of the sudden change from a meat to a fish or a vegetable diet lessened materially the amount of food consumed, which was the aim of the authorities.

Many of the larger restaurants specialized in fish courses and others offered omelets in countless varieties. Cold meats may be eaten, but the public neglected them at the heavy noon meal and left them for the evening meal.

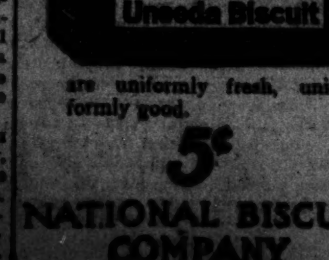

The new scheme was seemingly less successful in the homes than in the cafes. At the butcher shops Monday evening lines of people stood for hours waiting to buy enough meat to last until Wednesday. Many stores were sold out. The newspapers issue warnings that such tactics would result in a shortage and increased prices, which the regulations are intended to prevent.

MAYOR WILL NOT GIVE LOVE LETTER TO ART BOARD

Declares He Will Not Permit Its Use Unless "Finder" Calls to Claim It.

INQUIRY ON FRIDAY

Board to Investigate Missive to Director, Who Is Called "Dear Boy."

Mayor Kiel this afternoon refused a request of W. K. Bixby, president of the Board of Control of the City Art Museum, that the "Dear Boy" letter, addressed to the Director of the Museum, and containing endearing phrases, which reached the Mayor from an anonymous source, should be turned over to the board for examination.

Bixby had previously indicated that the board intended, at its meeting Friday, to question Miss Madeleine Borggraefe, secretary of the museum, and Robert A. Holland, director, as to the letter. He called at the Mayor's office, accompanied by Charles P. Pettus, vice president of the board, and Samuel L. Sherer, a member, and told the Mayor that the board wished to compare the handwriting of the letter with other writing.

The Mayor refused the request, saying that, as the letter had been forwarded anonymously, he would not permit any use to be made of it which might injure a woman's reputation or destroy the happiness of a home. If the person who forwarded the letter, and who termed himself "Art Interested Taxpayer" will come forward and say that he found the letter in Forest Park, as his note says he did, then, the Mayor said, he will take a different view of the matter, and may be willing to give the letter to the board. Until then he intends to keep it in his office safe.

Depart Without Letter.

Bixby and the others said the board had the highest regard for, and the utmost confidence in, Director Holland and Miss Borggraefe, but this statement did not cause the Mayor to change his mind, and the visitors went away without the letter.

As was told in yesterday's Post-Dispatch, the anonymous communication containing the "Dear Boy" letter was sent to the Efficiency Board and was forwarded by the chairman to the Mayor. Neither the Efficiency Board nor the Mayor has anything directly to do with the museum's affairs.

The letter, which had been opened, was on the stationery of Hotel Martha Washington, New York, was postmarked New York, Sept. 16, was signed with the initial "M." and was addressed "Director City Art Museum, Forest Park, St. Louis." With it was inclosed a letter addressed to Miss Madeleine Borggraefe, Hotel Martha Washington, New York. This letter was a brief note from Washington sign "Margaret W.," and related to Miss Borggraefe's intended visit to Washington.

Miss Borggraefe receives $1800 a year as secretary of the museum, and lives at 4001 Scanlan place. Holland receives $3000 a year as director. He is married and lives at 1234 Graham street.

"Goodnight, Dearie," Signature.

The recipient was addressed as "Dearest," and the signature was "Goodnight, dearie. M." I told of an intended journey to Washington, and of a search in stores for "some little trinket to take home to my darling—the only boy in this wide world." Not having found anything suitable for a gift, the writer said: "I shall have to give it up as a bad job, and bring only myself back to you."

"You poor child," another paragraph read, "are you living on nothing else than pies? I am afraid I won't find you very fat when I get back." There was mention of insurance rates, of "making the Art Museum look like something," of expected Veiled Prophet invitations, of having sent the musuem payroll to the city hall.

"You dear boy!" the letter continued, "It is just like you to tell me and want me to live like a millionaire. We would never get rich if we did." Mention then was made of keeping the expenses of the trip to the museum at less than $100, and the hope that none of those at the museum, especially Mrs. B., would be jealous and think she was entitled to the trip. The writer stated Mrs. B. thought she was very important since she uses the title "docent."

Director Holland today told a Post-Dispatch reporter that, if such a letter exists, he never received it and that if it was sent to him it must have been stolen from his correspondence. He said he has been upon most friendly terms with Miss Borggraefe for two or three years and has received scores of letters from her regarding business affairs and has written her many letters. He added:

"We have been upon terms of intimacy in business affairs, and it sometimes happens that when a man and a woman are closely associated in their business interests, traces of this will get into their correspondence sometimes, and things be written that are not meant in the sense in which they might be read by outsiders.

"The sending of this anonymous letter to directors of the Art Museum, inclosing this alleged letter to me, does not come as a particular surprise. Two or three persons (I believe they are well known to the directors) have been trying for some time to get me out of my position, so they might secure it for themselves. They may get me this time, but I can say truthfully that I know nothing of this particular letter that has been made public.

"My wife is now in Chicago with the two children, who are studying at the Art Institute there. She knows all about these attacks upon me, and I have not the slightest fear that the publication of this letter will affect our domestic relations. She will know that this is simply another underhand attack upon me."

Miss Borggraefe, after making a statement over the telephone in which she denied any knowledge of the "Dear Boy" letter, was visited at the museum by a Post-Dispatch reporter. "I have nothing to say," she said.

She was asked what attitude she would take if summoned before the Board of Control. "I will tell the truth in every particular and answer all questions," she replied.

Miss Borggraefe then asserted that she knew Mr. Holland was a fine man, of great integrity and character; that he had a most loving and devoted wife, and that she was positive no domestic discord would result from the letter incident.

Bixby Got Copy of Letter.

Bixby said the Board of Control would not hold a special meeting on the matter, but would take it up at the regular meeting Friday afternoon, for full inquiry and discussion. Pending any further knowledge as to the matter, Bixby said his sympathies were strongly with Holland. But he said an inquiry seemed to be demanded, in justice to the public and to the two persons whose names had been mentioned in connection with the correspondence.

The Board of Control is a self-perpetuating body, with the right to fill vacancies in its own membership.

Mrs. Holland, in Chicago, said she believed the whole thing was a trick on the part of some of her husband's enemies to injure him in the estimation of the Board of Control. "There has been considerable jealousy among teachers and others over Mr. Holland's advancement at the Art Museum over the heads of some who felt they were entitled to the place," she said.

CARRANZA AT PIEDRAS NEGRAS; DECLINES TO GO TO EAGLE PASS

Remains on Mexican Side of Border, Where He Has Conference With John Lind.

EAGLE PASS, Tex., Nov. 3.—The people of Eagle Pass were disappointed today when they learned that Gen. Venustiano Carranza had declined all invitations to cross the border and will remain at Piedras Negras, where he arrived yesterday.

John Lind held a two-hour conference with Carranza this morning. The talk, it was learned, was about the reconstruction of a new government.

SECRET BRIDE OF SLAIN LAWYER INQUEST WITNESS

She Tells of Ante-Nuptial Agreement With Robert L. Rowden as to Their Property.

The Coroner's inquest into the death of Robert L. Rowden, a lawyer, who was killed in his rooms, at 915 North Nineteenth street, on Oct. 24, was reopened today, and Mrs. Elizabeth Smith Rowden, who had been married secretly to the lawyer two weeks before he was murdered, was questioned at length regarding her knowledge of Rowden's affairs. Mrs. Rowden said that, at the time of her marriage, Rowden had said he preferred to live by himself for a time, so she continued her residence at 3501 Franklin avenue.

She said that there had been an ante-nuptial agreement between Rowden and herself. She did not have her copy of the agreement with her and was asked to state its general terms.

Why He Wished to Marry.

Mrs. Rowden testified that, under the agreement, if anything happened to Rowden she was to receive all his property, but if anything happened to her, all of her property was to go to her three children. She said that one of the reasons why Rowden wished to marry was to have someone to whom he could leave his property. On cross-examination she said she knew that Rowden had a brother and a sister and some nephews and nieces. She said he had not been on good terms with his brother for a number of years.

She testified that Rowden had made over to her the deed for a house he owned in Webster Groves. She was asked if he had not given her another house in Webster Groves, and replied that she did not think so. She said that Rowden had also given her a farm in Maries County, upon which there is a $1200 mortgage. She said she did not know the value of the farm and that it embraced either 80 or 180 acres.

TAFT THINKS REPUBLICAN VICTORY IN 1916 PROBABLE

Election of Party's Ticket in Massachusetts Significant, He Declares.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 3.—Former President William Howard Taft, in a statement given out today, commenting on yesterday's election, said he was very much pleased at the election of former Congressman Samuel W. McCall as Governor of Massachusetts. His statement said:

"The fact that the Progressive party is disappearing in Massachusetts practically and that the Republican ticket is elected is very significant to me of the probability of Republican victory in 1916.

"Of course I haven't heard the returns from Maryland and Kentucky, though there, too, the Republican party seems to have gained its old-time strength by union of the previous divisions.

"I am very much disappointed at the defeat of the new Constitution by New York. This was the best State Constitution that has been offered to voters in a very long time in any State.

"I have no comment to make on the defeat of woman suffrage, except to say that it was not a surprise."

HOLSCHBACH DIVORCE AFFIRMED

Court of Appeals Finds for Wife of Dentist.

The Court of Appeals yesterday affirmed the finding of the Circuit Court in awarding a decision with custody of a daughter and alimony to Mrs. Nellie Holschbach against John P. Holschbach, a dentist of 3801 South Grand avenue. They were married in November, 1902, and separated in April, 1907, since which time there have been three suits for divorce.

The first was by Holschbach, being dismissed by him after a reconciliation. Then his wife brought suit and won a decree in the Circuit Court, but Holschbach obtained a reversal of the finding in the Court of Appeals. Mrs. Holschbach then wrote a formal letter to her husband in which she said she would live with him again, and when he did not reply sued him again, basing her second plea on the grounds of desertion.

TRAILED HUSBAND, GETS DIVORCE

Wife Tells of Following Traveling Salesman to Hotels.

Mrs. Estelle Johnson was granted a divorce from Herbert A. Johnson, a traveling salesman, in Judge Arnold's court today, after she had told of tracing her husband to hotels in St. Louis and Macon, Mo., where Mrs. Rhoda Bell Gardner of Quincy, Ill., was registered. Mrs. Johnson made her home in Quincy until about one year ago, when she moved to St. Louis.

She testified that she was married in 1902 and left her husband in September, 1914, after confronting him with evidence she had gathered regarding the presence of Mrs. Gardner at hotels at which Johnson was stopping. John B. Edwards, attorney for Mrs. Johnson, introduced several letters said to have been written by Johnson, in evidence, but they were not made public.

JAPANESE LAUNCH DREADNOUGHT

Yamashiro Is Second of Four Big Sea Battlers.

YOKOSUKA, Japan, Nov. 3.—The super-dreadnought Yamashiro, a sister ship of the Fuso, was launched here today.

The Yamashiro is the second of four ships of the Fuso class to be launched. Construction of the Yamashiro was begun on Nov. 20, 1913. It is expected she will be completed next year.

The tentative figures on super-dreadnoughts of this class give them a displacement of 30,600 tons, a length of 673 feet and their armament 12 14-inch and 16 six-inch guns in their main batteries.

SALOON CLOSED BY RUMSEY

Policeman Says He Bought Drinks at Vanrie's Place on Sunday.

After the trial of Edward Vanrie, a saloon keeper of 4701 Virginia avenue, charged with selling liquor on Sunday, Excise Commissioner Rumsey ordered Vanrie to keep his saloon closed until further notice.

A policeman told Commissioner Rumsey that he was admitted into the rear of the saloon on Sunday, Oct. 24, about 10 p. m., and that he saw six men drinking beer. He said he purchased five glasses of beer from Mrs. Sophie Vanrie, wife of the proprietor.

FIRE DOES NOT STOP WEDDING

PERU, Ind., Nov. 3.—While Louis Cole and Miss Ella McCaffrey, representing families worth millions, walked to the altar the fire whistle blew, giving warning that the Cole country home, six miles east of here, was on fire. The house was destroyed, with a loss of about $30,000.

News of the fire was not allowed to mar the wedding ceremony, and the couple left on their honeymoon ignorant of the loss.

TREAT CATARRH BY NATURE'S METHOD

Every Breath of Hyomei Carries Healing Medicated Air to the Infected Membrane.

Nearly every one who has catarrh knows how foolish it is to try and cure it with sprays, lotions and the like. Temporary relief may be given, but a cure seldom comes.

Until recently your physician would probably have said the only way to help catarrh would be to have a change of climate; but now with a simple preparation called Hyomei you can carry a health-giving climate in your vest pocket and by breathing it a few minutes four times a day successfully treat yourself.

The complete Hyomei outfit is inexpensive and consists of an inhaler that can be carried in the vest pocket, a medicine dropper and a bottle of Hyomei. The inhaler lasts a lifetime, and if one bottle does not give permanent relief, an extra bottle of Hyomei can be obtained at any time for a trifling sum. It is more economical than all remedies advertised for the cure of catarrh, and is the only treatment known to us that follows nature in her method of treating diseases of the respiratory organs. Wolff-Wilson Drug Co. has sold a great many Hyomei outfits, and the more they sell, the more convinced they are that they are perfectly safe in guarantoeing to refund the money if Hyomei does not relieve—ADV.

$10,000 IS BANKS' CONTRIBUTION TO CONVENTION FUND

Industries Are Being Organized in Groups to Hasten $200,000 Guaranty.

A subscription of $10,000 to the $200,000 national conventions fund was made today by the St. Louis banks and trust companies. Of this amount $5000 will apply to the fund for the Republican National Convention, and $5000 to the Democratic fund.

The important industries in St. Louis are being organized into groups, and each group will make a subscription to the fund. The wholesale dry goods, boot and shoe and iron and steel industries are being organized today. It is expected that each of these industries will make substantial contributions.

The Business Men's League today sent letters to its members requesting them to make personal subscriptions to the fund. It is expected that many members will make individual subscriptions, in addition to the subscriptions to be made by their firms. The league has 2400 members.

James E. Smith, chairman of the National Conventions Association, who is giving all of his time to the conventions campaign, signed up for an individual subscription of $50 today. He said that he was interested in several business enterprises in St. Louis which would also make subscriptions to the fund.

Distribution of Interest.

The conventions association found that it would be impossible to organize all the 126 organizations affiliated with it for the week's money raising campaign before Nov. 15. That week has, accordingly, been set aside for the completion of the $200,000 fund. Each of the 126 organizations will be expected to get a subscription of not less than $1 nor more than $10 from each individual member, thereby widely distributing the interest in the convention movement.

Smith said that the benefit to St. Louis of bringing all the members of these organizations into a conventions movement would be as great, or greater, to St. Louis than the conventions themselves. The Republican national convention, in which there probably will be a long and spectacular fight for the presidential nomination, Smith said, probably would bring 100,000 people to St. Louis. If the convention should last a week the visitors and delegates would spend not less than $3,000,000, he said.

Benefits to Be Scattered.

"Everybody in the city will derive benefits from the expenditure of such large sums of money in the city," he said. "The visitors will spend their money not only at the hotels, but for cigars, refreshments, transportation, office rents, stationery supplies, etc., while the hotels themselves will have to go into the market for the supplies required for feeding such a great number of visitors."

Smith said that the interest in the convention movement was becoming keener every day, and that people in every line of business, large and small, were offering their co-operation.

During the money-raising week volunteer committees will be sent out to solicit subscriptions in every part of the city. The association expects to have the $200,000 fund fully subscribed before the end of the week.

Chicago Has Raised Half of $200,000 Guaranty Fund.

CHICAGO, Nov. 3.—Half of the $200,000 fund sought to bring the Democratic and Republican national conventions to Chicago has been raised, it was announced today, as a committee of representative business men opened a two weeks' campaign to raise another $100,000.

Only once in the last half century have the Democrats and Republicans held their national conventions in the same city, and that was in 1884, when Cleveland and Hendricks and Blaine and Logan were nominated here.

Man Who Lost Memory Recovers.

A man temporarily deprived of memory after having been struck over the head by a negro robber near Union Station last evening, identified himself at the city hospital this morning as Henry F. Hamm, 36 years old, a farmer of Lenox, Io. He was sent to the hospital about 1 a. m. by a policeman, who found him in a dazed condition at Eleventh street and Chouteau avenue.

9 DEAD, 9 MISSING IN A SHIPWRECK OFF OREGON COAST

Majority of 48 Passengers and 48 of Crew of Santa Clara Are Rescued.

MARSHFIELD, Ore., Nov. 3.—Eighteen persons are believed to have lost their lives late yesterday when the passenger steamer Santa Clara, from Portland to San Francisco, went aground on the south spit near the entrance to Coos Bay late yesterday. Nine bodies have been recovered and nine other persons are missing.

The identified dead include Madeline Rooney and Mrs. Hale, both of South Bend, Ind.; Mrs. Bridgett Dunn, Butte, Mont.; Mrs. D. H. Thorne, Hood River, Ore.; J. Morris Bogue, 9 years old, Goldhill, Ore.; 13-months-old child of J. C. Crowley of Mill City, Ore.; Eugene Gillenwater, 7 years old; Gale Graham, Portland, Ore.; —— Handloss, oiler.

The bodies of two unidentified women were recovered. One is about 35 years old and the other about 50.

The Santa Clara in a gale struck Mussle Reef, 20 miles from Marshfield.

According to Mate Tesell, the shoal upon which the vessel first struck, was uncharted.

After striking the spit, lifeboats immediately were lowered. Two overturned in the surf. One contained mostly passengers, while the other carried the captain and most of the crew. Most of those in the latter boat swam ashore.

There were 48 passengers aboard and the crew numbered 42. Of those who reached shore, many were still in a condition of exhaustion today.

At daybreak the Santa Clara was holding an even keel and may not be a complete wreck. Searching parties early today resumed search for more bodies.

The Santa Clara left Portland for San Francisco Monday, with 48 passengers and a crew of 42.

The known dead are Mrs. M. J. Dunn, Butte, Mont.; Mrs. D. H. Thorn, Hood River, Ore.; Eugene Gillinwater, Delmas Bogue, Goldhill, Ore.; child of J. C. Crowley, Mill City, Ore.; two unidentified women and two members of the crew.

Capt. Lofstedt, who was at first reported dead, succeeded in reaching the Santa Clara again after his lifeboat had been capsized and was rescued with six or eight members of the crew later by the Coos Bay life-saving crew.

E. Edwards, one of the crew, carried 27 to safety in the lifeboat of which he was in charge.

First Officer Charles Tiessel, one of the crew to reach safety in the last boat, had to swim half a mile.

The Santa Clara is a wooden vessel, owned by the North Pacific Steamship Co.

COURT GIVES WOMAN 30 DAYS TO PRODUCE $800 OF ESTATE

Money Was Turned Over to Her by Sweetheart Who Left Will Devising $515 to Him.

Judge J. P. Streuber, presiding in the Probate Court at Edwardsville, yesterday gave Miss Sophia Voelker of Troy 30 days in which to turn over to John C. Schroeppel of Collinsville, administrator of the estate of Joseph Lundak of Collinsville, $800 belonging to the estate. She was told that unless she does so she will be sent to jail and kept there until the money is produced.

For 10 years Ludak and Miss Voelker were sweethearts. During the greater part of that time Lundak is said to have given the young woman his savings to keep for him. When he was accidentally killed, March 25, it was found that she had virtually all of his estate and his will. This had been drawn March 13. It devised $515 to his brothers and sisters and the remainder to Miss Voelker.

Administrator Schroeppel, on her refusal to turn over the money, had her cited for contempt.

Claude Scoggin Gets Two Years.

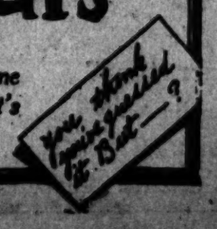

CARUTHERSVILLE, Mo., Nov. 3.—Claude Scoggin, charged with embezzlement from the People's Bank, of which he was assistant cashier, was given a sentence of two years by a jury here today. There were 27 charges against him, the total alleged to have been taken being $25,000. A second trial on another count is under way.

SURPRISE HOME FITTED UP FOR LENNOX CLUB

Members of Exclusive Organization Notified Season's Dances Will Be in New Quarters.

The "dancing set" of St. Louis was all a-flutter today when it was made known that the Lennox Club had acquired a home of its own at King's highway and Maryland avenue.

The announcement was made in a folder sent through the mails, and it revealed that the Executive Committee of the club had quietly leased and fitted up the new quarters without taking anyone outside the organization into the secret.

The new building was leased from Joseph Gerardi. It originally was a bake shop and tea room. Recently it has been vacant. It is two stories in [illegible] and its design is suggestive of the mission style of architecture.

Each season the Lennox Club, which has a membership of about 200, gives four dances, which vie in exclusiveness with the two annual balls of the Imperial Club. Up to this time the Lennox Club dances have been in the quarters of the Woman's Club.

The announcement sent out today says that this year's dances will be at the club's own quarters, the dates being Nov. 12, Dec. 10, Jan. 21 and Feb. 11.

Millard Kaiser, Geoffrey Kimball, John D. Perry and C. W. Wall Jr. are the members of the Executive Committee who guarded the secret so well that the announcement came as a real surprise to the younger society set.

In addition to the present members of the club associate members will be invited to join the organization. They will have access to the clubrooms at all times, except at the regular dances and at such times as the rooms are reserved by active members. These associate members may use the clubrooms for dances, dinners and private entertainments and may attend the dances which will be given every Saturday afternoon, starting at 5 p. m. Tea will be served at the club on Sunday afternoons after the Symphony popular concerts.

The Board of Governors of the club are Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Pettus, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Kauffman, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Langenberg, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Simmons, Mr. and Mrs. Frank V. Hammar, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ferguson.

SUBWAY AND "L" LINE FAVORED TO RELIEVE TRAFFIC

C. S. Butts, Public Utilities Department Engineer, Recommends East-West Route.

Rapid transit by a combination subway and elevated road, from Eads Bridge to Wellston, which would be underground east of Vandeventer avenue, was recommended in a report by Charles S. Buttes, engineer in charge of street railways for the City Public Utilities Department, read before the City Plan Commission last night.

Butts assumed that the central parkway project might yet be effected, and recommended that the subway extend along the center of the proposed parkway between Market and Chestnut streets. The railroad tunnel under Eighth street and Washington avenue, connecting with Eads Bridge, should be abandoned by the Terminal Association when the free bridge is opened and this could be utilized as the eastern end of an electric subway.

At Theresa avenue, the subway could be constructed northwardly to Morgan street, and the cars be brought above grade at Vandeventer avenue and Morgan street, at the entrance to the private right of way which the United Railways Co. uses for its Hodiamont cars. Butts said that an elevated, of practically noiseless construction, should be built along the right of way, extending to the western city limits, and radiating north as far as Easton avenue.

He recommended that the city arrange for the use of subways by interurban cars, and said that, if an entry from the west for such lines should be created, it was probable the McKinley System would extend its tracks into Missouri.

Butts' report included a recommendation that a surface trolley loop to handle free bridge cars be constructed from the bridge approach, at Seventh and Papin streets, to a central station at Eleventh and Chestnut streets, utilizing the old city hall for a station. The loop cars would operate west on Chestnut street from Seventh street, south on Eleventh street and east on Walnut street.

Charles A. Stix and others, representing the Downtown Improvement Association, protested against the route of the surface loop outlined by Butts, on the ground that it would not bring the interurban visitors to the retail shopping district.

SAYS CAPTIVES WERE KILLED

German Report Tells of Letter Describing Cossack Atrocities.

BERLIN, Nov. 3.—From an official source there was given out today what is described as a Russian army report found on a prisoner of war.

According to this report, a Colonel of Cossacks notified his superior officer, Baron von Stempel, commander of the Second Brigade, that his troops found it necessary to kill a number of German captives, so that they could participate in nearby fighting.

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes —Most Women Can Have

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. You will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter that one's system collects.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women, as well as men, take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets now and then just to keep in the pink of condition.

SOUTHERN BUSINESS MAN AN ESCAPED SING SING CONVICT

Chester Yates, With 20 Years to Serve for Robbing Broker, Found in New Orleans.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 3.—A business man known here as Charles A. Stone, who associated with notorious characters, was arrested on suspicion. Detectives today put him to the Bertillon test and discovered that he was Chester Yates, who escaped from Sing Sing, Dec. 31, 1913, with 20 years of his term to serve.

Yates was leader of the men who robbed the aged broker, Aaron Bancroft, in an underground corridor of the New York Produce Exchange, March 2, 1910, and made away with $85,000 in negotiable securities. He was arrested in San Francisco, after Daniel O'Reilly, a lawyer for Harry Thaw at his first trial for the murder of Stanford White, had undertaken to negotiate return of the securities and had been disbarred.

When asked how he had escaped from Sing Sing, Yates said: "My get-away is a mystery that all the police couldn't solve, and I'm not going to peach. But you can't get away from the Bertillon system. I was caught in California by it and again in Europe. It's perfect."

Yates said he had been in Mexico. Ten months ago he took up his residence here.

SWANGER NEAR DECISION TO RUN FOR GOVERNOR

Declares McJimsey's Candidacy for Republican Nomination Would Not Bar Him.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 3.—John E. Swanger, former Secretary of State, it has become known to a few Republicans, practically has decided to become a candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor, on a platform of opposition to the old Republican Federal element in the State and E. E. E. McJimsey, his former newspaper partner, who is being urged as a candidate by the Kiel-Graves element in St. Louis.

It has been told about the State that McJimsey, Mayor Kiel and Circuit Clerk Charles R. Graves met one day last week, in the home of E. L. (Liv) Morse, in Excelsior Springs, and arranged to throw the St. Louis Republican strength to McJimsey. Morse represents the element of Missouri Republicans which was fought by the Progressive element of the party for many years and by Herbert S. Hadley, former Governor. He has always stood for standpat Republican ideas.

Swanger and McJimsey.

While Swanger frequently has been spoken of as a candidate for Governor, it generally has been believed that he would not make a race against McJimsey. For years they were interested together in newspaper properties in different parts of the State and were considered to be warm personal friends.

Swanger, in talking to the Post-Dispatch correspondent yesterday in Sedalia, where he is editor of a newspaper, indicated that his personal relations with McJimsey were not all that they had been supposed to be.

"I understand that there has been a meeting at Liv Morse's house in Excelsior Springs of certain men," said Swanger. "I do not believe that the people of Missouri or the Republicans of Missouri will consent to be led by any aggregation which goes to Liv Morse for support and counsel.

"I have not fully determined whether I shall be a candidate, though I have given the matter considerable thought. You may say, however, that there is no reason whatever why I should consider the candidacy of McJimsey as a bar to my becoming a candidate."

Has Support in St. Louis.

McJimsey has the support of the St. Louis Kiel-Graves element, as well as the Morse element. Politicians say that he has not been able to line up Chairman Babler and the State Committee. Swanger would be expected to run as a teammate to Hadley, who, it is thought, soon will announce his candidacy for the United States Senate against Walter S. Dickey.

NEW YORK POLICE STOP A BURLESQUE PERFORMANCE

Curtain Ordered Down in Midst of Scene and Eight Arrests Made—Crowd Fails to Get Money Back.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—"Sim Williams and His Girls From Joyland," as the burlesque at the Garrick Theater was called, were squelched last night by the police, who ordered the curtain down in the midst of a scene and made eight arrests. The audience, mostly men, was roaring at the scene.

At the box office there was nearly a riot when the cashier refused to refund the price of admission. Then the police had to use force in getting the audience out into the street.

Two women and two men accused of being participants in the performance were held in $500 bail each for court tomorrow and the others were sent to the night court. Detectives said that they had copied many of the alleged jokes which were uttered on the stage to repeat them in court, and they also had written down a description of the scenes depicted.

JOSEPH PHILIBERT ACQUITTED

Exonerated After Alibi Is Established in Robbery Case.

Joseph Philibert, who was on trial yesterday in Judge Clark's court on a robbery charge, was acquitted after a preliminary hearing. He was also acquitted of a charge ofattempted robbery in the first degree.

Philibert was shot Sept. 18 by Frank Ressler Jr., a huckster, who said that Philibert had climbed on his wagon in an attempt to rob him. Philibert was taken to the hospital and there was identified by the crew of a Chouteau car as one of two men who had held up the car and robbed the conductor Sept. 14. Members of the Head, Heart and Hand Club, a social organization, testified that on the night of the car robbery Philbert was at a meeting of the club and could not have taken part in the robbery. Another member of the club who was accused in the same affair was exonerated on the same evidence about two weeks ago.

Philibert said in regard to the Ressler case that he knew Ressler and had climbed on the wagon as a joke, and that failing to recognize him, Ressler had shot him.

PRESIDENT'S FIANCEE SPENDS DAY WITH NEW YORK MODISTES

She Leaves Her Hotel by Side Door to Escape Snapshot Photographers.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—Mrs. Norman Galt, fiancee of President Wilson, who will be here several days making purchases for her trousseau, was busy with modistes yesterday. She was accompanied by her niece, Miss A. E. Gordon of Washington, and Miss Helen Woodrow Bones, the President's cousin. Mrs. Galt refused to allow photographers to snap her picture when she left the Hotel St. Regis, where she is staying, and later when she left a shop she threw a heavy veil over her face. After luncheon she slipped out of the side door of her hotel and escaped, while Secret Service Agent Jarvis, who was detailed from Washington as a guard for Mrs. Galt, was threatening the photographers for having followed her.

Mrs. Galt was simply gowned. Her skirt was of black satin, cut rather tight, with full tunic of dark blue serge. Her hat was of blue velvet, with a belt of ecru set in a large silver buckle. Black pumps, tan spats and a white fox neck piece completed her costume.

The President's fiancee did not have any callers yesterday. She will the week with the President, who is scheduled to speak at the anniversary dinner of the Manhattan Club tomorrow night.

Prisoner Moved in Fear of Mob.

WALNUT RIDGE, Ark., Nov. 3.—Threats of violence following the discovery of the murder of Hattie Burleson, 18 years old, caused Will Dobbs, 25, her stepfather, to be taken hurriedly from the county jail here early today for transfer to Jonesboro. Dobbs notified neighbors yesterday that three masked men attacked him and the girl with knives.

Aids to Digestion

Whatever improves bodily conditions in general aids digestion.

Cheerfulness, exercise, fresh air, baths and good habits make your digestion better able to take care of any burdens you impose upon it. But the greatest aid to good digestion is good blood. Anemia, or thin blood, is a common cause of indigestion. Normal action of the stomach is impossible without healthy, well-oxidized blood.

Dyspepsia which does not yield to ordinary treatment may be quickly corrected when the blood is enriched. Many people have secured relief from chronic forms of indigestion by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills which make the blood rich and red, capable of carrying an increased amount of oxygen, the great supporter of human life.

Have you ever seriously considered giving Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial to tone up your digestion, increase your vitality and make life better worth living? If your blood is thin and your digestion weak you certainly need them. Send for a diet book. It is free and will help you decide.

Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or they will be mailed postpaid on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.—ADV.

KING GEORGE, LYING IN BED, DECORATES LANCE SERGEANT

Monarch Wounded in Fall of Horse Barely Strong Enough to Pin on Victoria Cross.

LONDON, Nov. 3.—While King George was in an ambulance train Monday, being conveyed from an unnamed town in France to the coast, he directed that Lance Sergeant Oliver Brooks of the Coldstream Guards, who had just been awarded the Victoria Cross, be brought to the royal car, and there, despite his weakness, due to his recent injury when his horse fell with him, the King pinned the medal on the soldier's tunic. He did so while lying prone and was so weak that he found it difficult to push the pin through the khaki.

With his face flushed with pride, Sergeant Brooks knelt by the King's bed until the medal had been affixed.

The physicians in attendance upon the King gave out the following bulletin today:

"The King has not had so good a night. He is still in some pain. His general condition has improved and he is now able to take solid food."

VILLA'S ATTACK ON AGUA PRIETA GIVEN UP TEMPORARILY

He Withdraws Forces to Southwest to Get Water and Await Supplies.

By Associated Press.

DOUGLAS, Ariz., Nov. 3.—Gen. Villa, forced by hunger, thirst and scanty supply of ammunition, to abandon temporarily his assault on the strongly-intrenched village of Agua Prieta, commenced withdrawing his army today, and shortly after 9 o'clock most of his force was moving toward Anavacachi Pass, 12 miles southwest.

It is his apparent intention to reach water, which is plentiful further southwest, and to provision his hungry men.

Gen. Mendez, with about 1500 men, has been holding the pass for several days and will remain there guarding the entrance to the valley until the return of Villa. Meantime, it is said, heavy supplies of ammunition will reach Villa from the east.

Villa's retirement was marked by an occasional shell from the big guns of Agua Prieta, but by 9:30 this firing had ceased. Villa began his assault on the Carranza garrison at Agua Prieta, commanded by Gen. Calles, shortly after noon Monday, and the attack virtually had spent itself early yesterday afternoon.

Villa's Decision Sudden.

That Villa's determination to withdraw his forces temporarily was sudden was shown by the fact that his gun Lieutenants, in command of rapid-firers on the right wing, took nothing but their guns with them. Large quantities of ammunition in cases were left in emplacements.

Villa dead left on the field numbered 336. Two hundred bodies were counted west of Agua Prieta and 136 to the east. Calles casualties were 25 killed and 70 wounded.

Calles sent out cavalry forces to keep in touch with the Villa rear guard, but they were driven back to town by brisk rifle and shell fire.

Four Villa soldiers, part of a skirmish line that lay all day yesterday in the brush within three-quarters of a mile of the wire entanglements guarding Agua Prieta, started for the Carranza lines at dawn waving white flags. One jumped the wire fence marking the boundary line and was arrested by American soldiers. The other three crawled into the Carranza trenches.

Exchange of Gun Fire.

When the intention of the deserters became evident, Villa machine guns opened fire on them and the hundreds of Carranza soldiers standing on the trenches. There was a hurried ducking for cover and the firing ceased in about five minutes. Agua Prieta guns then sent two or three dozen shrapnel shells in the direction of Villa's main force.

A deserter from Villa's army who was taken prisoner by Americans declared that for 15 days all that many of the Villa soldiers had to eat was raw corn and wheat. Two or three Villa officers who yesterday came to the slaughter house on the international line, a short distance east of Douglas, to fill their canteens with water, were chewing at pieces of dried beef.

A large supply of flour and corn is available for Villa at Naco, Sonora. Some of this supply of provisions reached him last night, but not enough for all of his men, and until more is received, it is believed by American army officers, no serious attempt will be made to take Agua Prieta. It is not doubted, however, that the moment his army is thoroughly provisioned and rested Villa will hurl it upon the Carranza garrison. This may be tomorrow or it may be several days later.

More Troops Go to Douglas.

Three troops of the Thirteenth Cavalry left Columbus, N. M., for Douglas, today.

A brief attack was made early last night on Calles' outer works, but firing soon ceased. Previous to this, the attack, which was begun early Monday afternoon, had continued intermittently until shortly after noon yesterday.

The death late yesterday of Harry Jones, a private of Company C, Eleventh Infantry, is the first fatality in the most recent border hostilities in this section. Louis F. Taylor, who was wounded in the firing Monday, is reported to be in a critical condition.

The damage caused by Villa's artillery so far has been insignificant, according to observers on the American side, who say it is confined to shattered windows and a few demolished adobe houses and several breaks in the wire entanglements surrounding the Carranza garrison.

A reconnoitering party of 40 or 50 men from the Calles garrison encountered a Villa machine gun squad a mile southeast of the Agua Prieta defenses this morning and was cut to pieces, according to American observers. Only five of the men returned to their trenches.

President Considers Whether to Cross Border to Protect Douglas.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—President Wilson and Secretary Garrison are considering whether to authorize Major-General Funston to cross the Mexican border if he finds it necessary to do so to save Douglas from the Mexican gunfire.

Secretary Garrison refused to confirm or deny that Gen. Funston had asked for such authority and the White House was silent. It was made clear at the War Department that the American commander already had authority to return any fire from across the border.

WHERE MUSIC IS SWEETEST

The Down Touch of the MELVILLE CLARK APOLLO Player Piano

THE Apollo Player Piano touches DOWN on the Piano keys like a human being.

Have you ever seen anybody play the Piano by any other method than a DOWN TOUCH on the Piano keys?

Certainly not. The DOWN TOUCH on the Piano keys is the natural way to play—the way the Piano was built to be played, and, as the APOLLO is the only Player Piano which plays by a DOWN TOUCH on the Piano keys, it is the only Player Piano that plays correctly.

Yet the DOWN TOUCH is just one of the many vital, exclusive APOLLO features.

The Metal Metronome Motor insures perfect control of tempo—winds and rewinds music rolls automatically, and is a strong patented spring motor which defies wear and weather—exclusive to the APOLLO.

The Dynaline A simple, but marvelous patented essential device that insures proper pedaling and enables you to bring out the "life" and action of the music to the fullest degree—exclusive to the APOLLO.

The Solo Accent enables you to "accent" the melody or graduate and subdue the accompaniment. Or you can omit the melody altogether by playing the accompaniment in any one of the eight different keys—an important feature for accompanying the voice, violin, cello, etc.—exclusive to the APOLLO.

APOLLO Player Pianos from $585

HOW GEN. FUNSTON WATCHES THE 2000 MILES OF BORDER

Communication Lines From Yuma to Brownsville Center in Fort Sam Houston.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

BROWNSVILLE, Tex., Nov. 3.—Fort Sam Houston, in San Antonio, Tex., is an enormous stone quadrangle, two stories high, with large, high ceilinged rooms. Galleries run along the inside of the quadrangle, which encloses a park, tenanted by a herd of deer and swans gliding over little ponds.

In one of the upper rooms sits Maj. W. H. Hay, chief of staff, and in the next room is Major-General Frederick Funston. To Maj. Hay comes news of every event along the 2000 miles of Mexican border almost as soon as it happens. Telegraph, telephone and wireless communication from Yuma, Ariz., near the Pacific, to Brownsville, Tex., near the Atlantic, center here.

The chief of staff is a busy man. There are 30,000 enlisted men and officers and enough civilian employes to make between 40,000 and 50,000 men under his orders. He might be compared to the general manager of a big corporation, the president of which sits in the next room to approve or disapprove, while the board of directors in Washington demands results. This is the largest force gathered under a department commander in the United States since the Civil War, not excepting the Spanish-American War, and all of the force is in the field.

The border has been divided by Gen. Funston and his staff into seven Cavalry Patrol Districts, the most important and most consistently troublesome of which is that on the Lower Rio Grande extending from the Arroya del Tigre to the Gulf of Mexico. Col. Blocksom commands in the rich farming district. Across the Rio Grande, in disorganized Mexico, are certain bandits believed to number less than 500, but they keep on the keenest edge 5000 capable United States soldiers.

When the 5000 Carranza troops were being transported over United States territory from Eagle Pass to Agua Prieta, about 1200 miles, telegrams poured into the office of Funston's chief of staff at a rate of almost one a minute. They told of the progress of the five divisions of the train, or carried rumors of disaster threatened at such and such a point, or of a bridge the Villa men would try to destroy. Each report resulted in an order from the "central" of the great system, and the commanding officer in the threatened block drew his thin lines tighter. Every bridge, tunnel and trestle was guarded constantly, and an entire company of infantry was at the high bridge over the Pecos River. Each train division carried a company of United States infantry.

Poultice of American Troops.

The trouble at Agua Prieta has been treated as have been all other similar affairs. Whenever a sore spot on the Mexican side begins to swell, a poultice of American troops is immediately applied to the American side, and it usually reduces the inflammation. Gen. Funston's staff, led by Maj. Hay, makes it its business to know as much as possible of what is going on in Mexico. A military movement is reported, for instance, from somewhere in Sonora. The elaborate and excellent military maps of Mexico are immediately unrolled and the object and scope of the movement is calculated as much as is possible from the information at hand. Certain troops are loosened up ready for movement, or if they be not available in that section they are moved that way.

The object of the Mexicans is to cross the river, usually at night, raid some isolated ranch, obtain horses, cattle, food and whatever loot offers, and to get back to Mexico. If soldiers detect them, or if a detachment happens to be stationed in their way, they attack, apparently without fear, and though they usually lose some of their men they usually also get some of the Americans. Gen. Funston has the highest admiration for the pluck of the Mexican bandits, and so have the officers on the border who have seen their work.

Nogales-Naco Front a Sore Spot.

Next to the lower river the most persistently sore spot on the border is along the Nogales-Naco front. The lower river trouble is occasioned by bandits. There is no internal dissension among the Mexicans, as Carranza forces have had undisputed possession of the territory for months. On the Nogales-Naco line the Mexican soldiers cause trouble. There is little or none of the organized raiding of property on the American side, although no Mexican army that has so far approached the border has seemed to hesitate at taking anything loose which it could use.

The rich American-owned mines on the Mexican side have been constant lures to the Generals. American soldiers have been unable to use anything except moral suasion in defending these places, such as Cananea, because the United States soldiers cannot cross the line.

Then, a day or two later, a message is received that Gen. So-and-So is proceeding toward Lane's ranch on the border with 800 men. More activity on the part of Maj. Hay, and the next day when the Mexican General reaches the border he finds 500 or so khaki-clad soldiers just across the line. Ranches thereabout where forage might be stolen are well guarded, and peace is maintained.

The patrol on the western end of the line is a heavy, ponderous thing compared with that of the lower river. On the western end as many as 6000 or 7000 troops may be assembled at one place, or moved quickly to another through the barren, inhospitable desert. Seven thousand were lined up at Douglas.

In the rich lower river country the patrol is a delicate, spider-web thing, as there is no necessity for guarding against large numbers of men, but there must be a constant watch for robber bands of from 10 to 100.

Infantry detachments consisting usually of 10 to 20 men are stationed at intervals of five or 10 miles, depending on the nature of the country and the proximity of property which would appeal to robbers. Each detachment has a few signal corps men to maintain communication with the next detachments on each side, and with the commander of the sub-district. The Brownsville district is subdivided into five sub-districts.

For distances of a few miles a "buzzer" outfit is used. For this a telephone wire of such small diameter is used that great lengths of it can be carried easily. The smaller radio sets, known as "pack" sets, can be carried on a mule and are effective up to and sometimes exceeding 25 miles. "Wagon" sets have a range of 200 miles.

Cavalry Dashes to Scene of Trouble.

When bandits attack, or when they are seen to be moving, the sub-district commander is immediately notified. The two nearest detachments of cavalry are ordered to the scene, and in an incredibly short time they are galloping through the mesquite.

The sub-district commander immediately notifies the district commander at Brownsville, and there the powerful radio station flashes the news to San Antonio. A telephone sits at the head of the bed of Gen. Funston's chief of staff, and usually by the time the fight gets well under way that officer knows all the radio operator can tell him. The district commander, meanwhile, has taken whatever precautions he can to prevent the escape of the bandits.

In the long stretches between the lower river and the Douglas country there is little to steal, and therefore little to guard. All towns on the American side are garrisoned. El Paso, which is just across the river from troublous Juarez, has usually two regiments of infantry and one of cavalry. But the whole line is watched, and when one considers that some points are 100 miles from the nearest railroad, the difficulties can be appreciated.

Besides wire and wireless communication, each district commander makes a weekly report to the commanding General in writing, and a digest of all these is made by staff officers and a copy sent to each officer on the front.

The brigade commanders on the border are: First Cavalry Brigade, Fort Sam Houston, Gen. Parker; Second Cavalry Brigade, Douglas, Ariz., Col. Slocum; Second Brigade, Laredo, Tex., Gen. Evans; Sixth Brigade, Douglas, Ariz., Gen. Davis; Eighth Brigade, Fort Bliss, Tex., Gen. Pershing.

What to Do for Eczema

Greasy salves and ointments should not be applied if good, clear skin is wanted. From any druggist for 25c or $1.00 for extra large size, get a bottle of zemo. When applied as directed, it effectively removes eczema, quickly stops itching, and heals skin troubles, also sores, burns, wounds and chafing. It penetrates, cleanses and soothes. Zemo is dependable and inexpensive. Try it, as we believe nothing you have ever used is as effective and satisfying. Zemo, Cleveland. —ADV.

"CASCARETS" FOR HEADACHE, COLDS, LIVER AND BOWELS

Enjoy life! Don't stay bilious, sick, headachy and constipated.

Best for bad breath, sour stomach, coated tongue or indigestion.

They're fine! Cascarets liven your liver, clean your bowels and sweeten your stomach. You eat one or two, like candy, before going to bed, and in the morning your head is clear, tongue is clean, stomach sweet, breath right and cold gone. Get a box from your druggist and enjoy the nicest, gentlest liver and bowel cleansing you ever experienced. Cascarets stop sick headache, biliousness, indigestion, bad breath and constipation.

Mothers should give a whole Cascaret to cross, bilious, sick, feverish children any time. They are harmless and never gripe or sicken.—ADV.

30,000 HEARD REED DEFEND HIS RECORD AT STATE RALLIES

Senator's Plan to Get Chance to Explain Standing Toward Administration Is Success.

LAST MEETING IS HELD

Governor, Who Is Expected to Oppose Reed, Again Assails His Critics.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

SEDALIA, Mo., Nov. 3.—The series of seven Democratic State meetings, arranged by Senators Stone and Reed, to influence Democratic sentiment in favor of Senator Reed and against the candidacy of Gov. Major for Senator Reed's seat, ended here last night.

Politicians who have watched the trend of affairs at the meetings, which have been held in St. Joseph, Cape Girardeau, Nevada, Marshall, Hannibal, Springfield and Sedalia, express the opinion that in the main the Senators' plans worked out as they expected them to.

Though the meetings were widely advertised as great Democratic rallies and get-together meetings, politicians generally have accepted them as Reed-for-Senator meetings. Candidates for State offices have taken advantage of them to promote their candidacies.

The purpose of the meetings was to give Senator Reed an opportunity to attempt to win back former supporters who had deserted him because of his attitude toward the administration on the currency bill and other measures. The Senator doubted that he would be able to get voters to attend Reed meetings in an off year, and he and Senator Stone conceived the idea of the general political meetings.

30,000 Have Heard Reed.

Reed's explanations have been heard by nearly 30,000 persons, largely Democrats. At each meeting Gov. Major was heard. The Governor talked almost altogether in defense of his administration. He denied that it had been extravagant.

As to candidates for the governorship, the meetings, it seems to informed politicians, have brought out Chairman Atkinson of the Public Service Commission and Secretary of State Roach as the leading candidates.

Attorney-General Barker, who was well up among the leaders in the race a few months ago, has been little discussed by the politicians since these meetings began. There is a scattering support of Fred D. Gardner of St. Louis and of James A. Houchin of Jefferson City.

The threat that an anti-Catholic paper published in Aurora, Mo., will make a religious fight on Roach is probably the most widely discussed political topic at this time. Roach said that while he hopes no religious issue will be injected into the campaign, he does not fear the issue. Atkinson, who is a member of the Presbyterian Church, says he is very much opposed to having religious issues brought into the campaign.

At the meetings here yesterday Gov. Major defended the administration and attacked the Globe-Democrat as unfair to the Democrats. Senator Stone talked on national issues, and appealed to the Democrats to "be steady."

Discusses National Issues.

He said the Republicans at this time talked of only three issues in the next campaign, the tariff, national preparedness and an attack on the administration's policy of building up the merchant marine. He said all of these except the tariff would b settled before the campaign and that, in his opinion, by that time the tariff would have demonstrated that it needed very few changes.

"The country is in a state not only of normal, but of extraordinary prosperity," he said. "The mills are open day and night all over the land. It is hard to find a man who wants work who can't find it.

Senator Stone caused some amusement by a description of former President Taft, asking the audience if it wanted to return to the "flabbid, over-placid and vascillating corpulency of William Howard Taft."

In the evening Senator Kern of Indiana and Senator Reed spoke on national affairs. Senator Kern delivered a defense of Senator Reed's course in the Senate. He said: "As caucus chairman, I deny that Senator Reed was ever out of line with the Democratic majority in the Senate, or out of line with Democratic measures. He may have been a little ahead of the line at times, a few steps in advance, but he always was with the Democrats of the Senate."

The distribution of "Major-for-Senator" buttons by Chief Hammel of the Kansas City Police Department, appointee of the Major Police Board there, caused much comment. The Governor denied he had authorized the distribution of the buttons, but made no effort to stop his appointees from passing them out. The Governor never has made formal announcement of his candidacy, but politicians are almost a unit in believing that he is a candidate.

Entombed Miner's Body Found.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Nov. 3.—The body of Frank Morgan, foreman in the Ford Collieries Co. mine in Curtisville, who with two other men was entombed by a fall of slate, was recovered late yesterday after every available miner in the district had worked for more than 24 hours in an effort to reach him. The other entombed men dug their way to liberty.

DINNER PLANNED FOR F. P. WALSH IN SCHOOL OPPOSED

Labor Forum in New York to Entertain Industrial Relations Commission Chairman.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Difference of opinion as to the propriety of permitting the Labor Forum to use the assembly room in the Washington Irving High School in which to give a dinner next Saturday night, for Frank P. Walsh of Kansas City, chairman of the Federal Commission on Industrial Relations, threatens to upset plans of the Labor Center Organization Committee.

Permission to give the dinner in the school was granted last Friday by the Committee on the Care of Public Buildings, of which Frank P. Cunnion is chairman. Yesterday Cunnion and his committee were criticised by persons who believe that the public schools are not intended to be centers of exploitation for such theories as Walsh advocates.

The reason for believing that the dinner would be the occasion for exploitation of Walsh's ideas was found in a circular letter sent out by Carl Back, acting secretary of the Labor Forum, from the headquarters in the Union Square Hotel. The letter said:

"It has been suggested that 'fellow spirits' with the fearless crusader for social justice welcome him in a way most fitting and effective.

"Six hundred recently banqueted the Tory, Elihu Root, at the Hotel Astor. Not the same 600 would banquet Walsh. It is, therefore, all the more important and proper that Frank P. Walsh and the cause of social justice which we serve be fittingly honored, not in the Hotel Astor, but in the most democratic place in the world—the American public school building.

"In order to blaze forth the cause of social justice, there could be no more fitting combination than a free Walsh and an assembly of free people in a free American schoolhouse.

"We invite all true lovers of social justice to meet with the chairman of the Federal Commission on Industrial Relations in the 'house of the people,' Saturday, Nov. 6, at 6:30 p. m."

When the circular letter was shown to Thomas W. Churchill, president of the Board of Education, he said:

"I did not know that the use of the Washington Irving High School had been granted for a dinner to anyone. I shall find out if the granting of such a privilege is usurpation of privilege."

SOCIETY

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM A. BLODGETT of the Cathedral Apartments are planning several entertainments in honor of their debutante daughter, Miss Dorothy Blodgett. On the afternoon of Nov. 20 they will give a tea from 5 to 7 o'clock to introduce her and the guests will include both belles and beaux. Miss Fanny Todd Clark's card will be inclosed in the invitations. They will have a table for 12 guests at the St. Louis Club dinner dance tomorrow evening, in honor of their daughter, and they are arranging a party for the Society Movies at the Victoria Theater for one of the two performances, Nov. 19 or 20.

Mrs. Marceline Randolph Reyburn and Charles Fletcher Sparks of Alton, Ill., were married at noon today at the home of the bride by the Rev. Benjamin T. Kemerer, vicar of St. George's Episcopal Chapel.

About 20 persons, all members of the immediate families, witnessed the ceremony.

The bride's sister, Mrs. S. Miller Williams of Fort Smith, Ark., and her daughter, Miss Nan Randolph Williams, came for the wedding.

Mr. Sparks and his bride departed this afternoon on "The Loiterer V.," Sparks' motor launch, for New Orleans. From there they will cruise along the Florida coast. They will be away until late in the winter, and upon their return they will reside at the bride's residence, 4529 Lindell boulevard.

The bride is the widow of the late Judge Valle Reyburn. She is prominent socially and is a member of the New Orleans branch of the Randolph family of Virginia.

The marriage of Miss Daisy Ewing, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Alexander Ewing of Huston, Tex., to Tom Randolph Jr., late of St. Louis, will be celebrated in Houston this evening. The bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Randolph of 7 Kingsbury place, have gone to Houston for the wedding.

On their way home to Houston from their wedding trip, Mr. Randolph and his bride will stop for a visit in St. Louis.

The bridegroom's mother went to Houston about two weeks ago to help him to furnish a home for his bride.

Announcement was made yesterday afternoon of the engagement of Miss Jane Wells, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rolla Wells of 4228 Lindell boulevard, to Thomas Smith of St. Louis.

The news was first told to a dozen of Miss Wells' friends at a luncheon which she gave and was later formally announced at a small tea which Miss Ann Potter gave in her honor.

Miss Wells is a belle of two seasons and is a member of a small group of girls who are in the innermost circle of the fashionable set.

She was educated here and at Dobbs' Ferry.

Try the "Vap-O-Rub" Treatment—Relieves by Inhalation and Absorption. No Stomach Dosing.

No need to disturb your stomach with internal medicines for these troubles. Vick's "Vap-O-Rub" Salve, combines by a special process—Menthol, Thymol, Eucalyptol, Camphor and Pine Tar, so that when applied to the heat of the body, these ingredients are released in the form of vapors. These soothing, medicated vapors are inhaled all night long through the air passages to the lungs, loosening the phlegm, soothing the inflamed membrane, and aiding the body cells to drive out the invading germs.

In addition, Vick's is absorbed through the pores, reducing the inflammation and taking out that tightness and soreness. 25c, 50c, or $1.00. At all druggists.—ADV.

St. Louis Woman Suffers 15 Years

Mrs. Rosa Bennett Escapes Operation After Taking Wonderful Remedy.

Mrs. Rosa B. Bennett of 2606B Olive Street, St. Louis, Mo., was ill with stomach troubles for nearly fifteen years. She had a great deal of medical attention and took many treatments. She was advised to undergo an operation by one specialist.

Instead she took Mayr's Wonderful remedy and found swift relief. She wrote:

"I was a sufferer for about fifteen years and I tried everything. I doctored with different doctors and each one would give my trouble a different name. One said that I would never be any better until I was operated, on and another one said I had ulcers of the stomach. I could get no relief.

"I took Mayr's Wonderful Remedy. "Now I can't praise your medicine enough."

Mayr's Wonderful Remedy gives permanent results for stomach, liver and intestinal ailments. Eat as much and whatever you like. No more distress after eating, pressure of gas in the stomach and around the heart. Get one bottle of your druggist now and try it on an absolute guarantee—if not satisfactory money will be returned.—ADV.

PREACHER IN REVOLVER FIGHT

Remark About Attending Church Fatal to Two Arkansans.

DUMBECK, Ark., Nov. 2.—Jess Washington was killed, the Rev. Albert Clinger, a Presbyterian minister, fatally wounded, and Dale Marshall badly wounded early today in a fight which resulted from a remark of the preacher that a man who did not attend church services was no better than an infidel.

Marshall opened the shooting. The first shot struck the preacher and then he began firing a revolver.

CONVICT TELLS OF TORTURES IN PELLAGRA TEST

Man Who Lived on Unbalanced Diet Says He Suffered "Thousand Hells."

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 2.—"I have been through a thousand hells," sobbed a thin, gaunt man with glassy eyes and skin like parchment as he staggered into a New Orleans hotel yesterday.

"I am W. H. English, one of the 12 convicts released yesterday from the Mississippi Penitentiary for risking their lives to prove that an unbalanced diet caused pellagra," he explained to a Post-Dispatch correspondent.

Later in the day English consented to write his own story of Dr. Goldberger's test which shows that pellagra is non-communicable and is caused by an unbalanced diet such as is common among the poorer people in the South. The story as written for the Post-Dispatch by him follows:

By W. H. ENGLISH.

I was a life term convict, so when Gov. Brewer and Dr. Goldberger offered freedom to anyone who would live on a prescribed diet for nine months even though it meant contracting pellagra and probably death, I gladly consented to make the test. Freedom is mighty sweet, and I was willing to face death to secure it. But I believe I have paid in full for my crime. Nine months of torture, just think of it! Several of us tried suicide during the last few months but we were watched night and day; at any time I would have gladly welcomed a bullet, but our guards only laughed when we attempted to escape. They knew we could not break out and in our weakened condition could not have gone far if we had secured our freedom.

I have read various newspapers telling about Dr. Goldberger's discovery, the triumph of medicine, but not one word have I read of the poor wretches who have been tortured for 370 days. At least two of the pellagra squad made formal applications to the Penitentiary Board to be sent back to the walls and to be allowed to serve their life terms in preference to the suffering they underwent. These two were Guy R. James and D. W. Pitts.

Five weeks ago six of us fainted one day and had to be put to bed.

To think of eating the same kind of food for nine months. Our rations three times a day for this period was: Collards, hominy, cornbread, fried mush and coffee. This is the food used by the poorer classes down here and they are the ones who contract pellagra.

We were promised turnips and cabbage a few times a week when we made the agreement to face death by the scourge, but in July those who were making the experiment decided we were holding our own to an extent and these vegetables were eliminated.

For the first few months I felt only lazy and stupid. Along about July I began to lose weight. At that time I tipped the scales at 167 pounds; now I weigh 118 pounds. After the first three months I never had a good night's sleep. It was more of a stupor accompanied by unnatural parching of the skin and occasional sweats. I finally got so all I wanted to do was to stretch out on my back and think of milk and fresh velegtables. I thought of the time when I was a child and was eating one of my mother's good dinners. My visions were all of fresh food. I got so weak in the last few weeks that I wouldn't hardly move. The constant diet put before me almost brought on nausea. My skin became saffron and felt like it was going to crack. We were told to play cards and exercise, but did not have the ambition to do it. When Gov. Brewer pardoned us yesterday he told us we could remain in the penitentiary and be cured by the balanced diet treatment.

One might think this invitation would be accepted by some, but not even one of the 11 accepted the invitation. The twelfth broke down two months ago and was sent home.

We all just wanted to get away from the scene of our torture. The first thing I did was to drink a quart of cool milk, and then I filled up on vegetables and pie. Dr. Goldberger told us how to cure ourselves and I am certainly trying to do it. He said to eat fresh meat, eggs, milk, peas, beans and other vegetables, and you bet I am going to do as he says. I must go to bed now, as I feel faint and want to be strong enough to start for California tomorrow.

TRICK FOOLS SALOON ROBBER

He Flees When Customer Enters and Shouts That He Is Under Arrest.

Philip Steger was behind the bar in his saloon at 511 North Twelfth street and his brother, Louis Steger, was in front of it when a young man entered and ordered a drink of whisky at 10:30 o'clock last night. After taking his drink the stranger drew a revolver and ordered the brothers to hold up their hands. They obeyed.

As the robber started for the back of the bar, R. E. Rehwatch of Racine, Wis., came into the saloon. Comprehending the situation, he stepped behind a telephone booth made a motion as if to draw a weapon and shouted to the robber that he was under arrest. The robber fled.

LINDELL Washington Av. and Sixteenth St. LINDELL

$100,000 Worth of Cotton Burned.

EVERYONE SHOULD DRINK HOT WATER BEFORE BREAKFAST

Wash away all the stomach, liver and bowel poisons before putting more food into stomach.

To feel your best day in and day out, to feel clean inside; no bile to coat your tongue and sicken your breath or dull your head; no constipation, bilious attacks, sick headache, colds, rheumatism or gassy, acid stomach, you must bathe on the inside like you bathe outside. This is vastly more important because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, while the bowel pores do, says a well-known physician.

To keep these poisons and toxins well flushed from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, drink before breakfast each day, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. This will cleanse, purify and freshen the entire alimentary tract, before putting more food into the stomach.

Get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from your pharmacist. It is inexpensive and almost tasteless, except a sourish twinge which is not unpleasant. Drink phosphated hot water every morning to rid your system of these vile poisons and toxins; also to prevent their formation.

To feel like young folks feel; like you felt before your blood, nerves and muscles became saturated with an accumulation of body poisons, begin this treatment and above all, keep it up! As soap and hot water act on the skin, cleansing, sweetening and purifying, so limestone phosphate and hot water before breakfast act on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels.—ADV.

BURNING ITCHING ECZEMA ON HAND

Kept Getting Worse. Could Not Put Hand in Water for Six Months. In Three Weeks

HEALED BY CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

"I had a breaking out on my hand last fall and I tried everything that I could think of, but it kept getting worse. It was called eczema. I was given a salve which healed it for a while but it broke out again. Just one pimple broke out on my hand first and it itched and burned so badly I could hardly stand it. I could not put my hands in water for about six months. I was doing my work with one hand all this time.

"I read an advertisement of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and I decided to give them a trial. The Cuticura Soap and Ointment healed it in three weeks." (Signed) Miss Alma Creed, R. F. D. No. 3, Walnut Grove, Miss., Jan. 20, 1915.

ROACH REFUSES TO GIVE WABASH A STATE LICENSE

Holds That the Statutes Require Railroad to Be Incorporated in Missouri.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 3.—Secretary of State Roach today refused to issue a license to the Wabash Railway Co. to operate in Missouri. He sent back to the railroad its check for $19,655.17, which was the required license fee on its capitalization.

In a letter to J. L. Minnis, general solicitor for the Wabash, Secretary Roach quoted a Missouri law, passed in 1913, which provides that no corporation, except one incorporated and chartered under Missouri laws, shall be authorized or permitted to carry passengers or freight from one point in the State to another. He also quoted a section of the law which provides that no corporation can be licensed in Missouri unless it could be incorporated in Missouri.

The Wabash, before the recent receivership, was a Missouri corporation, but in the reorganization it was incorporated last month in Indiana under a law which permits railroad companies to go into the business of buying and selling railroads, and which outlines the manner in which such sales shall be confirmed.

Secretary Roach says there is no similar law in Missouri, and that the Wabash could not be incorporated, under that plan, in this State. For this reason, he says, he cannot issue a license.

Secretary Roach advised Minnis that he would be glad to co-operate with him to have the matter speedily presented to the proper court for settlement. At Jefferson City it was pointed out that, as an Indiana corporation, the Wabash stock and bond issue would not be under the supervision of a Public Service Commission, as it would be if incorporated in Missouri.

President Kearney Says Railroad Will Continue to Operate in State.

Edward F. Kearney, president of the Wabash, told a Post-Dispatch reporter today that all he could say was that the State of Missouri "was out" $19,665 and that he would be glad to get back the railroad's check for that sum. The Wabash, he declared, would continue to be operated in Missouri under constitutional rights. Failure to operate trains, he said, would subject the railroad to litigation.

Kearney would not say whether the Wabash was incorporated in Indiana to escape supervision of bond and stock issues by a Public Service Commission. He said no bonds would be issued for years, and that when they were issued, the bond issue probably would be submitted to the Missouri Public Service Commission for approval. Stock, he said, is now being issued, but he does not believe the Missouri commission has supervision over stock issues.

CASE OF AMERICAN SHIP SEIZED BY BRITISH MAY BE ARBITRATED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—Settlement through arbitration of the case of the American steamship Hocking, seized by a British cruiser off the Atlantic coast, is forecast as a result of the new issue which has arisen between the United States and the entente allies over the question of the method of determining the nationality of merchant ships.

The seizure of the Hocking is the first since the British Government's change of policy conformable to the French rule that a vessel's nationality is determined by ownership and not by flag. This position is widely at variance with that of the United States. The British Government, it is understood, will contend that the Hocking was purchased with German money.

It is considered likely here that the British Government will resort to prize court proceedings. The United States probably will not object to such a step.

SHH! LADIES! SECRET TO DARKEN YOUR FADED GRAY HAIR—USE SAGE TEA

Sage Tea Mixed with Sulphur Restores Natural Color and Lustre to Hair—Just Comb or Brush it in the Hair.

Why suffer the handicap of looking old. Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance.

Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks dry, wispy and scraggly, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Either prepare the tonic at home or get from any drug store a 50-cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," ready to use; but listen avoid preparations put up by druggists, as they usually use too much sulphur, which makes the hair sticky. Get "Wyeth's" which can always be depended upon to darken beautifully and is the best thing known to remove dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair.

By using Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair. It does it so naturally and evenly — you moisten a sponge or soft brush, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time which requires but a few moments. Do this at night and by morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two its natural color is restored and it becomes glossy and lustrous and you appear years younger —ADV.

BRITISH WORKERS ON WAR MATERIAL, WHO SHIRK, FINED

Member of Firm Declares Loss in 20 Weeks Has Been 1,500,000 Hours.

LONDON, Nov. 3.—More than 1,500,000 "lost hours" are charged against the record, in the last 20 weeks, of the men employed on war orders in the plant of Cammell, Laird & Co., at Birkenhead, as appears from evidence taken in the Liverpool Munitions Court. The accusations were made by J. W. P. Laird, a member of the firm, against platers, drillers, smiths and electricians.

He said that for 20 weeks the average daily number of men employed was 10,349, and that on an average 1552 lost a quarter of a day and 1090 lost the whole day. The loss of working hours on ordinary working days was 1,500,000. This represented a full week's work for 300,000 men. The "lost hours" were equivalent to a complete shutting down of the whole establishment for three working weeks.

Appeals from the Ministers of the Crown, from the trade union officials and from the firm, Laird said, had produced no effect on the employes.

The Court fined the 69 workmen specifically accused in sums ranging from 5 to 50 shillings. A workman who had been found asleep was fined 60 shillings.

Angry comments were made by several of those who were fined.

ST. LOUIS CAR SHOPS HAVE CHANCE FOR BIG WAR CONTRACT

Experimenting in Manufacture of Shells to Be Used by Allies.

Experiments to determine whether steel shells to be used by the allies can be turned out in the shops of the St. Louis Car Co., 8000 North Broadway, are being made preparatory to the acceptance or refusal of a large war order offered the company, according to Edward B. Meissner, assistant to the president of the company.

The company, Meissner said, has been forging auto parts for the allies and was recently offered contracts for shells if they can be made here. The experiments have been in progress several days.

A report from a Canadian press association to the effect that the St. Louis Car Co. had purchased the patent rights to a newly invented machine gun and had a $300,000,000 contract to supply the allies with them, was denied by Meissner as ridiculous.

DRYER DRY LAWS PROPOSED

Georgia Legislature Also May Act a Cotton Warehouse System.

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 3.—The Georgia Legislature called in special session today by Gov. Harris, had before it six subjects, chief of which were appropriation bills and bills to meet more stringent State prohibition laws. Prohibition elements in the Legislature apparently are divided over the form prohibition enforcement should take. Two bills have been prepared, one, it was said, provides that no person may receive from outside the State more than a half gallon of whiskey a month.

The Governor's call also included: Creation of a committee to take charge of leasing the Western and Atlantic Railroad, a State-owned line, and creation of a State cotton warehouse system.

TAKEN ILL ON CAR, SOON DIES

George Alles, 53 years old, of 2851 South Eighteenth street, became ill on a Union car while on his way to work at the Wrought Iron Range Co.'s plant, Clara and Natural Bridge avenues, this morning. He was assisted from the car and taken into a saloon at 5615 Natural Bridge avenue, where he died after dropping into a chair.

A physician who examined him expressed opinion that death was due to natural causes. Fred Alles, a son, told the police that his father had been taking medicine for rheumatism.

Browning Estate Worth $1,050,000.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—John Hull Browning, one senior member of the clothing house of Browning, King & Co. and former president of the Northern Railroad of New Jersey, left a net estate of $1,050,000, according to appraisal just filed. John Hull Browning Jr., a son, receives a life income from $300,000; several nieces and nephews have a contingent interest in $50,000, and the widow, Mrs. Eva Browning of Tenafly, N. J., receives the residuary estate.

OLD MAN ROBBED OF $10,000 IN CITY BONDS BY TRICK

Henry Jost, 70, Persuaded to Place Securities in Box With "$1000" of Swindler.

When Henry Jost, 70 years old, a retired shoemaker living alone in two small rooms at 1216 Clinton street, went to the North Market Street Police Station yesterday afternoon and told of having been robbed of $10,000 worth of city bonds by confidence men, his story seemed so improbable that he was sent to the city hospital for observation as to his mental condition.

Several hours later, when investigation showed reason for believing his story might be true, his release from the hospital was ordered by Police Captain Hanna and detectives were assigned to the case.

Jost said that about three weeks ago a man engaged him in conversation in Jackson Park, at Eleventh and North Market streets. They met several times and the stranger talked about the value of real estate as an investment. Jost differed with him and told him he had his money invested in $10,000 worth of city bonds. After this, he said, the stranger called on him at his home and they had long talks.

Second Stranger Appears.

About a week ago, Jost said, a second stranger appeared at his home. He introduced himself as a wealthy West End man and said he had $35,000 which he meant to distribute among the poor of St. Louis. He wanted Jost's advice as to the distribution of a part of the fund in his neighborhood, and he also hinted that he would give some of the money to Jost, as he understood he was a poor man.

Jost resented this imputation. He told the stranger he was not poor, as he had $10,000 worth of city bonds in the safe deposit vaults of the St. Louis Union Trust Co. The stranger smiled and said the bonds must be worthless. Thus challenged, Jost said he would get the bonds from the safe deposit box and show them to his visitor.

Last Thursday was the day set for the demonstration. On that day the man whom Jost had first met in the park dropped in at his home for a visit. He was there when the second stranger arrived. They did not appear to know each other. Jost exhibited his bonds. The "wealthy West Ender" was convinced. He handed $25 to Jost, telling him to distribute it among the poor in the neighborhood. He then departed.

Jost's Strange Sleep.

Jost told the police that he divided the $25 with the first stranger, who advised him to be careful in his dealings with "that other man." He said he was suspicious of the wealthy dispenser of charity and advised Jost to put his bonds in a tin box. He went out, saying he would get a box. About an hour later he returned with a tin box and a long envelope, which, he said, contained $1000 of his own money. He suggested that they keep the money and the bonds together in the box and that he hold the key while Jost retained possession of the box.

Right here came the part of Jost's story which caused the police to send him to the observation ward. He said that after placing the bonds and envelope in the box and handing the key to the stranger, he lay down on a couch and went to sleep while the stranger was still there.

When he awoke the stranger was still on guard, apparently keeping a close watch on the box. After a few minutes the stranger departed, saying he was going on a business trip to Washington, Mo., and again warning Jost to beware of the "philanthropist."

Opens the Box, Bonds Gone.

Yesterday Jost told the story of the tin box arrangement to Morris Vittert of 1508 North Eleventh street, a newspaper carrier. Vittert suggested that Jost break open the box. Jost did so. The bonds were gone and the envelope, supposed to have the stranger's $1000 in it, was found to contain only strips of blank paper and a pair of old socks.

The police began to take Jost's story seriously when they learned from City Treasurer Menne that bonds of the numbers given by Jost had been issued by the city and when they found that Jost had a safe deposit box at the St. Louis Union Trust Co.

The bonds described by Jost are numbered 21, 22, 535, 803, 804, 805, 206, 714, 715 and 716. They mature Dec. 28 next and are negotiable.

HUSBAND'S POKER PLAYING BROKE UP HOME, WIFE SAYS

Mrs. C. P. Hoy Testifies in Divorce Trial That He Wrecked Health and Is Only $3 Ahead After Seven Years.

Seven years of regular poker playing, leading to drinking which wrecked her husband's health, caused all the domestic troubles of Mrs. Katherine Hoy, whose suit to divorce Charles P. Hoy, traveling freight agent for the Southern Railway, is on trial in Judge Shields' court, she testified today.

Mrs. Hoy told of the regular weekly meetings at her home of the poker club of which her husband was a member. The club met in their lone room when they were boarding, Mrs. Hoy said, and during that period she and her small son were required to leave her room when the club met.

Mrs. Hoy was asked by Henry Kortjohn Jr., Hoy's attorney, if her husband had not kept accounts of his winnings and losses, which showed that he had won $3 during the seven years the poker club existed. She admitted that was the total of his cash gains.

Recommends Ideal Remedy for Nursing Mothers

Compound of Simple Laxative Herbs Safe for Baby and Mother.

Constipation is a condition that affects the old, young and middle-aged, and most people at one time or another need help in regulating the action of the bowels. Harsh cathartics and purgatives should not be employed to relieve constipation as their effect is only temporary while they shock the system unnecessarily.

A remedy that can be used with perfect safety for the tiniest babe and that is equally effective for the strongest constitution is found in the combination of simple laxative herbs known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and sold in drug stores everywhere for fifty cents a bottle. This is an ideal household remedy and should be in every family medicine chest.

EVELYN BARSOLOW

Mrs. F. I. Barsolow, 18 Leslie Ct. Holyoke, Mass., wrote to Dr. Caldwell, "Syrup Pepsin certainly is fine. I gave it to my baby, Evelyn, and also took it myself. It is the only medicine I have been able to take without affecting Baby in the nursing. I have used it for all four children and it is fine; they like it and ask for it."

A trial bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can be obtained, free of charge, by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 454 Washington St., Monticello, Ill.

MARRIES 3 WEEKS AFTER FIRST WIFE KILLED HERSELF

Edwin A. Goodwin Weds Waitress Former Wife Named in Divorce Suit.

It became known today that Edwin A. Goodwin, a prosperous East St. Louis horse dealer, was married Aug. 5 at Belleville to Miss Harriet Herzog, a former waitress at the National Hotel, National Stock Yards, who was named by Mrs. Mattie S. Goodwin, the man's first wife, in obtaining a divorce from him. Goodwin married Miss Herzog 21 days after the former Mrs. Goodwin killed herself at the Illmo Hotel, East St. Louis, because Goodwin failed to keep an appointment with her.

Goodwin gives his age as 43. Miss Herzog is 19. They are living at the Laclede Hotel.

The troubles of Goodwin and his first wife became known first on Nov. 17, last year, when Mrs. Goodwin attacked Miss Herzog in a theater in East St. Louis. Then she sued for divorce, naming Miss Herzog.

After the divorce Mrs. Goodwin came to St. Louis and lived at the Beers Hotel. On July 15, in seeking a reconciliation, she made an appointment with Goodwin to call on her at the hotel. He was not on time and she went to the Illmo Hotel, East St. Louis. After writing a note to him she swallowed carbolic acid and died 10 minutes later. Goodwin arrived at the hotel when she was dying.

"Beggar" Steals Man's Watch.

James F. Cluster, 1619 Missouri avenue, was accosted by a beggar at Seventh and Pine streets, about 3 o'clock this morning, who asked him for the price of a meal. Cluster replied that he had no money to spare and the beggar snatched his watch from his pocket and ran.

PAPYRUS CLUB IS 'AT HOME' TO 'PATIENCE WORTH'

Mrs. Curran Talks on Writings Said to Have Been Transcribed From Ouija Board.

At the fiftieth meeting of the Papyrus Club, in the American Annex banquet hall, last night, Mrs. John H. Curran of 1359 Union boulevard made her first public talk on the "Patience Worth" writings. These writings, 300,000 words in all, have been transcribed from a ouija board used by Mrs. Curran, and have aroused interest among students of the occult, as well as persons interested in literature.

The ouija board, which in the past has been used chiefly in spiritualistic tests, has a moving pointer, which indicates letters of the alphabet. The pointer moves only when two persons rest their hands upon the framework.

In the use of the board at the Curran home, Mrs. Curran is always one of the two whose hands are on the board. Her husband transcribes the messages as she spells out the words which the rapidly moving pencil indicates.

The "Patience Worth" matter began to be transcribed, from these experiments, in June, 1913. Since that time Mrs. Curran has made public, as the products of "Patience Worth," a six-act play entitled "Red Wing," a novel called "Telka," and numerous verses, essays and bits of philosophy.

Writings in Quaint Language.

The quaint language of these writings has probably attracted more attention than their literary merit, the latter being a matter of some discussion. They are in an antique English, not the English of Chaucer, Spenser or any other well-known classic English writer, but possibly more like the common speech of the English people of an early day.

It is known to travelers that an antique, almost archaic, form of English is still spoken in remote communities of England. There are districts of England whose inhabitants have great difficulty in understanding, or in making themselves understood by the London coster-cockney class.

Mrs. Curran, however, says she has no personal acquaintance with such speech, and that she has not gone farther in her study of classic English than most well-read persons. The language used by "Patience Worth," she says, is as strange to her as to others.

Sample of Weird Talk.

A sample of this weird talk is the message which Mrs. Curran gave to the Papyrus Club, as having been received by her last Saturday night, through the ouija board, in response to a request for a greeting to the club. It was as follows:

Good Dames and Sirrahs—At the board thou hast sat and eat of earth's grow. Aye, and now do ye eat o' the grow thou knowest not the rooting place of. Yea, thou shalt hark unto the word o' MEN, and yet they do to prate o' DAME. Ayes, and methinks 'tis a word aspoke amany, that be not the word that hid 'pon the tung, lest the Dame be offended!

Aye, then come thou and sit 'bout the board, and thine ears shall hark unto the words o' me, and thou shalt see the cloth o' me the Lands o' the loves o' me did to fashion out for me. Ayea, I then shall sit me meek, and threac me up a bobbins full for the next o' put.

Ayea, and 'tis frocked that I shall to be, and nay dame shall see! Awoe! Nay, this be a piddle-putting, good folk!

Athin (within) thy heart shall set the me o' me at thy go ahence. And 'tis ahope I be 'tis a loving warmpth 'twill find. And so dost thou to smile, 'tis sweets and love I cast thee. And doth thy heart to shut it up, lo, then shall I to knock till thou dost leave me in.

A night o' cheer. A heart o' love! A God's wish o' loving 'pon thy day. Anight! Anight!

Reedy Is Convinced.

Casper S. Yost, editor of the editorial page of the Globe-Democrat, who has been interested in "Patience Worth" for some time and has written several articles about the matter, spoke last night, as did William Marion Reedy, editor of the Mirror, who declared his belief that it was a genuine spirit manifestation. He suggested that "Patience Worth" was a Colonial wife, who had stood beside her husband, loading his gun as he fought the Indians, and who was perhaps killed by savages.

Mrs. Curran, in her talk before the club, told of her first experiments with the ouija board, made from curiosity, and resulting in some puzzling messages. Later, she said, using the board together with Mrs. Emily Grant Hutchings, she began to receive sentences which formed maxims and philosophical paragraphs. Then, she said, came the announcement:

"Many moons ago I lived. Again I come, Patience Worth, my name. If thou shalt live, then so shall I. I make my bread by thy hearth."

The word "bread," Mrs. Curran said she later learned, referred to the literary product embodied in the messages. Mrs. Curran said she would not attempt to say whether "Patience Worth" was a spirit, but she spoke of her as a beautiful personality, which had come to seem not a mystery, but a fellowship.

No Trance With Messages.

She said the messages of "Patience Worth" come to her in daylight as well as at night, and that there is no trance. "The words come in a sort of rhythm," she said, "and I record just what comes, whether I understand it or not." Mrs. Curran said nearly 200 persons, at different times, had aided her by the placing of their hands on the board, and that the character of the messages had not varied.

Mr. and Mrs. Curran are planning a visit to Eastern cities, and they will stop at Bloomington, Ind., the seat of the University of Indiana, where they will visit a professor who lately came here to look into the "Patience Worth" matter. They will probably see interested persons in New York and Boston, though they say they are not going for the purpose of exploiting "Patience Worth," but for a vacation. Some of the connected writings of "Patience Worth," it was lately announced, are in the hands of a New York publisher.

Business is booming!

Dayton, Ohio.

Merchants everywhere tell our 800 salesmen that business is booming.

Farmers have had two record crops, at big prices, with big demand at home and abroad.

Stocks of manufactured material are short, and labor is in great demand.

Exports largely exceed imports.

Factories are busy, many working overtime.

More freight cars are needed, and steamers are taxed to capacity.

People are living better, and spending their money more freely.

This country has the best money in the world, and more of it than ever before.

Such a combination of favorable circumstances never has occurred before, and probably will never occur again.

Billions of dollars are passing over the merchants' counters.

The people who spend this money want the best service.

They demand it in all kinds of stores, from the smallest to the largest.

They get it in stores which use our up-to-date Cash Registers, which quicken service, stop mistakes, satisfy customers, and increase profits.

Over a million merchants have proved our Cash Registers to be a business necessity.

THE POST-DISPATCH PLATFORM.

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles, that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news, always be drastically independent, never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

Boat Races on the River.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I have read with interest several contributions by your readers in respect to the recent river carnival which was postponed, due to a rather high wind, resulting in a choppy river. This condition, it was contended, was dangerous to navigation. Whether it rendered the venturing out of small boats hazardous or otherwise is not the point that I wish to bring to your attention, though I had two boats entered and did not feel the slightest hesitancy in racing because of the unfavorable condition of the water.

I think the greatest mistake was selecting a course between the Eads and Free bridges for this event. I am confident all river men will agree that in this section is to be found the roughest water in the vicinity of St. Louis. This condition is probably due to the fact that the water is greatly disturbed by the distortion of the natural channel by the East Side levee and the piers of four bridges.

I had quite a few friends who, unfortunately, attended this carnival, and the little there was to be seen they did not have the pleasure of seeing, due to the fact that the levee at this point is lined with packets and barges and consequently they could see nothing and were very much disappointed.

In my opinion the location for a civic event of this character is a course south from the city workhouse to Jefferson Barracks. This would eliminate a great number of turns and would result in the racing boats being in view of the spectators during practically the entire race. The committee could undoubtedly arrange with the Century Boat Club, the Western Rowing Club and the Altenheim to throw their grounds open to the public on this occasion, and then an unobstructed view of the races could be had. There are also other excellent vantage points: The Riverside Park (a city park), the Carondelet Boat Club, the Century and Western Rowing Club boat houses, and a stretch of bluffs that would make an ideal vantage point for thousands of interested citizens and water sport lovers.

I sincerely trust that the committee that has charge of the races next year will give this location favorable consideration, and I am sure that if they will do this, the public will be pleased with the event, and the racing boats will find conditions decidedly more favorable.

AQUAMANIAC.

"Charity Begins at Home."

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

It seems to me a terrible indictment of the civic spirit of our city that money can be so easily had for anything but our own sufferers. Hundreds of our own are daily going down to spiritual and even physical death for lack of a small part of the thousands of dollars collected for war sufferers and foreign missions abroad and conventions and such like at home.

Ruskin says: "Until every human has all the necessities, no human has a right to the luxuries." Surely sending help abroad, while our own need it, is something of a luxury."

CIVICS AND HUMANITY.

As to Censorship.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Permit me to commend most heartily your splendid editorial on the question of censorship generally in the Nov. 1 issue of the paper. Your citation of Mayor Gaynor's views on the censorship question was most appropriate, and I am persuaded that the people of this city can do no better than to hearken to the suggestions laid down by that splendid executive in his views on that subject while Mayor of New York City.

I believe that the good sense and high moral character of the people may be depended upon to satisfactorily regulate the picture theater performances in this city, without introducing any legislation which may be made use of by fanatics and bigots to curtail the liberties of the people in ways that were not originally intended by such measures of legislation. C. P. FRANCIS.

Broad Spirit of Humanity.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

The human note that rings through the contribution of the Societe Francaise de Saint Louis to the War Relief Bazar, just closed, deserves more than passing notice.

If Americanism means brotherhood, no other donation made to the bazar interprets this so fully, and our French-born citizens have given those of other birth and descent a most touching and beautiful picture of it, not only American, but world-wide humanity.

Think of what a city we would build if all our people were animated by this spirit.

Hats off to President Mechin and his Societe Francais de Saint Louis. Yours for greater co-operation. J. H. GUNDLACH.

PUBLICITY FOR PUBLIC RECORDS.

Free access to the public records of the State at Jefferson City is an issue not to be ignored or subordinated until settled as the people want it settled.

That the Statehouse ring has something to conceal is of course plain from these repeated refusals to permit citizens and taxpayers to know how the books stand at particular times. The latest display of arrogance was over the Nov. 1 treasury statement. Interest in knowing just how the different funds are enduring the strain of salaried relatives, raids to postpone the evil day of deficits and general extravagance is naturally universal, but the ring has reasons of its own for withholding the information until it may suit its pleasure.

It is not so strange that the job-holders who have persistently exploited other assets and resources of the State for their own financial and political benefit should look upon even the records of public transactions as their own property, to be shown with reluctance or only after delay or under such conditions as may arbitrarily be prescribed or refused altogether.

It is the futility of the thing that amazes. Permanent secrecy is impossible. Everything will come out some day. A court order would fetch the information at once if anyone wished to take the trouble of enforcing his right.

Information must be made available when the public wants it, not when officials interested in concealment want it. These insolent servants of the people should be shown their place. Publicity at all times for all public records must be made the rule.

GAINS IN FLANDERS.

The Germans have not gained a foot of ground in France and Flanders since April—Premier Asquith to Parliament.

But how many feet have the British gained as a result of six months of fighting that has cost in this particular locality a billion in money and thousands of lives?

A SCORCHER SCORCHED.

It will be safer from now on for passengers to board or alight from street cars in St. Louis, an automobile driver who ran down and killed a woman passenger on her way from a street car to the sidewalk having been given a year in the workhouse.

It is a light penalty for such reckless disregard of human life, with such a dreadful result. But it should serve as a warning. Carelessness cannot well be charged against passengers who are merely getting to or from cars at points where they have the right of way. And it is time all vehicle drivers knew of the ordinance on this matter. A few more such examples would undoubtedly tend to lower the shocking record of preventable automobile accidents.

BY ALL MEANS FLUFFY RUFFLES.

In our opinion they were a poor lot of "Don'ts" which the Woman's Political Union (presumably constituted of women) issued to the women watchers at the polls on the eve of Tuesday's election. They included "Don't wear fluffy ruffles," "Don't bubble with exuberance," "Don't ask the inspectors to sharpen your pencils," "Don't talk," "Be dignified, be serious."

No man would put the ban on her fluffy ruffles, animation, winsomeness, conversation, humor, smiles and charm generally. The popular misconception that the suffragette is lacking in these essentials is hurtful to her cause. Any old politician with horse sense will advise the lady would-be voters to doll themselves up and come to the fray with all their frills and fascinations. Unless they can render feminine politics prepossessing to relieve drab features of a dull election day, they might as well stay at home and send the men out to do the voting, as in the dreary old past.

Maybe if the girls had primped up a little more they would have fared better in yesterday's elections.

If militarism is to be tolerated all the girl babies will have to grow up to be nurses and all the boy babies to be soldiers, sailors and surgeons.

THE FATE OF THE HOCKING.

The seizure of the American ship Hocking by a British cruiser almost in American waters is not the most important act of British impertinence to check the growth of the United States' sea trade, but it is the most irritating. This vessel, purchased from neutral Danish owners, was on a voyage from New York to Norfolk, Va., when she was captured and taken up to Halifax to determine whether she has a right to fly the American flag and whether there are German interests in her ownership.

The Great Lakes have been ruled to be high seas. The stock in the profitable companies operating Great Lakes shipping is widely distributed. Presumably the seizure by Canadian naval reserves of a steamer with wheat from Duluth to Buffalo on the plausible ground of German or German-American ownership in whole or part may next be expected.

Such a seizure would be only a little more offensive than the Hocking outrage.

THE LANDING AT SALONIKI.

How the Asquith address may have points reassuring to England can be easily understood. Too many of its explanations as to past events had been discounted by conjecture and its explanations as to future plans, for instance the abandonment of the Dardanelles campaign, are too vaguely outlined to give it much significance outside of England.

One mystery cleared up in the statement was that the use of Saloniki as a landing place was not a favor to the allies, but a favor to Greece. Mr. Asquith says that Premier Venizelos had asked England and France to throw 150,000 troops into Saloniki on the understanding that Greece herself would mobilize her forces.

The intent of England and France to give powerful help to Servia is made plain enough. That the help was insufficient and belated is not wholly excused by the supposition that Greece was going to fight and that, with her armies the 150,000 would be adequate in the first stages of the invasion. Too much was at stake to put reliance on uncertain Greece.

The theory that the allies' march through Greece to Servia is a transgression paralleling Germany's march through Belgium to France is, however, completely and cruelly destroyed.

THE BUSINESS REVIVAL.

On this page of the Post-Dispatch we print a comprehensive statement of business conditions by the Springfield (Mass.) Republican, a conservative newspaper, which is a reliable authority on business. The article speaks for itself. It shows that the great industries, such as steel and railroad, which deal with other industries, and are therefore accurate indices of general business, are enjoying an unprecedented renewal of profitable activity.

The Eastern railroads cannot handle their traffic. The steel factories cannot supply the demand. The exports from the United States for the month of October reach a total of $400,000,000. Nothing like it has been known in our history and in consequence of it the shipyards are overcrowded with work.

In the local field, to the testimony concerning record-breaking sales in the shoe, dry goods, millinery, hat, hardware and express lines, we added yesterday the testimony of similar conditions in the grocery and agricultural implement business.

Of course, industrial and commercial activities of this kind are reflected in the demand for labor. Labor is more fully employed than at any time since the outbreak of the war. In many lines the demand for labor is greater than for several years. Skilled mechanics command a premium. The manufacturing centers are competing with each other for mechanics and, of course, all grades of labor feel the stimulus of prosperity.

The danger is not now from depression, but overstimulation. The large supply of money is a temptation to speculation and business adventure. But the great mass of increased business is stable. It comes from bountiful production of nature and its manufacture into staple products, the demand for which is continuing.

EAST'S SLOW-MOVING BIG FOUR.

When women themselves are more unanimous on votes for women, full suffrage will be granted in Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and New York, in three of which women now have school suffrage.

In the meantime, against the slow-moving Big Four of the East, may be set off the Big Four of the West, California and Kansas, Illinois and Oregon, besides five smaller states.

THE RAILROADS AND THE MARKETS.

From the Springfield (Mass.) Daily Republican.

The steady advance in the prices of standard railroad shares is closely connected, of course, with the growing prosperity of the railroads themselves. To say that the much improved condition of the railroads is due to the war munitions industries is only half of the truth. The railroads benefitting by munitions traffic are here in the east along the northern Atlantic seaboard. The New Haven Railroad, which has a transportation monopoly in Connecticut, is an example of the profitable effect of such business. The New Haven's gross earnings for the September quarter were the largest in the road's history; and in the first three weeks of October alone the New Haven's gross has been over half a million dollars in excess of the same weeks a year ago. The Boston & Maine also will report for September, probably, the largest net earnings on record, but the Boston & Maine profits by war business much less than the New Haven does.

But the railroads in other sections of the country are showing the same improvement in varying degrees. The Erie's September gross shows a gain of $6 per cent over last year and for nine months its net earnings have increased by about $3,000,000. The Chesapeake & Ohio shows an increase in gross for September of $530,000, and for nine months the earnings were a million dollars in excess of the year before. The New York Central and the Pennsylvania hardly need to be referred to in this connection. The Atchison in the west was prosperous last year, but since July its net earnings have exceeded last year's in the same period by nearly a million dollars. The Southern Pacific has begun gaining heavily in earnings. In the south, too, the revival of business is reflected in the marked expansion of the earnings of the Louisville & Nashville and the Southern. Canadian Pacific, which is always in close touch with American conditions, gained over a million dollars in gross in the third week of October.

The railroad situation should grow steadily better inasmuch as the roads for some time have been operated with severe economy and their financial credit must greatly improve on the basis of such striking gains in net earnings. With larger revenues and better borrowing power, and in this connection it should be noted that money remains very plenty and cheap, in spite of a great expansion in general business—the railroads are again placing large equipment orders. One estimate is that $100,000,000 worth of new equipment has been contracted for by the railroads the past month. Many of them have been out of the railroad supplies market for several years, but the demand for cars, locomotives and increased facilities generally must force them to rehabilitate their physical equipment, and that must bring a still larger business to the iron and steel industry.

With great activity in both the railroad and steel industries, American industrial prosperity cannot be stayed, especially with the harvests very near a maximum production. The condition of the steel industry is phenomenal, in view of its low estate eight or nine months ago. The remarkable earnings of the United States Steel Corporation in the third quarter are already known and the maximum earnings of that concern have by no means been reached. The leading authority, the Iron Age, informs the country that "Despite efforts of the larger steel companies to hold the demand in check, signs of a runaway steel market are increasing. They report orders coming it at such an enormous rate that all of them are being carefully considered before being accepted. On some classes of material it is a question of getting deliveries and not prices. This month will establish new records in the output of iron and steel, but in spite of the huge production the mills are getting further back in deliveries." Congestion in railroad transportation is not alone in stimulating the steel industry. Shipping is so inadequate to take care of our export trade that the demand for steel in shipbuilding is very heavy. But back of these conditions is the fact that for years stocks of all kinds of manufactures in this country were kept low in volume; once a great business boom gets to going it gathers momentum from all sides.

Statistics of railroad earnings, foreign trade, bank clearings, money rates, bank reserves and the like are all one way, and the stock market naturally shows great buoyancy. The forward movement is not seriously checked by foreign exchange, although the declines last week and before were a warning that there will be much difficulty in keeping demand sterling above 4.60, even with large loans and credits established for our customers abroad. Exports are going out at a tremendous rate. Preliminary figures for October indicate a record-breaking total of $400,000,000, with an excess of exports over imports of some $250,000,000.

MORE "MILITARY NECESSITY."

SOCRATES ON BUSINESS.

I AM sorry you young men were not over at the Agora last night to hear us talk about business. You know business is picking up very fast, and the next thing we know in this country times will be piping. Everybody is very much interested in it, and a few thoughtful people are asking how far the war orders we are filling in this country have brought it about. There were a number of these people out last night, and we discussed the matter at length. Everybody agreed that the war orders have a great deal to do with the revival of business, but we were not agreed upon the extent to which they are assisted in the revival by other things. You know my habit is to sum things up after there has been a discussion of this sort, and I did so last night. I said that if we got at the truth we would probably find that while the war orders we are receiving are doing wonders for us, they are not by any means to be given credit for the remarkable improvement in the times. No doubt the great sums of money Europe is spending over here for arms and munitions, to say nothing of the big grain crops for which she is paying us a fancy price, and the supplies of all sorts she is buying, is at the bottom of the revival; but beside these there must be taken into consideration the exhaustion of our domestic supplies by reason of two or more years of very hard times and cautious buying, as well as the way all trade and exchange is being lubricated by the reserve banks.

The trouble with this country is that it expected a too instantaneous result from things which are now making us prosperous. Take the war orders, for instance. They have only just begun moving. It takes time to fill those orders and get the money they bring into circulation. After a year of almost daily advertisement that they were being placed, we have begun to feel the effect and see the money. From this on that factor in our prosperity ought to work wonders. The same thing is quite true of the reserve banks. We wanted them to show results before we had given them time to prove their worth. It is fortunate for the country, perhaps, that the turn in these things has come in an off year politically. Otherwise the party in power would have had to answer for things of which it can later afford to boast, and we should have had another rotation of parties without any good having been accomplished by the change upon which we all decided with such painstaking three years ago.

It is very good to see business itself again. When business isn't itself it is hard for us to be ourselves. The way things look now the President and Mrs. Galt ought to have the merriest kind of a wedding, and there ought to be an era of good feeling with plenty. That was at any rate what I told them last night, and everybody went home feeling tiptop.

Although Henry Ford is against preparedness, the Mexico, (Mo.) Ledger wants to wager that he has fire apparatus all over his plant.

THE OLD FIDDLERS AT GRIPS AGAIN.

IF there be among us any whose faith in the eternal verities has been somewhat shaken by the war in Europe, let him be reassured by the old fiddlers' contest recently held at Hallettsville, Tex. The editor of the New Era, published at Hallettsville, thinks this must have been "the most interesting event ever staged." It was not, of course; the same thing has happened in the same way thousands of times, and if all goes well with the world in future it shall happen many thousand times more. However, let us not philosophize too much. Let us fiddle. There were 400 people packed in the hall when the contest began. E. C. Morgan of Hallettsville was first up. He played "Sally Gooden," "Sweet Girl in Piney Woods," and "Sal Take Your Feet Out of the Mud." Arnold Butts of Ezzell played "The Fisher's Hornpipe," "The Durango Hornpipe," and "Hell Tore Loose." Henry Gerdes of Koerth rendered "Billy in the Low Ground," "Lady's Fancy," and "Jack of Diamonds." Theo. Neumann of Hallettsville played "Dixie" and "two fast pieces he had learned in the old country." Then it was that Jim Chapman of Texas stepped to the box. He first rozined his bow and picked at his strings, and then swung into the immortal strains of "Natchez Under the Hill." This, we are told, is another name for "Turkey in the Straw." At any rate, Jim Chapman of Texas played it in a way to drive Fritz Kreisler back to the Austrian front. All Hallettsville swayed to the measure of that piece de resistance of all old fiddlers' contests. The artist played with his audience as the moon plays with the tide. He lifted it up. He let it down. It slept. It dreamed. It woke. It cheered. He lifted Texas out of the cares of this life into the cool fragrance of another world. There was nothing to it. Jim Chapman of Texas had won. He eased everybody back to earth with "The Devil's Dream," and then wound up his performance with "Cackling Hen." George Anderson of near Yoakum subsequently played "The Arkansas Traveler," "Sallie Johnson" and "Gray Eagle;" but Jim by that time had the money tucked under his vest. There was no telling what would have happened had he, instead of Butts, elected to play "Hell Tore Loose." Texas probably wouldn't have held him.

If Servia is the bad boy of the Balkans, the experience the bad boy is having behind the woodshed just now ought to be good for him.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

As we have no information bureau, it is impossible to answer queries by mail or telephone.

CLEANSING.

R. S. T.—Lay soiled raincoat, which is rubber on the inside and cloth out, on a flat surface and scour with a brush dipped in soap suds. Rinse immediately and wipe with a dry cloth.

CANVAS.—For cleaning canvas shoes, mix a small quantity of oxide of zinc with water to the consistency of thin paste. Apply with an old tooth brush, rubbing in thoroughly and let dry before wearing. Five cents' worth of oxide of zinc from drug store will be sufficient for an indefinite number of cleanings.

LUCY ANN.—Oil stains on concrete floor may be removed with a mixture of 1 pound oxalic acid, dissolved in 3 gallons of water, with enough wheat flour added to make a paste that can be applied with a brush. Allow the application to remain two days, then remove with clear water and scrubbing brush. It may require a second application, if a stubborn case. Another remedy consists of the application of a plaster of pipe clay, mixed with water; make a thick paste, and after it becomes hard remove. Or moisten some pulverized burnt magnesia with benzine and cover the spots with the paste. In either case a second application may be necessary.

HEALTH HINTS.

C.—It is well for sleepers to remove undergarments worn during the day.

M. F.—Goitre is probably caused by improper nutrition, according to an announcement made in the Journal of Experimental Medicine, the official organ of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research. The announcement is based on observations made by Dr. David Marine of Western Reserve University in Cleveland. It had been observed that the disease had occurred in sections of Germany and Switzerland where liver made into sausages is a prominent article of diet. Dr. Marine, who for several years has been making a study of the disease with brook trout, demonstrated that fish fed on liver in hatcheries developed the disease and that a group which was fed with whole sea fish did not contract it. Fish suffering from goitre recovered on a sea diet. Goitre, he declares, is a condition of nutriment disturbance, but he is not at this time prepared to say that the malady in man is produced by the same causes that affect the fish he has studied. If goitre is not very troublesome, care in diet may help you. Eat no meat and keep the bowels open. An operation has been considered best, but goitre may return. A small bag of salt, dampened and kept on the throat is said to have cured some cases of goitre. Often successfully removed by operation, and is otherwise treated by physicians. Somebody writes: The forming of a goitre follows in the wake of rheumatism, typhoid fever and influenza, and very likely by an irritation acting on the central nervous system. Rotate often your head. Every morning massage neck and face, around the edges of the goitre, also press lightly against the center of the same. Paint iodine over goitre every other day. Have a light bandage over iodine.

LAW POINTS.

F. S.—As you are not contributing to their support, you may not succeed in collecting your minor son's wages.

W. W.—Mortgage comes first; if any surplus you may participate therein, but as a rule there seldom is any.

MRS. W. W.—The bonding company may sue the recorder of lodge for any shortage it is obliged to pay. He also may be prosecuted.

AUGUST.—It is not necessary to give lessee notice of expiration of lease. To obtain possession, bring an action for unlawfully detaining the premises.

C. H. B.—If you have any defense to make you can make the same should note be sued on; under the fact only which you state, we advise you to pay it at maturity.

N. DeC.—From what you say, your case is a good one and you should have no trouble in proving what you say; see an attorney without delay. He cannot freeze you out that way.

ACT.—The act authorizing interest charge of 3 per cent on chattel loans on household goods was approved March 25, 1915, and having emergency clause became effective from approval.

C. R. P.—Under Indiana law the husband was vested with a third part of the land and his deeding to one of the heirs in proper form prior to his death conveys his undivided third interest.

S. M. S.—Suits against purchaser of tax title for recovery must be brought within 3 years, saving to infant or person of unsound mind, who has two years after removal of such disability in which to sue for recovery.

A. C. B.—If extension last mentioned was indorsed upon back of the note in question, holder could not hope to succeed in a suit to enforce payment prior to maturity date of such extension. Your friend as surety is released by the extensions made to you as stated, if done so without his consent.

CURIOUS.—The owner of property can convey the same to another and therein reserve to himself a life estate; at his death the grantee holds full title. Same must be properly acknowledged before a notary or other official capable of taking the same and should be recorded. Delay in recording is not advisable.

L. Mc.—Your case is specifically covered by Section 1993 of the U. S. Revised Statutes, which provides as follows: "All children heretofore born or hereafter born out of the limits and jurisdiction of the United States, whose fathers were or may be at the time of their birth citizens thereof, are declared to be citizens of the United States."

M. E. M.—The policy provides that assured may cancel the same at any time, in which event the company is obliged to return the unearned premium upon short-rate basis. Inquire what the premium was for the time you had the same, tender the amount and demand return of your note. The above applies to stock or cash plan insurance; if upon the mutual or other plan, get policy contract and read its conditions. Being an agent of the company, it cannot hold your note for any premiums due it from such agent.

MISCELLANEOUS.

A. A.—Gmelich's vote for Lieutenant-Governor in 1908, 346,843; Painter, 344,365.

CANADA.—Study of medicine in Canada is regulated much the same as here. Five years study. No American certificate recognized.

E.—U. S. bonds, 2, 3 and 4 per cent. Lowest, 2 per cents, are quoted at 97½; highest, 100 to 109¾. These bonds are not taxable. No American investment is safer. Any broker will tell you all about them.

KURG.—To prepare a fish for keeping: Gills must be removed and skull cleaned out. Wipe the fish and place it in the following solution, using good alcohol: Alcohol (95 per cent), 3 parts; distilled water, 2 parts.

ELKINS.—Board of Education committees: Instruction—E. H. Stromberg (chairman), F. X. Hiemenz, A. H. Roudebush. Finance—H. Mauch (chairman), C. J. Lammert, C. W. Johnson. Buildings—H. L. Wolfner (chairman), E. M. Wagner, H. A. Rosskopf. Auditing and Supplies—E. Murphy (chairman), E. A. Raithel, F. X. Hiemenz. President J. P. Harper is ex-officio member of all committees.

NAVY.—U. S. Navy: 12 modern battleships; 10 armored cruisers, 22 older battleships, 5 first-class cruisers, 4 second-class cruisers, 15 third-class cruisers, 31 gunboats, 9 monitors, 68 destroyers, 21 torpedo boats, 52 submarines, 63,357 men and officers, 7,75[illegible] naval militia. Expected strength in 1918: Battleships, 45; scout cruisers, 25; armored cruisers, 6; first-class cruisers, 3; second-class cruisers, 1; third-class cruisers, 10; destroyers, 103; monitors, 5; submarines, 100, and a corresponding number of gunboats, transports, supply ships, convertible yachts, tugs, tenders and vessels of special type. This would mean the construction within the next three years of 21 battleships, 25 scout cruisers, 108 destroyers, [illegible] submarines and numerous other [illegible]

Marriage by Capture

A story wherein the unwilling bride was possibly more willing than her apparent unbending attitude suggested.

By Gregory Green.

"AND it's a shame, to see a girl of your age, who could still have her choice, remaining unmarried," said the old lady emphatically.

Little Miss Durfree smiled, for she knew the old lady's frankness. At 30 she was still unmarried. She had been a belle once; her face told her that evening that she was still attractive, in spite of the hint of a line at the edge of the mouth, and of a thread or two of gray at the temples.

Once little Miss Durfree had been in love, madly in love. But he had gone away West, and after a while his letters ceased. Then she had plunged into work, never regarding her other suitors with any seriousness. She was the busiest mortal alive. In the morning she did her housework, and sewed, and marketed; in the afternoon she read the newspapers, skimmed the latest book, sewed some more, dressed, visited the sick, put up conserves in season and did the thousand odd tasks that any woman can find to do. And the thought of getting married had simply never occurred to her since Jack went away.

She really was an old maid. She could not have torn herself away from her round of duties.

"If any man wanted to marry me, he'd have to lead me up to the alter by force," she said.

It was three weeks after the old lady had gone away, shaking her head, that Jack came home. He had been gone seven years, and he was the talk of the village, with his money, his good looks and the fact that he was still unmarried. He called upon little Miss Durfree almost as soon as May Durfree had heard of his return.

Renewing Old Times.

If the heart beneath the prim dress was beating rather faster than usually, little Miss Durfree gave no sign of it. Jack shook hands, sat down, and talked like an old friend. Sometimes Miss Durfree, looking up, found his eyes fixed upon hers in a puzzled way. At length he broke the comparative silence that had grown up between them.

"May," he said, "why have you changed so much?"

"I changed?" she asked in surprise.

"Yes. You have been telling me all about the things you do; they seem to fill your life. Well—you used not to be like that."

"How do you mean?" asked Miss Durfree.

"Well, you—why, May, don't you remember how we went to the picnic and walked home together and talked poetry to each other all the way?"

"But that was eight years ago, Mr. McCallum. People grow staider as they grow older."

"But—May, listen! You have filled your life with a lot of inanimate things that mean nothing. You have become enslaved to them. They don't represent anything. There ought to be more humanity in your life."

Miss Durfree rose. "I know you mean well," she said icily, "but I have chosen my life"—

He rose also. He took her by the hands. "May," he cried, "don't you see I love you still? I have always hoped some day to return and ask you to be my wife. I felt I had no right to continue writing to you when I had no prospects. May"—

She took her hands from hi.. "No, it is impossible, Jack," she said, with a touch of tenderness nevertheless.

"But why?"

"I am what I have made myself. I loved you once, and I will admit I like you now as much as any man alive. But—well, I am out out to be an old maid, I think. I couldn't face the prospect of beginning a new life. If any man married me it would be by force."

"I will carry you away captive," he began, half seriously.

She smiled. "I hope we shall always be friends," she said. There was finality in her tone.

He Stays Away a Week.

JACK went away. He saw her several times afterward. But it was true, what he had realized: Miss Durfree's heart seemed to have been frozen years before. She was really an old maid by instinct. Jack McCallum had this view confirmed by the old lady.

"It's a great pity," she said, "but some women are like that. I don't know that there's any cure, except marriage."

"Is that a cure?" asked Jack, bewildered.

"A certain cure," said the old lady decisively. "Never known to fail."

"But you have got to marry them to cure them, and if they refuse to be married?"

"That's the point," said the old lady reflectively. "How are you going to make them?"

"And you think there's no chance for me?"

"I think," said the old lady, "that May Durfree cares for you as much as she is capable of caring for anybody. But she doesn't love you. She couldn't love—now. What in the world did you do to her, Jack, before you went away? Broke her heart?"

"If I had thought that," he answered, "I would have married her, money or no money."

"It's the safest way," said the old lady.

In spite of the old lady's warning Jack tried his luck again. He declared his love. Little Miss Durfree stopped him promptly.

"Now, Mr. McCallum, if we are to remain friends," she said, "you must realize that this cannot be. Won't you try? You know, I am fond of you, as a friend."

Jack told her it was impossible. He stayed away a whole week. At the end of that period, meeting her in the street, he fancied that she looked a little worried.

"I was expecting you to call last night," she said, and the pout made little Miss Durfree look uncommonly pretty. Jack McCallum was more madly in love with her than ever.

"I meant to come," he answered penitently, "but I had an engagement. I had promised to call on the Duponts."

"O, those girls!" said little Miss Durfree acidly. "I hope you enjoyed your visit, Mr. McCallum."

A Chance in 100.

WITH every nerve urging him to shout that he hadn't, that he hated them, Jack managed, by a superhuman effort, to maintain silence. He had scored his point, he had piqued little Miss Durfree.

"You're clever," said the old lady, patting him on the shoulder. "But you won't win out that way, my dear boy. There's only one chance for you, and even then it's a hundred to one against. And if you lose you'll be the ridicule of the town."

"I'll take it," said Jack decisively.

"I don't know," said the old lady. "I shall have to ask the minister what he thinks of it. If he agrees that it is a possible plan I'll tell you."

Before the old lady told him Jack had resumed his visits to Miss Durfree. His infatuation was evident. He had lost all that he had scored that day in the street. Miss Durfree lived in terror of the proposal that came again at last.

"May, if you'll be my wife you shall live on in this house and I'll only come on Sundays," said Jack. "You shall sweep and cook and dust and sew and"—

"Oh dear!" sighed May Durfree. "Won't you ever be sensible and understand, Mr. McCallum?"

He took his hat and stamped out of the house. But on the next day the old lady told him that the minister had indorsed her scheme.

"We must get her out of her house for the day," she said. "How can it be arranged?"

"Tell her about the new cooking demonstration downtown," said Jack bitterly.

"The very thing," said the old lady. "I'll get her to go with me and bring her here for lunch, and keep her till 4 in the afternoon, if I have to lock her in this room."

And she did it. If little Miss Durfree became vaguely uneasy about her home as the old lady chatted away, she concealed it as long as possible. The old lady was so insistent. She showed her one thing after another, until at length 4 o'clock came, and the suspense was over.

"And now, my dear, I've kept you so long that I shall just walk over with you in atonement," said the old lady.

The Scheme Works.

IT seemed a queer sort of atonement to little Miss Durfree, but she accepted the old lady's company. But at the door the old lady showed no signs of going away, and Miss Durfree had to ask her in. The old lady walked in with her—into a transformed living room.

For, where the piano had been was an improvised altar, at which the minister stood, and in front of him was Jack, and on little Miss Durfree's other side was Jack's chum, Kenneth Gray, who had known all about the affair.

"Wilt thou have this woman for thy wedded wife?" the minister demanded.

"I will," said Jack.

"Wilt thou have this man to be thy wedded husband?" the minister demanded.

Little Miss Durfree stared at him as if she were hypnotized. Perhaps the scene, long dormant in her brain as a vision unrealized, suddenly stirred her memories. Perhaps it was Jack at her side, recalling her love of old. However that may be, the whispered affirmative melted Miss Durfree's heart. Five minutes later she and her husband sat alone together.

"It's all like a dream," she whispered.

"You shall have your home, dearest May"—

"Oh bother the old home!" said little Miss Durfree.

SUGGESTION TO WOMEN

Who Are Just "Ready to Drop"

When you are "just ready to drop," when you feel so weak that you can hardly drag yourself about—and because you have not slept well, you get up as tired-out next morning as when you went to bed, you need help. You can get it just as Mrs. Maxwell did. She says:—

"I keep house for my little family of three, and became completely run-down. I was weak, nervous and could not sleep; finally I was unable to do my housework. A friend asked me to try Vinol. I did so and improved rapidly. It toned up my system. I regained my strength, am no longer nervous, sleep well, and do all my housework." Mrs. J. C. Maxwell, Montgomery, Ala.

There is no secret about Vinol. It owes its success to the medicinal extractives of fresh cod livers, tonic iron and beef peptone, the oldest and most famous body-building and strength-creating tonics.

So many letters like the above are continually coming to our attention, that we freely offer to return the money paid for Vinol in every case where it fails to give satisfaction.

Worry

Fables of Everyday Folk

By Sophie Irene Loeb.

Where Beauty Comes From.

ONCE upon a time there was a woman. She wanted to bring the world to her feet. She looked about for a power to do so, and learned that beauty was one of the greatest. So she sought it. A friend told her about a great "beauty doctor" who could smooth out her skin, take away any wrinkles and make her look 20 years younger. She went to this man. After making a long diagnosis, which cost her a small fortune, he said:

SOPHIE IRENE LOEB

"Yes, I can make you beautiful, but you must do as I say."

The woman agreed. Then followed a long siege of self-denial and suffering, massage treatments by day and tight face masks by night, to say nothing of dieting and abstaining. As the process continued she consulted her mirror almost every minute to note the changes, and marvelled at the progress made.

The little lines around her features were disappearing, sure enough, and by an everlasting stick-to-it-iveness she arose one morning to find that her complexion was just right, her skin smooth, her hair was the desired shade, each eyebrow the proper length and width—in a word she looked beautiful.

Then she went forth to see what her beauty would do for her. At first those she aimed for were very much attracted to her "perfect" features and they courted her. Yet so long had she thought of nothing but the VALUES OF BEAUTY that she could think of nothing else and measured everything by that. So that she had nothing to give but her beautiful appearance.

Those who came to her in the beginning went their way UNAFFECTED by her seeming attraction. Also she found that when a day or two went by when she did not wear her night mask or neglected to use her creams, or did not keep her appointment with the "beauty doctor," her mirror reflected a faded countenance. She had to KEEP UP the formulas or lose all she had gained in her long fight for fairness. She was disappointed and realized there was some other power that she must needs acquire. Along came another specialist, who said:

"Ah, yes, you have beauty, but it is cold, and much like a lovely statue. You should have STRENGTH to keep up your beauty. What the world wants is animation. If you will take MY course I will add to your beauty and give you what it most needs."

Then followed another season of beauty-making by physical exercises, outdoor sports, games, bracing elements—everything to quicken the pulse and bring sparkle to the eyes and features.

After she had completed this course and thought she was well armed she went forth.

Again she drew many to her. But pretty soon they recognized that her seeming love of nature and outdoor accomplishments were somewhat forced and only "cultivated." They did not come from the pure joy of loving these natural elements, but rather from trying how they would ENHANCE HER APPEARANCE. She could only create the impression of cultivation.

One day the woman happened into a company of people whom she especially wanted to attract. They were awaiting a guest whom they wished to honor. She overheard the conversation that preceded the coming of this guest. It went something like this:

"She is just a darling. Everybody adores her. She is so beautiful, and one loves to be wherever she is. She is the soul and center of every group. She is wonderful."

The woman looked forward to seeing the greatest beauty of the age. And, lo, there entered a woman—almost a plain woman. She did not bear the earmarks of any "beauty doctor" nor had she the stride that was taught by the faddist. Her hair was plain, though gracefully combed. Her features were interesting, but not according to those drawn in the fashion plates.

Yet when she spoke and moved about and greeted friend after friend she just spread sunshine in her path, and all REACHED OUT to her. She became more beautiful the more one saw of her. The woman pondered. She asked her neighbor:

"Why is she deemed so beautiful?"

And the neighbor answered:

"Because she thinks it and lives it and acts on the impulse of beautiful purposes. She does things for people. She is unselfish. She spreads the spirit of herself and endeavors always to inspire others with beauty."

The woman understood and learned this moral:

The "Beauty Doctor" may smooth out the wrinkles of your face, but he can't reach those of the heart.

A FINE TREATMENT FOR CATARRH

EASY TO MAKE AND COSTS LITTLE

Catarrh is such an insidious disease and has become so prevalent during the past few years that its treatment should be understood by all.

Science has fully proved that Catarrh is a constitutional disease and therefore requires a constitutional treatment. Sprays, inhalers, salves and nose douches seldom if ever give lasting benefit and often drive the disease further down the air passages and into the lungs.

If you have Catarrh or Catarrhal deafness or head noises, go to your druggist and get one ounce of Parmint (double strength). Take this home and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and 4 ounces of granulated sugar; stir until dissolved, take one tablespoonful 4 times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises, clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and mucus stop dropping into the throat.

This treatment has a slight tonic action which makes it especially effective in cases where the blood has become thin and weak. It is easy to make, tastes pleasant and costs little. Every person who wishes to be free from this destructive disease should give this treatment a trial.—ADV.

The Magic Deer Skin

Sandman story of the Prince who was put under a spell by a jealous cousin of his little Princess sweetheart.

By Mrs. F. A. Walker.

PART I.

ONCE upon a time there lived two kings in adjoining kingdoms. One had a beautiful daughter, the Princess Adele, and the other was the father of handsome Prince Rufus. The two royal children were so much together that when they grew up a marriage was arranged between them. The wedding was to take place at the bride's castle, and for weeks there were great preparations and rejoicing. Everyone was glad except the cousin of the King. This cousin made her home at the palace and had a daughter just about Adele's age, and the girl had fallen in love with the Prince herself. So the mother determined to obtain Rufus for her if it was possible.

When the Prince arrived at the castle with a great blowing of trumpets and playing of bands, the cousin took him aside and told him all kinds of wicked tales about the Princess. But he knew they were untrue and only laughed at her. This so enraged the wicked woman that she decided to cast on him a spell that would ruin his life forever.

Early the next morning she went out alone far down in the depths of the forest to the hut of an old hag who knew how to weave magic spells. "I want to change a bad man into a deer," said the cousin. "Can you do it for me, and what will it cost?"

THE hag bent over her dying embers in the blackened chimney and thought a moment.

"I will give you a wonderful fluid which will turn anyone on whom it is poured into any naimal you wish," she said, "but you must first pay me 100 pieces of gold."

"I will give you 50 pieces now and 50 after you deliver to me the magic potion," said the cousin, who was very stingy and crafty.

"All right," said the hag, "I will not take long to mix it."

In about half an hour the hag put into the cousin's hand a bottle containing a dark red fluid, which sparkled in the sunlight.

"Now I want the other 50 pieces of gold," said the hag.

"I have already paid you the full 100," said the cousin, who really had given the old woman only 50.

"You are speaking a falsehood!" shrieked the hag, "but you will get your deserts before you die for this sorry trick."

The cousin ran quickly back to the palace, where the Prince and Princess were busy getting ready for a hunt. The courtyard was full of prancing horses, the toot of the hunting horn and the baying of the hounds.

"We will ride into the woods down the shady path by the Gray Rock," said the Prince as he helped Adele into her saddle. Then with a great shout the whole gay band started out from the castle.

"I will soon fix the Prince," said the cousin to her daughter, who stood looking sadly at the Prince riding away by the Princess' side. "I will change him into a deer, and he shall return torn to pieces by his own hounds."

INTO the forest she sped, and did not stop until she had climbed to the top of the Gray Rock and hidden behind a broken bit that jutted far out over the road. Presently down the pretty forest path came the royal lovers on their beautiful steeds, all brilliant in gold and jewels. They were talking and laughing gayly and never dreamed of any trouble awaiting them in their happiness.

But just as the Prince passed beneath the rock the wicked cousin broke the bottle and threw over him its contents.

"I wish you to become a deer," she said, quickly.

In a moment the saddle was empty and the Prince vanished, but speeding through the bushes was a magnificent deer, his great antlers crashing into the limbs as he tore past.

The frightened Princess was speechless with astonishment, for she could not imagine what had become of the Prince. In tears she turned her horse and galloped home in horror to pour out the sad story of the disappearing Prince to her father. The whole court was in consternation. Soldiers searched the forests, but not a trace could they find of the noble youth.

That was not strange, for far off he was speeding away madly through the mountains with the excited hounds leaping at his heels.

For Each Face There's a Hat to Suit.

THERE is somewhere a hat that exactly suits every face, and if your new hat is not as becoming as it should be it is because you have not exercised sufficient care in its selection.

There are six excellent rules that should always be observed when you buy a hat: First, never buy a hat in a hurry; second, never buy one when you are tired; third, never buy grotesque styles or exaggerated models, no matter how fashionable they may be; fourth, never buy a very handsome hat that you intend to use for dress occasions when you are wearing your plainest clothes, for it is certain to look out of place; fifth, remember when the saleswoman says to you: "This shape is very becoming, madam," that very naturally she is not nearly as much interested in your appearance as she is in making a sale.

The sixth rule is try to get a reliable friend to go with you when choosing a hat, for the opinion of such a person often prevents one from buying something unsuitable.

This season it is much easier than it usually is to choose a hat that suits the face, for there are so many pretty shapes to select from. Large, small and medium sized hats are worn and crowns can be either high or low.

It is a mistake for any woman with a long face to choose a hat with a high crown or a very narrow brim. A low crowned hat with a wide or medium brim will always suit her face much better. The woman with the fat face can wear a high crown if she likes, and also a hat with a wide brim if the crown is not too flat.

There is an erroneous idea that the woman with a small round face should wear a little round hat. If such a face is youthful it appears extremely piquante when crowned with the little hat that accentuates its childish contour and brings out the pretty coloring of the complexion. The jaunty little high-crowned sailor, with the brim sharply upturned on the left side, is always extremely becoming to such a face.

An Auto of 1711.

SOMETHING over a couple of centuries ago the principle of the taxicab was known.

An advertisement in the London Daily Courant of Jan. 13, 1711, announces that at the sign of the Seven Stars, under the piazza of Covent Garden, a chariot was on view that would travel without horses and measure the mile as it goes. It was capable of turning and reversing and could go uphill as easily as on level ground.

Sir Thomas Walter Pyne, a recent addition to the British Ministry of Munitions, used to have a snap job with the Ameer of Afghanistan, for whom he managed munition factories and served as master coiner, tool maker, clothier, stamp maker, boot manufacturer, soap boiler, tallow chandler and wheelwright.

STOP DANDRUFF! HAIR GETS THICK, WAVY AND GLOSSY

Girls! Draw a cloth through your hair and double its beauty.

Spend 25 cents! Dandruff vanishes and hair stops coming out.

To be possessed of a head of heavy, beautiful hair; soft, lustrous, fluffy, wavy and free from dandruff is merely a matter of using a little Danderine.

It is easy and inexpensive to have nice soft hair and lots of it. Just get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine now—all drug stores recommend it—apply a little as directed and within ten minutes there will be an appearance of abundance, freshness, fluffiness and an incomparable gloss and luster, and try as you will you cannot find a trace of dandruff or falling hair; but your real surprise will be after about two weeks' use, when you will see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—sprouting out all over your scalp—Danderine is, we believe, the only sure hair grower, destroyer of dandruff and cure for itchy scalp and it never fails to stop falling hair at once.

If you want to prove how pretty and soft your hair really is, moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair—taking one small strand at a time. Your hair will be soft, glossy and beautiful in just a few moments—a delightful surprise awaits everyone who tries this.—ADV.

RING MISSING FROM HOME

Mrs. Margaret Stephens of 5535 Cabanne avenue, niece of former Gov. Lon V. Stephens, last night asked the police to help her find a ring set with turquoise and diamonds, valued at $200, which disappeared from a jewel case in her room some time after Oct. 27.

Mrs. Stephens said the last time she saw her ring was when it was placed in the jewel case by a young woman student at Washington University, a guest at the Stephens home, who had worn it to a reception with her permission. The following day it was missing from the case. A search of the house failed to reveal any sign of it.

By RICHARD L. STOKES.

AMAZINGLY uneven as to merit and, therefore, not a little disappointing, despite the emergence here and there of singing about as superb as any now known, was the recital given last night at the Odeon for the benefit of Kingdom House Settlement, by Pasquale Amato, premier baritone of the Metropolitan Opera Co., and Miss Florence Macbeth, American coloratura soprano, formerly of the Chicago Grand Opera Co.

It was Amato himself, great artist as he truly is, who was so unfortunate as to get the program off to a poor start. He marched upon the stage with an important air for the opening number, and after installing himself with considerable ceremony beside the piano, seemed for the first time to cast a glance upon the audience. He immediately cocked an eloquent and sardonic eyebrow at the array of empty seats—of which, to tell the truth, there were not a few. Then he permitted his emotions to be read upon his mobile countenance—incredulity, reluctant certainty, disgust and scorn.

Naturally this facial commentary on the size of the audience created an unpleasant impression, which the singer did nothing in his first group of songs to relieve. Amato sang one song by Debussy and two by Hahn, in a style which was at once pompous and mediocre. It must be said in his favor that he had a cold which now and then enveloped his lower tones in huskiness, and that his real forte is operatic singing, and not the rendition of lyrics. But his manner seemed to say: "I, the very famous Signor Amato, can sing as indifferently as I please to an audience like this and get away with it." If so, he was quickly undeceived.

Sing to Cold Ears.

Three songs were sung to cold ears and won only polite handclapping. Thereupon the singer seemed suddenly to see a great light. He perceived that the audience was by no means accepting him at his own value and was rather chillingly waiting to be "shown." So he hastily interpreted the perfunctory applause at the end of the group as a demand for an encore, and in "To a Messenger," by the American composer, La Forge, arousingly proved how he could sing when he wanted to. This drew the first warm applause of the evening, and was the first spark of that electric current between performer and audience which places them thoroughly en rapport.

In still another respect a certain lack of consideration was shown to the audience. The program was composed mostly of unfamiliar music, either new or so old as to have become new. There is no objection to new music, which, indeed, has educational merit, although one strange song after another is apt to produce an effect of montony and strain. But an audience has a right to expect that the music will not be unfamiliar to the singers as well as to itself.

Now, there is an unwritten and just law among concert artists that they shall always sing their numbers from memory. The best singers consider it due to their hearers to be so well acquainted with the selections they offer as to be able to sing them without music. But Amato sang all of his third group of songs from typewritten manuscript, and in an encore duet with Miss Macbeth ("l'Adieu des Fiances," a popular Polish song), read his part with close attention from a book, and even displayed some of the symptoms of reading at sight. Miss Macbeth capped the climax in this respect by reading from a sheet of paper the lines of "Annie Laurie."

Amato began to strike his true stride in three magnificent old French songs of the Twelfth and thirteenth centuries, which concluded his second group—"L'Etoile du matin," "Le beau sejour" and "Me promenant un matin." Here rang forth the true Amato voice, splendidly robust and virile, dramatically resonant and powerful, thrillingly sweet and velvety. And here the audience began to build up an enthusiasm for his personality and art which was to culminate at the end in a wildly fervent ovation. He was a bit less prosperous with lyrics by Balakirew, Tschaikowsky and Rachmaninoff, but came into his own with the "Chanson de Mephistopheles," from "The Damnation of Faust," by Moussorgsky, which is an extremely sinister Russian version of the diabolical laughing song familiar in Gounod's opera. As an encore he sang in his best style an aria from the opera "Fedora," by Giordano. It was significant that throughout Amato was more successful in his encores, which presumably he knew perfectly and liked, than in his programmed numbers.

Then, at the end, came a memorable climax, in Amato's singing of the Prologue to "Pagliacci," and, as an encore, Figaro's famous factotum song from "The Barber of Seville." For polished artistry, for consummate skill in voice handling, few living artists could hope to rival his singing of the Prologue. Unfortunately, his finest passage was ruined by persons in the audience who broke in with a salvo of applause, under the impression that he had finished, to the visible horror of the singer and to the consternation of his accompanist, who seemed narrowly to escape toppling off his stool.

At the end some enthusiasts in the gallery weirdly expressed their appreciation by shouting: "Speech! Speech!" Amato's interpretation, in the encore, of the bustling, knavish barber singing his formidable aria was a masterpiece such as few singers could achieve, and awakened a veritable storm of shouts and bravos.

Miss Macbeth's Singing.

As to Miss Macbeth's singing, she did not succeed in making that appeal to the audience, frankly eager to welcome her, which was expected from her reputation as a singer. One does not necessarily demand power and emotion in a coloratura singer, any more than one expects it from a flute, the coloratura soprano of instruments; but in a singer of this denomination, and one moreover of grand opera rank, one has a right to expect purity of tone, exquisite high notes, faultless and polished runs and trills.

Naturally of thin timbre, her voice was often painfully scratchy and thready in the upper register. Her roulades, due to her failure to aspirate the notes, were glossed over and lacked impetus; and she was even guilty of some elementary faults of breathing, as when she broke in two the short phrase in "Annie Laurie"—"I'd lay me doon an' dee"—by inserting a respiration after the word "doon."

Her numbers were the aria, "Qui la Voce," from Berlin's "I'Puritani;" a duet with Amato, "Gondoliera," by Sir George Henschel, first conductor of the Boston Symphony Orchestra; and a group of songs by Del' Acqua, La Forge, Phillips and Gomes.

The work of both accompanists at the piano—Mrs. Yeatman Griffith for Miss Macbeth, and Guiseppe Bamboscheck for Amato—was a model of its kind; and Mrs. Griffith's playing was in particular a thing of beauty.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., Nov. 3.—Henry Gaillard Smart, who recently won control of his dead wife's estate, said to be worth $3,000,000, after a sensational will contest in the courts of Hawaii, is dead here of cerebro spinal meningitis. His baby son and heir is in Hawaii with his grandmother, Mrs. Edward S. Knight.

Smart, who was the son of the late Dr. Richard D. Smart, a prominent Southern Methodist preacher, left the University of Virginia four years ago to go to Honolulu. There he married Miss Annie Thelma Parker, whom he had met on the steamer crossing the Pacific. On her death in San Francisco last year her mother and stepfather sought control of her property.

DALMORES BACK FROM THE WAR

French Tenor, After Service in Trenches and Period in Hospital, Visits America.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—Charles Dalmores, French tenor, has returned to America, after serving his country as a private for seven months in the trenches. Rheumatism, contracted when in the water repairing bridges, sent him to the hospital for five months.

Dalmores went in a private and came out a private, but greater distinction has been won, he said, by the French baritone, Renaud, who, although 54 years old, enlisted as a private and has spent the entire period of the war in Verdun, except for a few days in Paris. He has been made a Captain, has won the Legion of Honor and has five "citations a l'orde de l'armee," equivalent to "honorable mention."

The seventh month at the front Dalmores spent in the fortress of Toul and in the trenches.

Why Suffer With Backache, Kidneys or Rheumatism?

"ANURIC!"

The Newest Discovery in Chemistry. Eminent Medical Authorities Endorse It.

A New Remedy for Kidney, Bladder and all Uric Acid Troubles.

Dr. Eberle and Dr. Braithwaite as well as Dr. Simon—all disinguished authors—agree that whatever may be the disease, the usual tests seldom fail in furnishing us with a clue to the principles upon which it is to be treated, and accurate knowledge concerning the nature of disease can thus be obtained. If backache, or similar ailment bother or distress you, or if uric acid in the blood has caused rheumatism, gout or sciatica, or you suspect kidney or bladder trouble just write Dr. Pierce, at the Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y.; and describe symptoms. You will receive free medical advice after Dr. Pierce's chemist has read your symptoms—this will be carefully done without charge, and you will be under no obligation. Doctor Pierce, during many years of experimentation has discovered a new remedy which is thirty-seven times more powerful than lithia in removing uric acid from the system. If you are suffering from backache or the pains of rheumatism, go to your best druggist and ask for a 50-cent box of "Anuric," put up by Doctor Pierce. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for weak women and Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for the blood have been favorably known for the past forty years and more. They are standard remedies today, as well as Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets for the liver and bowels. You can have a sample of any one of these remedies in Tablet form by writing Dr. Pierce.

To the Woman Who Realizes She Needs Help.

You are nervous. You have "crying spells." You are dejected. You don't sleep well. You have backache. You have lost ambition for your work. You are beginning to feel old and look old!

These symptoms, more than likely, are produced by some weakness or derangement.

DR. PIERCE'S FAVORITE PRESCRIPTION
(IN TABLET OR LIQUID FORM)

will aid you in regaining youthful health and strength—just as it has been doing for over forty years for women who have been in the same condition of health you find yourself. It soothes and invigorates. It upbuilds and uplifts.—ADV.

M'GOVERN DEFEATS SHERMAN, BUT HIS "COMEBACK" FAILS

Poor Bout Is Won by Benny Because His Opponent Hits Too Often, While Holding.

Harry Sharpe's Decisions

BENNY McGOVERN vs. Abe Sherman ("Young Abe Attell"), 8 rounds (McGovern 124 pounds, Sherman 123 pounds)—McGovern the winner on points.

BOBBY ANDERSON of Duquoin, Ill., vs. Leo Witt of St. Louis, 8 rounds at 135 pounds—Anderson the winner on points.

LEO WILLIAMS vs. Joe Kelley, 6 rounds at 125 pounds—Draw.

"HAPPY" HOWARD of St. Louis vs. Owen Hooker of San Francisco, Cal., 6 rounds at 118 pounds—Howard the winner on points.

By Harry S. Sharpe,
Referee for the Future City Athletic Club and the Post-Dispatch's Boxing Authority.

One of the poorest bouts between pretentious boxers which has taken place in this city in many moons was fought last night at the Future City Athletic Club between Benny McGovern and Abe Sherman.

I have no doubt they did their best, but that best was a sad sunset to the brilliant day when McGovern was known as the best featherweight in these parts. Sherman did a little better than when he boxed here as an amateur and then blossomed forth as a professional under the adopted name of "Young Abe Attell," but it was very little better.

Sherman made faces and vicious lunges that did little damage; McGovern made dainty leads, but his punches would hardly have fractured a cream puff.

Sherman weighed about four pounds more, was healthy and strong, and needs no excuse. McGovern has been sick, and that must be his excuse.

Much Holding by Both.

The bout was rough, but, at that, was mild in comparison with what two strong, healthy, real fighters could have made. Sherman and McGovern did a lot of holding, but the former increased his average for poor work by doing all the hitting he could while he was holding. Both of them pleaded "not guilty" when accused of holding, and seemed far more willing to argue the accusation than they were to lead the straight and narrow path directed by the Queensberry rules.

Mad Sherman been even fairly careful in his observance of the rules it is quite probable he would have been declared the winner, because he made a better bluff at aggressiveness than McGovern did, and he made the latter do some swinging that looked wild and bad.

As it was, there was nothing, in my opinion, to choose between them until the last round, and then McGovern flashed a little of his old-time speed and connected with enough points to make him a poor winner of a poor bout.

It seems incredible that a lay-off of seven months should have robbed McGovern of his speed, punch, judgment of distance and science—yet physicians say they know of no good reason why he should not be just as good today, so far as strength and endurance is concerned, as he was before he underwent an operation for appendicitis nine months ago.

It is a plain statement of truth to say that McGovern was better as an amateur than he appeared to be as a professional last night. And it is no far stretch of the imagination to believe that Johnny Solberg would have been able to do last night just what he did seven months ago, when a bout was stopped in the fifth round to save McGovern from being knocked out.

McGovern Trained Hard.

McGovern has been training earnestly for a little more than a month to make his "come-back" a success, and during the past week his practice bouts with Harry Trendall have had all the ear-marks of vim and vigor. He looked good in the gym. but he failed to make good in the ring.

McGovern has a lot of friends, and many of them were present last night. They could not conceal their disappointment, and most of them were sorry Benny had tried a "come-back."

One Real Fight, This.

The real battle of the night took place in the semi-final between Bobby Anderson of Duquoin, Ill., and Leo Witt of this city at 135 pounds. They fought eight fierce rounds, every one of which there was much good clean and hard hitting. Last week these boys battled eight rounds at 133 pounds, and Witt won the decision. Anderson reversed the verdict last night.

Tom Watts Heads A. A. U. "New Blood" Slate, Put Over in Stormy Session

Old Guard Beaten by 10-7 Vote, After Making Unexpectedly Strong Fight—Two New Clubs Admitted—O'Connor Retained as Vice President.

By W. J. O'CONNOR.

WHEN, at 10:30 o'clock last night, it was conclusively proved to the "old guard" of the Western Division of the A. A. U., that Edward Tobin, the secretary of the association, would positively not jump out of the third-story window of the American Hotel, further debate was waived and the annual election held.

The "new blood" slate then slid in, unceremoniously. Thomas G. Watts Jr., a native, was elected president to succeed Florance Curran, while Verne Lacy of the Southern Athletic Club was made chairman of the Registration Committee, composed of himself, Fred Ward and Dr. J. A. Reilly. The job of official handicapper went to Edward Tobin, former secretary, while W. J. Hencke succeeded to Tobin's old job.

Of the old directorate only John J. O'Connor was retained. He has the honorary position of first vice president, while he also has been named a delegate to the national meeting in New York with Watts and Billy Westhus, as associates.

Contrary to general belief, Mr. Curran stated, the W. A. A. U. isn't busted. There's a balance of $27.25 in the treasury after all debts have been paid. It also was shown, much to the chagrin of the local representatives, that Kansas City has 297 registered athletes against 245 from St. Louis.

The new president, Mr. T. Gee Watts Jr., who plays a fine game of handball against Gwynne Evans, pledges himself to start a boom. He has able assistants in Fred Ward, Joe Forshaw and Billy Westhus. They all aim to revivify athletics locally, plans for doing so to be announced soon.

The complete new officiate follows: President, T. G. Watts Jr. (M. A. A.); vice presidents, William Westhus, R. L. Daly, Edward L. Roll and J. Manning; secretary and treasurer, W. J. Hencke (Deimar Bathing Beach); chairman of Registration Committee, Verne Lacy (Southern A. C.); Registration Committee, Lacy, Fred Ward (Columbian A. C.), Dr. J. A. Reilly (Kansas City A. C.); official handicapper, Edward Tobin (St. Louis U.); delegates to New York, John J. O'Connor, Billy Westhus and T. G. Watts Jr.

T. Shevlin Takes Charge of Yale Line in Practice

Hinkey a Member of Board Under New System of Coaching.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 3.—A board of coaches is in charge of the Yale football squad now according to a statement authorized by Capt. Alexander D. Wilson of the Yale football team today. This announcement follows and supports his statement to the football squad last Saturday that he and Frank Hinkey had come to the parting of their ways and that Tom Shevlin and a board of old players would be here this week to get the team in shape for the remaining three games, those against Brown, Princeton and Harvard. Capt. Wilson's statement follows:

"The football situation up to today has been that the team has lost confidence and lacks knowledge of elementary football. This has been due in a large part to the fact that experienced and older men have not been assisting in the coaching. They have now been called back both by Coach Hinkey and by myself. In effect the change is a return to the old Yale method of a board of coaches taking the responsibility for the team. Mr. Hinkey will be one of this board."

This statement, authorized by Capt. Wilson, refers to a board which is made up of Frank Hinkey, Tom Shevlin, John R. Kilpatrick, John W. Field, L. H. Bigelow, John L. Owsley, Howard Jones, Guy Hutchinson, Dr. Bull, Dad Talbott and others who will be added from time to time.

Shevlin was in rare humor when he arrived yesterday. There was open practice and hundreds of students out to see him. He laughed when asked if he was going to be head coach.

Shevlin arrived in New Haven at noon yesterday and went with the squad to Yale field, coaching all the afternoon. He and coach Hinkey had a very friendly chat. Shevlin was apparently in charge from the start and paid attention to the line. John E. Owsley, head coach of Shevlin's team, with Dr. William L. Bull, worked with the backs. The line coaches besides Shevlin were Kilpatrick, Lilley, Nigelow, Talbot and the staff which has been here through the year.

BRESNAHAN CHARGES SETTLED OUT OF COURT

CHICAGO, Nov. 3.—Charges of driving an automobile while intoxicated and of assault with an automobile made against Manager Roger Bresnahan of the Chicago Nationals, were dismissed in the Municipal Court today for want of prosecution.

Luttbeg Meets Grogan.

Max Luttbeg and Gypsy Grogan are scheduled to furnish the weekly wrestling match at the Standard Theater Friday night. The pair will wrestle catch-as-catch-can, best two out of three falls, with Al Niest acting as referee.

Frank Moran Favored as Opponent for Willard in New Orleans Title Go

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 3.

JESS WILLARD yesterday signed articles to fight 20 rounds here the latter part of February or the first of March. A definite date will be fixed later. The champion will have until Dec. 10 to select his opponent.

It is believed by promoters he will choose Frank Moran. Dominick Tortorich and his associates have put up a purse believed to be $12,500. The exact amount will not be given out until later.

Maupome Beaten by Joe Capron, His 2d Defeat

St. Louis Candidate, With Record of 10-2, Still Leads Cue League.

Joe Capron of Chicago handed Pierre Maupome, the St. Louis star in the Interstate Three-Cushion Billiard League, his second defeat of the season last night in Chicago, 50 to 46, in 86 innings. The Mexican cue star was away off the form that put him out in front in the league race.

When the seventy-fifth inning was reached in last night's match, Maupome held the lead, 46-45, but two runs of 3 and one-third on the final inning put the Windy City star out. In this time Maupome was counting only two points.

Tonight Maupome moves over to Detroit, where he is scheduled to play Jess Lean. Tomorrow Maupome plays Cooler in Indianapolis and then returns home for his match with Frank Benson Friday at the Rex.

Hascall of Milwaukee nosed out William Kalthoff, 50 to 49, in their match in Cincinnati last night. A run of 2 gave Hascall the victory over the Cincinnati cueist.

New Backfield Is Given Chance in C. B. C. Practice

Brother Sylvester Getting Line on Next Years' Players at Early Date.

With two of the team's stars, Billy Quinn, halfback, and Paul Murphy, quarterback, graduating from school the coming spring, Brother Sylvester, coach of the Christian Brothers' College team is losing no time in getting capable players to fill their places next season. For that reason the purple and gold mentor gave the regular backfield a lay-off yesterday and used a set of youngsters.

Jimmy Brennan, who has been starring with the C. B. C. Austins, worked at quarterback and showed to good advantage. Dunn, another newcomer, was at right halfback. McGinnis, who played halfback last Saturday against the Southern Illinois Normals, and McCracken, who was given a chance at fullback, after Hart was injured, made up the remainder of the backfield.

Brother Sylvester figures that in giving the newcomers an early chance he will have a better line on his candidates when practice for next season is called.

The two Cote Brilliants cripples—Willett, halfback and star place kicker of the team, and Hart, fullback—will be ready for the clash with Ewing College of Ewing, Ill., next Saturday. Only a light practice was gone through by the members of the team, hard work will commence today. The open style of play will be employed against the Ewing gridders.

Former Promoter Dies.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Nov. 3.—Buck Cornelius, whose right name is Michael J. Connolly, died in a hospital here yesterday at the age of 52. Connelly was an old-time prize fighter, promoter and manager. He managed Peter Maher, when the latter lost to Bob Fitzsimmons in Texas in 1896. The funeral will be held tomorrow.

All Must Be Athletes.

Coach Tretzel of Utah Agricultural College will this year be called upon to interest the students in some form of athletics at the Logan (Utah) College, where athletics has been made compulsory. The idea is to have interclass contests in soccer, rugby, football, basketball, indoor and outdoor track sports, cross-country running, handball, tennis and baseball.

SPORT SALAD BY L. C. DAVIS.

In the Winter.

IT is a sporting editor,
He holds me with his eye;
He runs his fingers through his hair
And then he heaves a sigh.
Says he: "There's nothing to it, Bo,
They've got me in a box;
And so I guess we'll have to sell
Frank Baker to the Sox.

"To peddle Mr. Baker, 'boss,
Will fill me with delight;
But you forget to specify
The Red Sox or the White."
"Let's see, if I remember right,"
Replied the Sporting Ed.
"The other day we made it White,
Today let's make it Red."

• • •

Jess Willard has agreed to defend his title in a 20-round bout in New Orleans early in March. And he hasn't been champion a year yet. How foolish.

• • •

The name of Willard's opponent has not been announced, but as Frank Moran is about the best that can be sent against him Jess's crown doesn't seem to be seriously threatened.

• • •

The curtain wasn't rung down on Benny McGovern last night. He won by a shade.

• • •

We take it that Patience Worth knows something about golf, as in one of her mysterious messages she makes reference to "piddle-putting."

• • •

Tom Watts Jr. has been elected president of the Western A. A. U. Watts ought to be able to lighten the gloom that envelops the local athletic situation.

• • •

The Cards have signed Jack Warhop and Hi Jasper. Indicating that Jack and Hi are nearing the end of their string.

• • •

At that there were worse pitchers than Jack Warhop drawing money from "Sky" Britton last summer. Wonder where the Gallatin Squash will land next year.

• • •

Capt. Wilson of Yale says the team has lost confidence. That's about the only thing they had left to lose.

• • •

However, with a coach for every man, the boys ought to perk up a little. If coaching will do any good the Bulldog ought to stage a comeback.

GARTON TO BOX DEIBEL IN ST. GENEVIEVE BOUT

Dick Garton of this city and Freddie Deibel of Philadelphia will box at 150 pounds in the main event at the Armory at St. Genevieve, Mo., next Saturday night. Young Foley of St. Louis and Jim Kenny of Buffalo battle at 122 pounds in the semi-final, while Battling Schultz, St. Louis, and Eddie O'Donnell of Chicago furnish the curtain raiser.

A wrestling match between Max Luttbeg, the lightweight, and Jimmy Collins of Philadelphia also is scheduled.

"Y" Basket Season Opens.

Manager Frank L. Hellwege of the newly organized Central Y. M. C. A. Basket-Ball League has announced the opening game of the season's tournament for Friday night at Central gymnasium. Two games will be played, with J. S. McKnight as referee. In the first intermediates will meet the Compton Heights Christian Church team. Central "Y" Seniors will play King's Highway Presbyterian Church in the second. At present there are five teams in the league, the four playing Friday night and the Euclid Avenue Baptist Church team.

Lewis Defeats Saylor.

BOSTON, Nov. 3.—Ted Lewis, the English lightweight, easily outpointed Milburn Saylor in their 12-round bout here last night. Lewis is present Indianapolis battler to the mat for the count of six in the first round. Both boys did a lot of infighting.

EDMUNDS WILL NOT USE PEMBERTON IN BILLIKEN'S BATTLE

"I Won't Take a Chance of Having Him Badly Hurt," Piker Coach States.

Secret practice was begun last night at Sportsman's Park and Francis Field and any amateur spy who wants a thorough tryout before going to Europe might get valuable experience by trying to break through the "lines" at either camp. But if you don't know the pass word the job will be hard and in the end your head may be soft—beaten to a pulp.

In the matter of condition, neither the Billikens or Pikers had any advantage yesterday. At St. Louis U., Fullback Wynn adorned the side lines with a bandaged ankle and a cane. His physicians positively declare that he will not play against the Pikers. Left Halfback Corcoran also was absent, nursing an injured leg, but he will play.

Similar condition prevailed at Washington. Peter Pemberton was only a spectator yesterday, his collar bone in a cast. He positively will not play again this season.

No Chance for Pemberton.

"It would be inhuman to play Pemberton, although he wants to get in there," said Coach Edmunds. "His shoulder may feel strong but there's a chance of seriously injuring him by putting him in the lineup again this year, and I won't flirt with that sort of chance."

Hachman, the big tackle, also was missing from the Pikeway lineup. He's at his home in Evansville, Ind., where his mother is seriously sick. He's expected back Thursday.

Most of the Piker practice yesterday was confined to passing. Not a little attention was given to the defensive end, Edmunds forcing his backs and ends to break up the pass. His instructions were that they should attempt to ground the ball instead of intercepting it, and the players worked along these lines.

Edmunds thinks pretty well of his team. Only the dearth of material worries him. "My squad has been decimated by injuries and withdrawals," said Big Bill, "but I'm confident that I can put 11 men in the game at the start who will be superior to any St. Louis U. has. It has been my observation that the Piker regulars, as long as they lasted, outplayed Drake and Wabash. Two teams that beat us. I think they will outplay St. Louis, and if none of our first string men is hurt we will win. But I haven't the reserve strength that I would like."

Eight Coaches for Billikens.

Starting next Monday the Billikens will have the benefit of individual coaching for the final five days of preparation. Coach Keogan has extended an invitation to the "old grads" and they have accepted with the alacrity of persons vitally interested in the success of the team. Those who have signified an intention of reporting Monday are: Hiner Lindsay, Bob Moran, Earl Painter, Joe Schloemer, Frank Nyquist, Art Zachritz, Johnny Maguire and Tony Wagner, who will come all the way from Omaha.

A huge mistake was made by the observers at last Saturday's game. The discredit for making two costly fumbles was placed on Weckesman, the hefty fullback, whereas the guilty person was none other than Powers. He fumbled in the third quarter when the Billikens had started a drive for the Arkansas' goal, and he also fumbled early in the fourth period at a tense moment. Both Weckesman and Powers have light hair and that probably caused confusion.

In the Washington game the Billikens will have new jerseys with numbers on the backs. Washington players also will be numbered, thus facilitating the task of "covering" the game.

Battle With St. L. U. Undergrads Should Test McKinley Team Today

In what promises to be one of the closest contested scholastic games of the year, the McKinley High School football eleven will meet the St. Louis University undergrads at Pastime Park this afternoon.

The Billiken proteges have played but three games this season, these with minor elevens, but in each case rolled up large scores. The fact that a great many of the members of the 1914 team which defeated McKinley, 20 to 0, are now holding down positions on the eleven point to a hard contest for McKinley.

Cloud will be the only South Sider not in the lineup. The big fullback sprained an ankle recently and will be out for a week. The Undergrads will play with their strongest array.

The game will be called at 3:45 o'clock. Artie Zachritz and "Red" Roche will officiate.

The playing of the game with the Undergrads today will keep the South Siders idle Saturday, unless an easy contest is lined up. Smith-Manual and Cleveland High will play the preliminary to the big Soldan-Central conflict Saturday p. m. at High School Field, while Yeatman and Principia will clash in the morning.

Latest reports emitted from the hospital have it that Johnny Quinn, Soldan end, will be unable to play Saturday. Quinn suffered an injury of two broken bones in his left hand in the Smith-Manual game two weeks ago. Although the injury is healing, the process is slow and his playing is improbable.

Evanston High School, the Chicago eleven which Coach Crosby of McKinley is trying to bring down here to play the South Siders in a post-season contest, in the event that the crimson squad wins the local "prep" title, walloped Hyde Park High of Chicago last Saturday. Evanston has been generally cleaning up on the Windy City scholastic situation and Chicago critics pick the suburbanites to win the high school title.

Welburne Estes, a local youth, who played on the Western Military Academy for several years, and was a halfback on the Central College eleven for the past two seasons, is out of the lineup for the remainder of the season with a broken arm.

In looking through the lineups of important collegiate elevens throughout the country, one is unable to find the name of a single St. Louis youth. In 1913 this city had Van Riper at Wisconsin, and last year it boasted of Longstreth at Princeton. This year, however, our Missouri University gridders are our only claims.

What at present looms up as the biggest intersectional scholastic game of the year is the contest that is scheduled between the Detroit Central High School and Wendall High of Boston. Quite likely the winners will claim the national "prep" title.

WRAY'S COLUMN

Hercules Had a Cinch.

WHEN Mr. Hercules of ancient note, tackled that job of renovating the well-known Augean stables, 'twas thought the champion tough job of all time had been wished on him. However, in the opinion of St. Louis followers of athletics, Herk had a sinecure, compared to the house-cleaning task confronting Thomas Watts, the new president of the Western District A. A. U.

Last night's election saw new blood introduced into the Western division, which has long been suffering from sclerosis of the noodle and hookworm. Tom Watts fought hard to win his way to the presidency—a proceeding about as consistent as that of the guy that tried to fight his way into the calaboose.

For, now that Thomas is in charge, his reward will be trouble.

• • •

Only the Epitaph Needed.

THE Western District's athletic house is in the most deplorable state of disorder. Athletic life has been allowed to ebb until it is practically exhausted. But for the individual efforts of the Columbian A. C. not a trickle of vitality would have been observed in the slumbering old fossil. Prodded and goaded to the limit, the district heads perpetrated one of the grandest jokes known to the athletic world when it put on the "Western championships," with only three men in some events, two men in others and the entry list confined to two or three local clubs.

• • •

Watts is the right man in the right place—if he is looking for trouble. He's a hustler. Interested in the game and will devote time to his task—which, hitherto, no officer in the memory of man has been known to do, in this section of the woods.

That's what this district needs —attention. And it's up to the new "slate" to provide enough of the same, to keep us awake, or let the W. A. A. U. go slumbering on, marked in history for its sloth.

• • •

A Big Field Untilled.

ONE thing the officials must accomplish, if they hope to have permanent activity. That is the interesting of other centers of the district than St. Louis and Kansas City in this section of the A. A. U. takes in five or six states, or parts thereof, and includes among other large cities Omaha, St. Joseph, Louisville and other large centers of population lying in between these extremes.

Yet Kansas City and St. Louis have, from time immemorial, been the only representatives at championships. This year even Kansas City was not in on it, and the title meet was practically a closed event for the Columbian Athletic Club of this city.

Ring the alarm. It's time to wake up, men!

A Rare Chance to Mint It.

MR. DOMINICK TORTORICH, the New Orleans fight promoter, has a chance to do a service to the fight followers of the United States and at the same time take the most effective means of finding the right opponent for Jess Willard, world's champion, who has been signed for a 20-round bout to take place at Crescent City, Mardi Gras week.

Dominick is a shrewd rooster (Do we get away with this?). He must be, if he can see his way to guarantee Willard $32,500, win, lose or draw, for a 20-round show.

But the problem of an opponent for Jess is worrying him. Old Man Dope suggests an elimination tournament, to start at once, in which the following eligibles, or near-eligibles, be given a chance:

JACK DILLON—Note that we mention the littlest first.

FRANK MORAN—Jim Coffey supplied him with the grounds for recognition.

CARL MORRIS—The engineer, who is the beef trust candidate.

JOE COX—If he stops Gunboat Smith next Tuesday.

GUNBOAT SMITH—If his artillery is still in working order.

FRED FULTON—If what his press agent says of him is true.

JOE COFFEY—He is entitled to be in on this pot.

AL REICHERT—On form (we mean his shape only) he has a look-in.

It would take a tournament of seven bouts to run through this list and determine the challenger, but there is still time to put it through.

There should be a pot of money in it for all concerned, especially for that Dominick boy. And a title, perhaps, for Jack Dillon, N. B.—Some sharp-shooting for Old Man Dope, that Dillon bit.

• • •

Now to Settle This Peace.

AT a late hour the fight over whether it is to be peace or war in baseball was still raging heavily in the press, with the artillery playing in front of many entanglements.

Somebody is flirting with Somebody, we gather, but the minister is still waiting at the church to unite them. But there'll be peace, all right. In St. Louis it is apt to come within the year, and this opinion is based on a simple condition.

It is this: That the Federal leasehold of Handlan's Park ends with 1916. It is said to contain an "option-to-purchase" clause, but no optional rent renewal provision. This means that the Feds must either win or lose before the close of the 1916 season.

• • •

Exhaustion May End It.

EXHAUSTION will end the struggle this year, if all else fails. Reports show that of 47 minor leagues in the field before the war, only 22 remain, and most of these minors are tottering.

The major league clubs are fortunate if they can show a slight favorable balance. The N. L. champions only made $25,000 on the year after paying all debts, it is unofficially said.

You cannot live, much less fight, without sustenance.

MUNICIPAL "BOWL" NEEDED FOR CITY'S ATHLETIC GROWTH

Rodowe Abeken, Director of Public Sports, Says We Need Civic Athletic Field.

Rodowe Abeken, Director of Municipal Athletics, has one scheme he will try to put through before he retires. He wants the city to build a big "bowl," on the order of the Yale Bowl, in Fairground Park, for the municipal athletes, so that they would have a real field for themselves.

In this way the municipal association could promote track and field athletics. If the "bowl" is built, a big gymnasium for both boys and girls would be built at one end. There would be a circular track and space large enough for one baseball diamond and a soccer field.

"If we had a bowl of this kind," said Abeken this morning, "we would have a place to hold our championship baseball and soccer games and all the fans that came could come down. This would prove a big boost to municipal athletics in St. Louis.

"In the gymnasium we would be able to play our basket ball games and also could form an indoor baseball league.

"But, continued Abeken, "when we get this I will be ready to quit."

A meeting of all those interested in the junior branch of the Municipal Soccer League will hold a meeting in room 330, Municipal Courts Building, at 8 o'clock tonight, to complete plans for the season. The junior class is for boys of 17 years and under it is expected to open the season next Sunday.

Terriers Scattered From Oregon to Havana; Harry Chapman Weds

The members of the Terriers are scattered all over the United States, just about as far as a person can go in any direction. Fielder Jones, manager, for instance, had to travel all the way to Portland, Ore., the far Northwest, after the close of the season. Bobby Vaughn went almost as far, going to Tacoma, Wash.

Dave Davenport, the big right-handed pitcher, who was given a bonus of $250 for his great work in the closing weeks of the season, makes his winter home in Runge, Tex., which is on the Mexican border line. Charles Deal and "Runt" Walsh represent the East, the former living in Boston and the latter in Baltimore. Arthur Kores, Milwaukee, and Larue Kirby, Elsie, Mich., make up the northern contingent. Then there is Armando Marsans, who resides in Havana, Cuba.

Harry Chapman, who with Grover Bartley did all the catching for the Terriers during the past season, was recently married to Miss Diehl, a wealthy Trenton, Ill., girl.

Overambition is a bad thing in baseball. A man in a batting slump develops a fatal over-anxiety that prolongs it. Even the great Fred Clarke recently confessed to a wild desire to lead the league that probably caused him to lose the honor. It happened in 1896, the year Willie Keeler clouted .432. Clarke discovered he was batting close to .400, and was then ahead of Keeler, who was coming fast. Fred was eager for base hits, but slumped badly. "I couldn't hit a thing," said Clarke. "Finally I quit thinking about it and settled down to a good batting clip and finished with .412."

George Stovall, boss of the Kansas City Federals, is losing his batting eye. Unofficial averages for the season give the Packer boss a great mark of .300, not counting the blows he bounced off umpires' jaws.

In order to prevent major league ballplayers from taking part in exhibition games after the close of the season, the club owners will have to hire a large force of detectives around through the country to run down the mysterious members of the different country teams.

Before leaving Boston for his home in Vermont after the world's series, Ray Collins, the southpaw, told friends that he didn't expect to be back next season. Collins had a bad season and worked very little. He put on a lot of extra weight and it is doubtful if he ever will be able to get down to his regular playing notch.

Duffy Lewis, who recently delivered several crushing blows in the world's series, is a modest hero. Duffy has reached his home on the Coast and in a recent interview he said: "I was lucky in the series. The breaks came to me and so I got the hits."

FRANCE INDORSES REQUEST FOR DELAY IN CHINESE MONARCHY

America's Refraining From Joining in Movement Brings Expression of Appreciation From Pekin News.

PEKIN, Nov. 3.—France has given her support to the representations made to China by Japan, Great Britain and Russia concerning the advisability of postponing the decision as to re-establishment of a monarchy. The French Minister, A. R. Conty, called at the Foreign Office today and gave verbal indorsement to the request of the other Powers.

Notwithstanding the declination of the Chinese Government to postpone the decision, on the ground that the matter rests in the hands of the people, it is possible that the change, if decided upon, will be delayed until the European war ends.

Discussing the course of the United States, the Pekin News, semi-official organ, says:

"Had America acquiesced to the pressure upon China at this critical moment, the country, bent upon predatory adventure under the never failing guise of 'maintaining peace in the Far East,' would have been encouraged. America evidently is watching events attentively, which may be disquieting to others, but is a source of comfort and encouragement to China."

GIRL BURNED AT PARTY

Genevieve Ayllene Lobach, 8 years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Lobach of 4542 Ashland avenue, was reported out of danger today by physicians who have been attending her since she was seriously burned Saturday night during a Halloween party at her home. Her injuries were not reported to the police at the time.

She was one of several children who were wearing false faces and toasting marshmallows over a fire in the back yard. She was wearing a man's mask with a long beard. The beard caught fire and before she could tear the mask from her face her neck and lower portion of her face were severely burned.

Coming Attraction at the Pageant.

At the Pageant Theater on Thursday local movie fans will have their first opportunity of seeing America's character actor, Thomas A. Wise, in his latest film creation, "Blue Grass," from the play by Paul Armstrong.

"Blue Grass" is a story of the racetrack; a Southern gentleman is down on his luck, and incidnetally down to his last dollar. It is a human interest story of joys mingled with the sorrows of life, as the old gentleman watches his money swiftly dwindling, and one that will vibrate the heartstrings.

CITY EMPLOYMENT BUREAU URGED IN REPORT TO MAYOR

Commission Also Suggests Use of Police Stations as Registration Places.

The establishment of a Municipal Employment Bureau in the downtown district and the use of police stations as registering places for those in search of work in the coming winter are urged by a subcommittee of the Commission on Unemployed, in a report submitted to Mayor Kiel yesterday.

The report is signed by Samuel B. McPheeters, president of the Police Board; C. J. Lammert, president of the Building Trades Council, and C. M. Hubbard, general manager of the Provident Association.

The subcommittee does not approve a suggestion that a census of the unemployed be made at this time, as it has found there is now very little unemployment in St. Louis. With the coming of winter, however, the number of men out of work will be greatly increased and organized effort must be made to meet this condition, the report says.

B. M. L. Asked to Help.

The report recommends that the Business Men's League be asked to aid in the work by learning from its members the number of men out of work and by lending the league's support to plans which may be adopted by the city to relieve the inevitable winter suffering.

It is suggested that the Mayor's commission on unemployment make an appeal to employers to keep as many of their men as possible on the payrolls and not add to the ranks of the unemployed if there is any way to avoid it. The commission is advised to ask property owners to make projected improvements, repairs, alterations and extensions in the winter season, instead of waiting until spring, so as to give work to men who otherwise would be unemployed.

How City Can Help.

The report also suggests that the city give employment to as many men as possible during the winter by carrying out construction and improvement work. Among the proposed improvements suggested are the completion of the free bridge, the harnessing of the River des Peres, sewer construction, a municipal farm, a tuberculosis hospital, a municipal garbage plant and a railway to the Art Museum in Forest Park. The subcommittee believes some of these undertakings could be started this winter.

In addition to supporting a free registration place for the unemployed, the report says, the city should encourage church organizations and neighborhood societies in making similar registrationd and the public at large should give generous support to the established charitable organizations for the relief of winter suffering.

ADMIRAL BEATTY WOULD SPEND $500,000,000 ON THE NAVY NOW

Present Rate of Expansion Would Leave United States Unprepared for War for Many Years, He Says.

NORFOLK, Va., Nov. 3.—Rear Admiral Frank E. Beatty, who commanded the "attacking" fleet, which effected a landing at Chesapeake Bay in the war game off the Atlantic coast last summer, told the Norfolk Rotary Club yesterday that the United States not only is not prepared for war, but could not be made so for many years to come at the present rate of naval expansion.

The Admiral said his ideas were at varience with those of the Washington administration, but he believed that his plan was the only course open to the United States.

"I believe in naval preparedness," continued the Admiral, "if it takes $500,000,000 to insure it. I believe that Congress should vest the President with authority to issue bonds to insure naval construction as fast as the ships can be built in the navy yards and in private plants.

"The need for preparedness is now, when we know that we are not in a position to meet some of the world Powers better equipped with naval offensive than we are with naval defensive."

WOMAN WHO BETRAYED CASHIER CALLS ON HIM AT HEADQUARTERS

Mrs. Rose Core Told of Whereabouts of J. C. Dummer After He Fled Last May.

Mrs. Rose Core, a divorcee of 2754 Olive street, was at police headquarters this morning, to meet John C. Dummer, 26 years old, of 4053 De Tonty street, cashier of Fairbanks, Morse & Co., who was brought back from Seattle, Wash., on a charge of having embezzled $1045.45 from his employers.

Leters received by Mrs. Core from Dummer revealed his whereabouts. Mrs. Core wrote to him when he was in Canada, advising him to surrender. He did not heed her advice and when he wrote to her from Seattle she betrayed his hiding place.

Mrs. Core said that she did so for Dummer's own good.

Dummer said that last May when he fled he had $800 in his pockets, but was robbed of $400 in Chicago.

ALLIES TO RECOGNIZE CARRANZA

Great Britain and France to Follow Lead of U. S.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, British Ambassador, gave notice at the State Department today that both Great Britain and France are about to extend recognition to the government of Gen. Carranza in Mexico. It probably will be done by communications to Carranza's representatives in Paris and London. Great Britain and France, it was said, are acting on their own initiative and not necessarily following the lead of the United States.

WAR SPECIALTIES REFLECT SELLING; PRICES ARE DOWN

Bethlehem Steel Drops to 425, Against Recent High of 600.

Studebaker Corporation Declares Extra Dividend on Common Stock.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—The Studebaker corporation has declared a regular dividend of 1¼ per cent on the common stock and 1 per cent extra, with the regular quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent on the preferred shares. The directors issued a statement expressing the belief that the extra 1 per cent on the common shares will hereafter be regularly declared. Studebaker shares declined from 170, the opening price, to 162½, on declaration of the extra dividend, as a larger disbursement had been expected.

Directors of the Central Leather Co. today declared a dividend of $4 a share, as against the previous rate of $5 and of $3 in 1914. Accompanying the large disbursement was a statement that the increased dividend was warranted by increased earnings and a larger surplus. Central Leather sold at the new high record of 61½ Monday, but declined today to 59, soon after announcement of the higher dividend.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—The Evening Post, in its copyrighted financial review today, says:

"The downward reaction in the 'war industrials' continued at a fairly rapid pace today, declines of 5 to 8 points not being at all exceptional, with Bethlehem Steel at one time down 36 points from Monday and 175 from its high figure of 12 days ago. This progressive work of readjustment from the extravagant prices of the third week of October was possibly stimulated by the Crucible Steel Co.'s official statement that, instead of the $50,000,000 to $100,000,000 'war orders' which Wall street had bestowed upon it, the real total was $17,000,000; half of them sublet. But this cold light of fact was now scarcely necessary to dispel the extreme illusions; the spell was manifestly already broken.

War Stocks Are Weak.

"But today's declines in the 'war stocks' were once more only an incident in the market, and not the single dominant influence. These readjustments affected the standard investment shares only to the extent of checking the recent pace of recovery. Most of the railway shares made further fractional gains today, though with more or less irregularity towards the closing. As a whole the day's market could be described, not only as active, but as firm.

"Sterling exchange, despite an irregular movement, again showed signs of some positive influences at work offsetting tendencies to renewed decline. Exchange houses were disposed to ascribe this to the higher London discount market; but the substitution of drafts on the Anglo-French credit for part of the usual supply of bills on London, was a more obvious explanation."

"Returns from the steel and iron trade were of a character unprecedented in our history.

"The country's iron production figures for October, published today, break all records; the 3,125,000 total tonnage comparing with a previous maximum of 2,-[illegible] and the daily output of 100,822 tons with a previous high record of 95,068. On Nov. 1, moreover, 1000 tons per day more than the October daily average were being turned out.

"The Iron Age remarks of the existing situation: 'Never has the steel trade seen demand so overwhelming and at the same time output expanding on such a scale, under steadily advancing prices.'"

DETAILED REPORT OF DAY'S TRADING IN WALL STREET

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—Specialties, notably General Electric and Studebaker, together with low-priced rails, were higher on the resumption of trading today, while investment issues, including Canadian Pacific, were inclined to recede. There were active openings in United States Steel, Missouri Pacific, Erie, Wabash and Pennsylvania at fractional advances, but prices as a whole suggested increased speculative caution on moderate dealings. Bethlehem Steel advanced 4 points at 465. Foreign advices were of a pessimistic character and were reflected in lower quotations from London.

War shares became very heavy later on Bethlehem's abrupt decline to 425. General Motors lost 11 at 369, Willys-Overland 6 at [illegible], Crucible Steel 6¾ at 75½, Studebaker 5 at 162, and Baldwin Locomotive 3¼ at 127¾. Standard rails pursued an opposite course, Reading leading with an advance of 2 to 85⅛, while Lehigh Valley rose 1¼ to 82¼, and Norfolk & Western 2 to 122⅝, a record price. Union Pacific, Atchison, Northwestern and New York Central comprised the other strong rails. Brooklyn Transit, American Sugar and Western Union were 1½ to 3 higher. The entire list reacted before noon. Bonds were strong.

Increasing irregularity marked the early afternoon trading, specialties manifesting greater heaviness, while some of the rails and utilities made further upward progress. United States Steel was under constant pressure.

Trading Quiet on Bourse.

PARIS, Nov. 3.—Trading was quiet on the Bourse today. Rentes 66 francs 40 centimes. Exchange on London, 27 francs 85½ centimes.

Burlington Railroad Shows an Increase in Earnings.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—The annual report of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad, which is owned jointly by the Great Northern and Northern Pacific railways, shows a falling off in operating revenues for the year 1914-1915 which is offset by reduced operating expenses. By reason of the smaller appropriations for additional construction and improvement as compared with the previous year, the company's surplus of $5,081,115 shows an increase of $2,549,711 over 1913-1914.

Miss Mary Hager Is Wed.

Although Miss Mary Elizabeth Hager, 17, of Pine Lawn, St. Louis County, had taken the precaution to have her mother accompany her to St. Charles to consent to her marriage to Edward F. Walsh of St. Louis, officials at St. Charles yesterday refused to grant the license until the consent of the father also could be gotten. Miss Hager, however, was equal to the occasion and, calling her father on the long-distance telephone, she had him tell County Clerk Sandfort of his acquiescence to the wedding. Justice Bruns performed the ceremony.

RAILWAYS FOURS ARE STEADY ON SALES AT $64.75

Traction Bonds Record a Small Gain—Bank Stocks Are Quiet.

ST. LOUIS CLEARING HOUSE STATEMENT.

	Clearings.	Balances.
Today	$16,289,914	$2,158,153
Last week	15,530,085	1,169,045
Increase	$759,829	$989,108

United Railways 4s were firm in the local trading today, sales being recorded at $64.75 compared with transfers yesterday at $64.25. Closing bids were $64.50 and offers $65. United Railways stocks were quiet and irregular on the quotations recorded.

National Bank of Commerce stock was steady on the transfer of small lots at $100.25. Closing offers were $100, however, with bids of $98.50. Other bank and trust shares showed no wide price changes from yesterday's call.

International Shoe common stock was unchanged on sales at $89 and Wagner Electric was steady at $190 sales. Other miscellaneous issues were irregular. Bonds reflected a fair investment inquiry at steady prices.

St. Louis Money Market.

St. Louis banks and trust companies are still buying investment securities in wholesale quantities. The ease in the money market has accelerated purchasers to some extent. Rates have shown no wavering in either direction during the past week.

Some of the out-of-town banks are eagerly canvassing for business here without result. Quotations generally remain stationary.

WEAK CABLES DEPRESS VALUES IN COTTON PIT

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—The cotton market opened barely steady at a decline of 10 to 13 points in response to the weakness of Liverpool and New Orleans over the local holiday. This decline carried January contracts off to 11.72c, while March sold at 11.92c and May at 12.08c, or nearly $3 per bale under the prices reached on the advance last Friday. Prices showed rallies of some 10 or 11 points from the lowest during the middle of the morning. Buying, however, was checked by continued good weather in the South and the tone remained unsettled.

Later fluctuations were more or less irregular. Reports of easier spots and weakness in the stock market seemed to bring cotton out on rallies, but the tone was steady around 2 o'clock, with January selling at 11.72c and March at 11.94c, or about 10 points up from the lowest. The closing was irregular.

Liverpool Spot Easier.

LIVERPOOL, Nov. 3.—Cotton—Spot easier; good middling, 7.19d; middling, 6.85d; low middling, 6.37d. Sales, 10,000.

LIVESTOCK.

NATIONAL STOCKYARDS, Ill., Nov. 3.—Comparative receipts table:

	Today.	Week Ago.	Year Ago.
Cattle	6,000	5,000	7,000
Hogs	12,000	9,000	9,000
Sheep	2,000	2,000	4,500
Horses and mules	600	1,100	300

CATTLE—Today's supply aggregated about 6000 head and 80 per cent of the arrivals went to the native division. Market ruled slow, with quality only an average. Few choice beeves were available. A good many Iowa cattle have been coming here of late and they are selling well. Demand for feeders is liberal, owing to the abundance of grain and hay in local territory.

BUTCHER CATTLE QUOTATIONS.

Heavy bulls	4 75@5 25
Veal calves	7 00@9 00

HOGS—With a good supply on sale, prices were on a slightly lower basis, with the top of the market at $7.45 and the bulk of the hogs went at $7.10@7.35. Shippers and butchers were active and purchased the good hogs at $7.30 and better, while the mixed and plain grades went to the packers at $7@7.25 and the rough packers at $6.50@6.75. Best end of the lights sold at $7@7.30; best pigs, $6.50@7, and the poorer grade of pigs at $5.50@6.25. The close was firm and clearance good.

SHEEP—There was no material change in the market. Best lambs went at $9; mutton sheep, $5.50, and bucks, $4.50.

HORSES AND MULES—There was a fair demand for Eastern horses today, but the best demand was for the Southern types. A few good saddle horses also found buyers. War horses were not as strong sellers as they were yesterday.

The mule situation was in better condition today and there was a pretty fair market for good, fat cotton mules.

HORSE QUOTATIONS.

Heavy draft, extra	$185@225
Heavy draft, choice to good	140@180
Eastern chunks, extra quality	140@185

Wheat futures were irregular in the early market on the Merchants' Exchange today, after an early rise of ½c to 1c based on reports of reduced winter wheat acreage. Trade was active at the opening, but later died out. In the late speculation peace rumors caused a reversal of professional sentiment and pit traders took the selling side of the market. Prices dropped to about 1c under yesterday's closing. Final quotations were at the low point of the day. Coarse grains closed showing fractional losses.

The Liverpool cable said:

"Strength in Winnipeg yesterday and the continued uncertainty of supplies served to cause continued bullish sentiment and the undertone is strong here. Spot and cargo markets were strong. Millers' demand continues to absorb all native offers and country markets continue strong and foreign arrivals are going into consumption. Flour scarcity is being felt and prices advancing. Corn is strong with the strength in America and Buenos Ayres, growing scarcity of spot and firmness of Plata. Cargo markets were unchanged."

B. W. Snow's acreage report, wired by Bartlett-Frazier Co., Chicago, said: "The acreage seeded to winter wheat this fall shows a heavy decrease from the abnormally large area of the last crop, the decrease being marked in every state of importance. Seeding is late, both to avoid Hessian fly and because of excessive moisture at the usual seeding date, and it still continues in the Southwest and on the Pacific Coast. Returns of area at this date are necessarily preliminary in character, but estimates of breadth already planted and yet to be planted aggregate an acreage this year of about 34,600,000 acres, against 41,263,000 sown last year, 37,128,000 acres in 1913 and 33,618,000 acres in 1912.

"The general condition of the crop is not satisfactory as it is late, growth is small and somewhat irregular, and with the seed bed rough and poorly prepared. Hessian fly is reported as noticeably present over a wide area. On the North Pacific Coast the acreage seeded up to date is very much reduced and the condition of growth very inferior because of severe and protracted drouth.

"It is too early to draw definite conclusions as to new wheat crop prospects, but it may be accepted that the acreage seeded approximates the normal area of recent years, exclusive of last year, and conditions of seed bed and early growth are not of a character to give the crop a vigorous start in preparation for winter vicissitudes."

Local wheat receipts were 170,322 bu, against 353,000 bu last year two days. Corn, 30,000 bu, against 28,800 bu. Oats, 54,400 bu, against 251,600 bu.

Total primary wheat receipts were 3,098,000 bu, against 5,111,000 bu two days last year; shipments, 1,956,000 bu, against 1,288,000 bu. Corn receipts, 582,000 bu, against 1,043,000 bu; shipments, 182,000 bu, against 477,000 bu. Oats receipts, 1,728,000 bu, against 1,142,000 bu; shipments, 1,316,000 bu, against 1,407,000 bu.

The foreign crop summary said:

"United Kingdom—Sowing is progressing under favorable weather, but there are some complaints of the lateness of cultivation owing to the scarcity of labor. Supplies of native wheat are fair.

"France—Very favorable weather is assisting autumn seeding, although some delay is being experienced because of the absence of farm workers. The liberal stock and new wheat being now available hinders large foreign purchases.

"Russia—General reports of seeding favorable, but acreage will be much smaller than last season. Very cold weather is reported in the north.

"Rumania—Conditions are about the same, seeding being finished and dryness prevails. Merchants are endeavoring to conserve the supply of wheat.

"Bulgaria—This country is reported to be exporting grain to the central Powers.

"India—The outlook for seeding is favorable except in the Punjaub, which has not had sufficient rainfall, although recent reports confirm a light fall of rain. No wheat is being offered for export.

"Argentine—Private reports are mostly favorable, yet there are some complaints of the lateness of the crop. Harvesting will commence about the middle of November. Some apprehension is felt because of locusts, fearing damage later in the season.

"Australia—Reports continue to mention the large surplus and the promise for a large crop is practically assured.

"Italy—The outlook for seeding is satisfactory and the favorable prospects are being maintained. A good import demand continues, although new wheat is moving freely."

The Price Current Grain Reporter says: "The splendid weather prevailing last week facilitated wheat threshing and assisted in the curing of corn. The winter wheat acreage has been reduced probably to less than the amount seeded two years ago. Special reports on the quality of winter wheat indicate that the grain is deteriorating in the farmers' bins; that the farmers are holding their good wheat and that there is still a large amount of wheat in stacks which is of uncertain quality. Reports on corn show a considerable amount of old corn in the farmers' hands and that the good curing weather may give a larger amount of marketable corn than anticipated, but the crop is exceedingly spotted as to condition."

CROP REPORTS CAUSE A FIRM TONE IN WHEAT

CHICAGO, Nov. 3.—Bullish reports on the outlook for the domestic winter crop carried the wheat market upward today after a show of weakness at the start. According to a leading expert, the conditions of the seed-bed and the early growth in the winter crop belt are not of a character to give the vigor needed for the vicissitudes of cold weather. Unresponsive cables and big receipts Northwest were responsible for the early sag in prices. The opening, which ranged from ⅛c to ⅜c lower, was followed by a slight additional setback and then a rise to well above yesterday's finish.

Prospects of export business gave decided strength to corn. Besides, country offerings were small. After opening unchanged to ¼c-½c higher, the market reacted a trifle and then advanced all around.

Oats hardened with other cereals. Trade, however, was light. Bulges in grain caused provisions to rally. The market at first had been tending downward as a result of lower prices on hogs.

Later a sharp setback occurred owing to profit-taking by longs and as a result of a large supply in which the world's available supply total. The close was heavy, 1c to 1⅛c net lower, with December at $1.03½ and May at $1.04⅝.

A bearish reaction took place later when wheat became weak. The close was steady at a shade to ⅛c net decline.

Chicago Cash Grain.

The Jarr Family

Written for the Post-Dispatch

By Roy L. McCardell.

Back From a Short Vacation, Now All the Jarrs Can Take a Rest.

MR. JARR set down the dress suit cases and fumbled in his pocket for the latchkey as the Jarr family reached the top landing at the door of their domicile. Theirs had been a belated vacation.

"I can't find the key," said Mr. Jarr. "Shall I try to break in the door?"

"Please don't, for I'll be afraid of burglars till it's fixed again," said Mrs. Jarr. "Knock at Mrs. Wilkinson's door and ask her to let you cross the fire escape to our kitchen window, for it's safe to say you didn't fasten the window when we left, although I told you to."

Mr. Jarr did as he was told, and well pleased was he to find that Mrs. Jarr was correct in her surmise. He raised the unfastened window and came inside to the door and opened it, just as Mrs. Jarr found the key in her pocketbook.

"Be it ever so humble, there's no place like the old flat," remarked Mr. Jarr as he made a bee line for the couch in the front room and threw his weary bones upon it. He had been away two weeks to rest, but had had no place to do it in that time.

"Now, please don't lie there," said Mrs. Jarr. "You should be ashamed of yourself when the children are more of a help to me than you are. Willie and Emma have carried the suitcases to my room. Go to the telephone and call up Gertrude's married sister and tell her we are home. It will be just my luck to find Gertrude has taken another place and won't come back to us."

Mr. Jarr went to the telephone, but it had been discontinued for nonpayment of the current bill, so far as outgoing service was concerned. He was sent out to a telephone in good standing. He saw Mrs. Jarr watching him from the window, so he did not go into Gus' place on the corner, but in a fit of moral uprighteousness telephoned from the milk store.

He could have spared himself both trouble and morality. The telephone of the married sister of Gertrude, the Jarrs' erstwhile light running domestic, had been discontinued out and in and all together.

Mr. Jarr returned and so reported, and again flung him down to rest upon the sofa.

"Now, don't do that!" whimpered Mrs. Jarr. "Do you expect me to come back and look after everything, when I have had no rest at all since we have been gone? Go out to the delicatessen store and get something for supper. Bring in some milk for the children. It was just like you to go to the milk store and not think of it. If you had gone into the saloon you wouldn't have forgotten to bring home some beer."

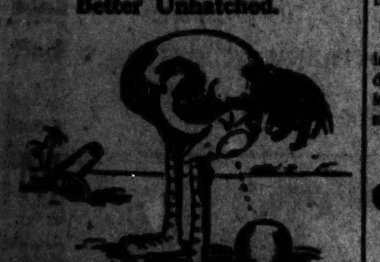

Mr. Jarr went more or less gayly upon the errands and returned with his purchases, which he placed on the dining room table and then attempted to lie down on the sofa he had been banished from while away. But Mrs. Jarr, who had been looking in the closets for moths and mildew and hadn't been disappointed, came to him and gazed reproachfully.

"If I were on my dying bed," she remarked pathetically, "you would leave my side and go lie on that old sofa. Can't you see I'm all tired out? You might, for once, make the tea and set the table and see the children have a bite."

And as Mr. Jarr got up Mrs. Jarr lay down on the sofa and fell asleep. It was not till nearly midnight, when all was calm and still, that Mr. Jarr got the lay-off he had longed for.

Be it ever so humble, a sofa is home, sweet home.

Better Unhatched.

Mrs. Ostrich: That's funny! I've been sitting on this strange egg for ten weeks and it doesn't show the slightest signs of hatching.

Got Even.

A YOUNG man who had been snubbed at the theater door decided to get even with his girl friends.

The girls occupied the first four seats in the sixth row and the young man had the fifth. They paid no attention whatever to him. On the program was a monologist who began to talk of love to get a few laughs, as these artists often do. He said: "All the girls who are in love, please stand up."

Turning to the girl next him the young man who had been snubbed said, "Please let me out."

Naturally the entire four had to rise. When they were on their feet the young man sat down, while the remainder of the audience roared in glee at the four girls standing up.

Stories St. Louisans Tell

Dr. Bitting's Reminiscence on Walker Hill.

THE REV. DR. W. C. BITTING, pastor of the Second Baptist Church, and Walker Hill, president of the Mechanics-American National Bank, are both Virginians, and like all Virginians they are proud of it. They went to the same school when they were boys, and have been intimate friends ever since. Hill has a fund of rich stories which he likes to tell at the expense of the preacher, and Dr. Bitting has a collection which he tells on Hill at every opportunity. Here is one of Dr. Bitting's yarns:

When Hill was president of a bank in Richmond before he came to St. Louis, an old negro whom he had known for many years came into the bank one morning.

"Massa Hill," the old negro said, "I jes' gotta hab ten dollahs, Massa Hill, an' I want to borry it from yo' bank."

According to Dr. Bitting, Hill made out a note for $10, which the old negro slowly and tremblingly signed. The note was for 30 days. Hill took the note, and handed the negro $7.50. The negro was amazed. He scratched his head, bit his lips, and made a rabbit nose. At length he exclaimed:

"Aha, Massa Hill! I got yo' now. Ef I hed wanted to borrow dat ten dollahs for foah months, I wouldn't a got a cent!"

Shrewd Boss.

YES, sir. I want to get married, and I thought you might give me an increase of salary of $5 a week."

"So that's it, eh? You want to get married?"

"Yes, sir."

"A man who gets married these days is taking big chances. I am going to reduce your salary $5 a week in order to keep you from making a fool of yourself. You'll thank me some day."

Too Bad.

GOING to Higbie's wedding tomorrow night?"

"No, I guess I'll have to stay home."

"I thought you were a great friend of his. Surely you got an invitation."

"Oh, yes, but I had to hock my dress suit to buy the wedding present."

LOOKING FOR WORK

Everywhere men complain about work; even boys and girls in school or business find work tedious and irksome, but it is really their own lack of physical strength that makes it hard.

Rich blood, strong lungs and healthful digestion make work pleasurable in business, in school or even housework, and if you who are easily tired—who are not sick, but weak and nervous—would just take Scott's Emulsion for one month and let its pure, concentrated food create richer blood to pulsate through every artery and vein—let it build a structure of healthy tissue and give you vigorous strength—you would find work easy and would look for more. Always insist on Scott's.

His Useful Coat.

JOHN, dear," said his wife, "there was a poor man here today asking for old clothes and I gave him that shabby old overcoat of yours that was hanging in the attic. You didn't want it, did you?"

Worse Yet.

CAN you think of any worse pest than the seven-year locust?"

"I should say so. Just think of a 15-year instalment purchase!"

Free Gas.

WILLIE'S mother beamed a welcome as the minister opened the door, in spite of the fact that it was washing day.

"I've been waiting to thank you, sir, for the good you've done our Willie by your evening classes. Home is so different and so pleasant since he attended the plumbing and gas-fitting class."

"That is very gratifying," said the minister. "Won't you tell me just how little Willie shows this improvement you speak of?"

"Well, he's arranged our penny in-the-slot gas meter so that we get our gas for nothing. He's moved the meter from the kitchen to just outside the front door."

"But you still have to put your pennies in the slot, do you not?" said the minister.

"Yes, but you see, sir, before he put the meter outside the front door Willie wrote 'chocolates' over the slot."

Not Certain.

THE patient explained his symptoms fully. The specialist regarded him closely over the top of his spectacles.

"Yes, I see," he commented gravely; "now tell me, have you ever been operated on for appendicitis?"

"Well," responded the patient, dubiously, "I certainly had an operation, but I have never been quite sure whether it was due to appendicitis or professional curiosity."

Attentive.

IS Watson still paying attention to that widow he was courting two years ago?"

"You bet he is. They are married now, and he has to pay strict attention to everything she says."

Meanwhile the Party Line Is Put on the Blink.

WHY don't you call on the girl and explain things in private?" asked the friend of the angry young man after the latter had been reproaching his sweetheart by telephone for the better part of half an hour.

"Not a chance," replied the irate one. "I'll fight it out on this line if it takes all summer."

Wasted Sacrifice.

A NUMBER of local Grand Army veterans were having a reunion and were entertaining brother members from a neighboring state, says Everybody's Magazine. Some of the visiting veterans protested against certain proposed legislation by the State Assembly.

One of the speakers became so vehement in his remarks and painted the situation so despairingly that an earnest auditor, overwhelmed by the oratory, jumped to his feet and cried excitedly:

"Comrades, is it possible that we died in vain?"

Unnecessary.

WOMEN of today don't seem to be so afraid of mice as their sisters of 20 years ago."

"They don't need to be. The way the styles are now a woman doesn't have to climb on a chair to show her stockings."

It's No Use, Willie.

Mother: Willie! What are you doing to your little brother?

Willie: Nuthin'. He drank my glass of milk an' I'm goin' to make him pour it back.

A Good Day.

LADY," said the wayfarer, "though I look like a common tramp, I was not always like this. I have seen better days."

"That's what they all say," answered the lady of the house, scornfully.

"It's true, just the same," insisted the shabby one. "Why, one day last week I got six handouts of grub and $4 in real money."

Prayer Before Battle.

WHEN the British ships under Lord Nelson were bearing down to attack the combined fleet off Trafalgar, the First Lieutenant of the Revenge on going around to see that all hands were at quarters, observed one of them devoutly kneeling at the side of his gun. So very unusual an attitude in an English sailor exciting his surprise and curiosity, he went and asked the man if he was afraid.

"Afraid!" answered the honest tar, with a countenance expressive of the utmost disdain. "No! I was only praying that the enemy's shot may be distributed in the same proportion as the prize money—the greatest part among the officers."—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.
